GIVE UP ALL, REBEL DEMAND OF FEDERALS

Carranza Anxious to Quit Fighting; Seeking Peace.

READY TO PARLEY

Hopes to Complete Plans for Mexico City Entry Within a Month.

Carvajal to Step Aside in Favor of Gen. Carranza.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 16.—The following telegram from Francisco Carvajal, new president of Mexico, was received today by José Castellot, through the Mexican embassy. Señor Castellot, who is a former member of the Mexican senate, presented the telegram to Secretary Bryan. Its text is:

"I have just taken the oath of office as president of the republic. Generals Huerta and Blanquet departed tonight for Europe. I desire to make it known with emphasis that my only purpose is to facilitate a solution of the grave problems which weigh upon our country. I have not the slightest ambition for myself and merely wish to terminate the internal conflict of our country. Please give me your impressions of the situation in Washington.

"FRANCISCO CARVAJAL."

This message, Mr. Castellot explained, meant that Carvajal had taken office only as a means of bridging the gap from the Huerta régime to the Constitutionalists and that he would retire in favor of Gen. Carranza as soon as arrangements could be made.

Monterey, Mexico, July 16.—Fighting by Constitutionalists is over in Mexico, if plans announced here today by Carranza go into effect. The general declared his main object now would be to conduct negotiations for the Constitutionalists to enter Mexico City and establish their government without further bloodshed or damage to property.

The greatest troop movement in the history of the Constitutionalist army was started today when Gen. Pablo Gonzales left Saltillo with the remainder of his forces for San Luis Potosi and the south. Sixty-eight trains were required to transport the troops, which included infantry, cavalry, and artillery.

Cry "Death to Huerta."

The news of Huerta's resignation and departure from Mexico City reached Monterey through several sources and soon became generally known. Private citizens and Constitutionalist troopers immediately began a great celebration, marching through the streets, crying, "Death to Huerta," and "vivas" for Carranza. No disorders were reported.

Details of the change in government in Mexico City had not been received at midnight and Huerta's movements were unknown here.

Demands Complete Surrender.

Gen. Carranza was unable to say whether the negotiations he has in mind would be conducted through the A-B-C mediators or direct with the Federals. Unconditional surrender, however, will be the only condition on which these negotiations will be successful. Gen. Carranza made that plain to newspaper men who talked with him today. He declared that the "reforms for which the Constitutionalists fought must be obtained at whatever cost.

"The resignation of Huerta and the substitution of Carvajal in itself will not cause the Constitutionalists to compromise on a single point the principles upon which the movement was founded," he continued. "If the government machinery through which those ends may be obtained is not surrendered voluntarily by the party of Huerta it will be obtained by force."

Enter Capital in Month.

Because of the effort to make the installation of the Constitutionalist government a peaceful one, Gen. Carranza said he expected it probably would be a month before he entered Mexico City.

He stated that he did not believe Carvajal was strong enough to handle effectively the reins of power passed to him by Huerta.

Carranza said he thought Carvajal or any man in civil life would find the situation most difficult and he expected that the new president would open negotiations with him at once. Telegraph service with Mexico would be resumed at once, he announced.

In view of the situation facing Carvajal,

Carranza's Turn Now. Will He Bring Peace to Mexico?

Reproduced from a sketch from life made on July 6 for THE TRIBUNE by John T. McCutcheon in Saltillo. Carranza autographed the drawing after it was finished.

Carranza Says Peace in Mexico Will Follow the Complete Surrender of Huerta's Army.

Gen. Carranza last night wired from Monterey the following statement:

Huerta's surrender of the power which he had usurped may bring as a consequence the unconditional surrender of the army which sustained him. With such a surrender the existing warfare in our country should terminate. Otherwise the strife will continue to a definite and complete triumph of the Constitutionalist cause.

LEWIS' WIT ROILS WILSON; PRESIDENT CATCHES COLD.

Executive Complains of Draft at Dinner—Illinois Senator Asks if Feet Are Chilled.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special.] Senator Lewis seriously jeopardized his standing at the White House last night at a dinner given by Secretary of the Interior Lane.

The Illinoisan was seated next to President Wilson, when the president complained that a draft was chilling him.

"Is it striking your feet?" Senator Lewis inquired, pleasantly.

The president hesitated a moment and then curtly replied that he felt it on his head. Secretary Lane saved the situation by feeling the same draft and also feeling it on his head.

But the draft resulted in President Wilson catching cold in the stomach and having an attack of indigestion. He was confined to his room all day today. At the White House it was said tonight that he was better, but that all engagements for tomorrow probably would be canceled, as it was thought best to keep him quiet for another day.

The president has been greatly annoyed by the heat recently, but refuses to leave Washington.

Paris Surgeons Separate Sisters Who Were Joined Back to Back.

PARIS, July 16.—The two sisters who were born May 22 joined together, back to back, being united in the lumbar region, were cut apart today. The operation was performed by Dr. Mignot, assisted by Dr. C. W. Du Bouchet, chief surgeon of the American hospital.

The most delicate part of the operation was the dissection of the intestines, which at one point were united for a space of an inch and a quarter.

CHARLES E. VAN LOAN HURT IN MOUNTAIN AUTO CRASH.

Short Story Writer Sustains Many Bone Fractures in Accident Near San Bernardino, Cal.

San Bernardino, Cal., July 16.—[Special.]—Charles E. Van Loan, short story writer, lies in a serious condition at a local hospital as the result of an accident in San Bernardino mountains, fourteen miles north of here, this afternoon.

Van Loan, with Clyde Bruckman of Los Angeles, was returning from a two weeks' hunting trip when the car he was driving struck the soft dirt edge of the road and plunged to the bottom of a fifty foot grade, somersaulting and throwing him out. He sustained a compound fracture of the left arm, a fractured jaw, and injuries to the head and back. Unless complications develop, he will recover, his physicians assert.

Van Loan asked that his wife at Los Angeles be advised, and she is expected to arrive here some time tonight.

STORM WATER FLOODS LOOP; ONE KILLED

SEWERS INADEQUATE

Owner of Crilly Building Plans to Sue the City.

An electrical storm that swept into and out of Chicago in the same half hour yesterday afternoon left behind one victim killed, many injured, a tied up "L" road, a tangle of broken power and light wires, and a powerful demonstration—in the shape of flooded basements—of the inadryness of the rain beaten streets. Within half an hour 1.65 inches of rain fell in the city.

Shortly after 2 o'clock, heralded by a tremendous thunderclap, the storm started. Within a few minutes overtaxed sewers were backing up, pipes were bursting, and patrons of subsidewalk loop restaurants were fleeing to the comparative dryness of the rain beaten streets.

Loop Restaurant Flooded.

L. E. Heinly, proprietor of a restaurant in the basement of the Crilly building at Monroe and Dearborn streets, hastily organized a bucket brigade a hundred strong, recruited among employés and patrons indiscriminately, and set them to work bailing. In twenty minutes, however, water in the restaurant was a foot and a half deep.

The flood poured into the engine room of the building and extinguished the fires under the boilers. Lights went out and the elevators quit working.

Threatens to Sue City.

D. F. Crilly, owner of the building, found a sewer pipe had broken. He estimated the damage to the restaurant, which recently was redecorated at a cost of $16,000, at $1,000, and promised to bring suit against the city.

"The sewers of Chicago are a disgrace to the city," he said. "They are just as they were fifty-five years ago, and they were inadequate then. The sewers should be on a level with subbasements instead of with basements, and should be big enough to drive a team of horses through."

New Sewer System Needed.

City engineers hailed the storm as a substantiation of their contention that Chicago needs a new, modern sewer system.

"Plans for a new system have been held up on the theory that subway construction would soon begin," said George C. D. Lenth, assistant chief engineer of sewers for the board of local improvements. "It was thought advisable to construct sewers and subway at the same time. This storm has been an illustration, though, of the immediate need for larger sewers, regardless of what is done about the subways."

Big Hotels Hard Hit.

The Auditorium and Congress hotels also suffered. The subway connecting the two was flooded with several feet of water, as were the Congress barber shop and the kitchen, the west entrance, the restaurant, and the buffet in the Auditorium.

The Café Vienna at 214 South State street, another basement restaurant, also was flooded. Samuel Roth, the manager, said a State street main on a level with the restaurant floor had broken.

Flees Barber Shop.

Frank Hapsburg, boss barber in the Grand Pacific shop, was shaving a patron when water shot up through a drain in the tiled floor. The man in the chair ran upstairs without waiting to have the lather wiped from his face. The hotel laundry and storeroom were flooded as well as the barber shop.

At the Consumers building, 220 South State street, the first basement was flooded when the sewer backed, and the water cascaded into the subbasement. The water will be pumped out today.

Telegraph Service Periled.

A serious tieup of telegraphic service was threatened when the basement of the Western Union building was flooded. Part of the water came from a backing sewer and the rest poured through a door opening on a court several feet above the first floor level.

The electric light and heating plants were put out of commission, but firemen arrived in time to save the telegraphic connections. The flood was several feet deep when the fire engines started pumping. As the engines worked employés of the building dammed the court door with cement bags.

The cellrooms of the Thirty-fifth street police station were flooded and prisoners were transferred to another part of the

WOMEN TO QUIT JUNKET PARTY

Mrs. Young and Mrs. Britton Will Make Independent Tour After Landing.

SCORNFUL TOWARD MEN

Aldermen Will Get Surprise at Liverpool When Alleged "Taggers" Desert.

Mr. Bennett, the well known journalist, is going abroad to be the London correspondent of "The Tribune." He is making the journey on the same ship that carries the Chicago aldermanic commission and the delegation of women representing the public schools. Mr. Bennett will report for "The Tribune" readers the activities of these traveling Chicagoans. At the same time he goes to become the permanent London representative of this newspaper.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

[By wireless to "The Tribune" from S. S. Lusitania.]

AT SEA, July 16.—Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, and Miss Laura Brayton, who is Mrs. Young's secretary, are already weary of the angular attitude of the Chicago European aldermanic commission and will leave that body soon after its arrival in England. The three women, who are going at the behest of the board of education, will pursue independent investigations, going as far north in Europe as Denmark and Sweden.

JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Not to "Tag" Men.

They say they never intended to tag along with the men to their banquets anyway, and that their only idea is to be useful to Chicago. Mrs. Britton says:

"I wonder what the women voters of Chicago will think of these men?"

Surprise for Men.

The men do not know the women are leaving the party and will not know it until Liverpool is reached.

Henry Carroll, Under Sheriff, Swears Huge Fish Propelled Craft Clear Across Paw Paw.

The story of a fisherman being towed more than three miles by a forty-three pound muskellunge is vouched for by Henry Carroll, a deputy sheriff, in a letter to Oscar McMahon, assistant harbor master, from Paw Paw lake, which read, in part:

"After rowing out in the lake a short distance I caught three small perch and then got a big bite. This time the boat started away with a rush when my line was almost jerked from my hand.

"I was towed three miles to Woodward's pavilion, where four men helped me to land my catch. Would you believe it? It was a forty-three pound muskellunge. Yours truly,

"HENRY CARROLL."

INDIAN DIVERS TO SEARCH FOR DROWNED BOY'S BODY.

Experts from Stillwell, Minn., Will Seek to Recover Kenosha Youth's Remains from Lake.

John Jermy and his son, expert Indian divers of Stillwell, Minn., will arrive in Kenosha this morning to begin a search in Lake Michigan for the body of young Gordon Brown, son of Harry S. Brown, a Kenosha photographer, who was drowned two miles south of the city last Monday while bathing. Following a fruitless search of seventy-two hours by life savers, several Kenosha business men sent for the Indians.

The Jermys have gained a reputation for their success in recovering bodies of drowned persons. Last April they recovered two bodies from Lake Geneva.

They dislike publicity and often work at night to maintain secrecy regarding their methods.

RIVAL VICE POLICE DUEL; ONE DEAD; FOUR HURT

MANY STORIES TOLD

Captain Ryan Blames Green Sleuths; Another Rosenthal Case.

First Deputy Superintendent of Police M. L. C. Funkhouser took a squad of men in plain clothes into the Twenty-second street district to make a series of raids last night.

Chief Morals Inspector Dannenberg, unknown to Funkhouser, started out with another squad, ostensibly to visit the north side. But Dannenberg and his men showed up unexpectedly in Twenty-second street a little after 9 o'clock.

GO TO "THE TURF."

Dannenberg planted himself in a secluded place near Michigan avenue and his men strolled along Twenty-second street to a notorious dive known as "The Turf." This place is on the first floor at 28 West Twenty-second street. It is situated on the south side of the street, on the alley between State street and Armour avenue.

The men entered the place. They found four women soliciting in open defiance of the law. They raided the place. The wagon was called from the Clark street station. The women and one man were loaded into the wagon and started for the station. Then Dannenberg's men started east to Michigan avenue to meet their chief.

A gang of typical Twenty-second street "macques" collected and walked on the heels of Dannenberg's men. They trailed them across State street, across Wabash avenue, and half way between Wabash and Michigan avenues.

POLICE SQUADS MEET.

Just as they reached the stairway leading to Swan's poolroom some more policemen appeared on the scene. Dannenberg's four consisted of Fred Amart, policeman; Joseph Merrill, policeman; James Carroll, investigator, who calls himself a railway fireman, and a man named Johnson, also an investigator.

The policemen who appeared on the scene were Stanley J. Birns and John C. Sloop. These two men are members of the detective bureau. They were in plain clothes as were Dannenberg's men.

THEN WAR BREAKS LOOSE.

It was then about 9:35 o'clock. One minute later war broke loose.

Screams of men, booms from heavy revolvers, and spits from automatics, flashes of fire, mad rushes of the macques for cover, a slow stopping of the spatter of fire, and then groans.

Policemen rained toward the scene from every direction. Ten minutes later policemen in uniforms, Dannenberg and his squad, Funkhouser and his squad, and Capt. Ryan of Twenty-second street station and a lot of his policemen, "Bill" Schubert of the gambling detail and his men, were on the scene taking count of the dead and injured.

HERE ARE THE RESULTS.

DEAD.

STANLEY J. BIRNS, 1848 North Western avenue, detective sergeant of detective bureau; a wife and three children survive him.

WOUNDED.

JOHNSON ACCUSED.

Early this morning it was reported a Detective Johnson of the Dannenberg squad had been taken to the Twenty-second street station and confronted with the charge that he fired the shot that killed Detective Birns.

Detective Amart also was said to be at this station.

Chief Gleason, Deputy Funkhouser, and Capt. Ryan were at the station, and, it is said, jointly questioned the detectives held there in connection with the shooting.

The report concerning Johnson fitted in with the fact that Inspector Dannenberg had a short time earlier admitted one of his fifteen men was missing and unaccounted for. Dannenberg had not at that time been to the Twenty-second street station.

Carroll, the investigator who calls himself an engineer, had leaped on to the automobile of Johnny Turio, one of the "kings" of the redlight district (who happened to be on the scene) and was whisked off to a hospital.

TAKEN TO DOCTOR'S OFFICE.

Detective Birns was taken into the office of Dr. Melbourne Mabee, at 2204 South Michigan avenue, within a minute after he was shot, according to Dr. Mabee, and already was dead. He had a bullet wound in the left shoulder. The bullet entered from the front. The second and fatal wound was on the left side of the abdomen. Dr. Mabee says that only a post-mortem examination will show what vital organ was struck.

Detective Sloop was also given first aid in Dr. Mabee's office and then was taken to the Post-Graduate hospital. He was wounded in the left thigh and unless infection develops the wound is not considered dangerous, Dr. Mabee said.

ANOTHER ROSENTHAL CASE?

A man, who said he was a waiter and couldn't give his name, telephoned THE TRIBUNE that it was "another Rosenthal case. The gang started out to get Dannenberg, and they got some coppers instead," he said. Efforts to question him further evidently frightened him, for he cut off the telephone connection.

RYAN PLACES BLAME.

Capt. Ryan, who was standing in front of Freiberg's when the shooting took place, said it was the fault of Dannenberg's men.

"They are green cops," he said, "looking for some one to pick on them. They saw the plain clothes policemen coming from the bureau and they got scared and let loose."

Bill Schubert of the gambling detail, who also happened to be on the scene, as he was when Moasie Enright shot down Peter Gentleman in O'Malley's State street saloon, had the same version.

"Dannenberg's men fired on the bureau police without warrant," he said. "They got scared."

"I understand Amart started the shooting and he has been arrested for it."

ANOTHER VERSION GIVEN.

From Merrill, Dannenberg's policeman who was wounded, THE TRIBUNE received another version. He said the bureau policemen started it and he demanded to know by what right they were down on Twenty-second street out of their detail at that hour.

THE TRIBUNE gives as many versions as could be secured at the time. Merrill's follows first.

WHAT MERRILL SAYS.

Merrill wound up in Mercy hospital with a bullet in his right hip. As the physicians were working over him on the dressing table Merrill told the following story to a TRIBUNE reporter:

"Our party first went to 28 West Twenty-second street, where we arrested three women and one man in the second floor apartment.

"Dannenberg and his squad then went out to make further raids, leaving three detectives, Merrill, Amart, and another man, to guard the prisoners.

"Presently the patrol wagon came and took the four prisoners away. In the meantime a mob had gathered outside, cursing and making threats against the raiders.

They Feared Trouble.

"We remained indoors waiting several minutes for the demonstration to subside. After a few minutes we started toward Michigan avenue on the north side of Twenty-second street.

"We were afraid there was going to be trouble. A large crowd had gathered outside, calling us names and threatening violence. When we thought it was safe we went out and started east in Twenty-second street to Michigan avenue. The crowd followed us, calling us names.

"Suddenly some one threw a brick. It came hurtling toward my head, and I dodged. Behind me was an elderly woman. The missile struck her on the head and knocked her over. A big, heavy set man with black hair, wearing a straw hat and a light suit, broke away from the crowd.

"I'M GOING TO SHOOT YOU!"

"He dodged behind a woman, drew a big nickel plated revolver from his pocket, and yelled:

"'I'm going to get you, you stool pigeon.'

"Then he started to shoot. I think it was the third bullet he fired that hit me. I had my gun out, but didn't dare to shoot because the woman was in the way. When he saw he had got me he came out from cover.

"Then I let him have it. I had six loaded cartridges in my revolver and fired five.

HE GOES FOR HELP.

"I think I hit him because he staggered. I looked for my two partners. Things had been happening so rapidly I didn't know just what had become of them and I was pretty sure they had dodged into a doorway.

"It struck me the best thing I could do, with my revolver empty, would be to get help. A man riding a motorcycle was going by. The extra seat at the rear was empty. I ran out and jumped on the seat and threw my arms about the man's neck. The motorcycle tipped over. I picked myself up and leaped on the running board of a passing automobile.

"There was a man and a woman in the machine. I showed them my police star and told them I had to get to the Cottage Grove police station. The machine went to Twenty-ninth street and then doubled back to the Cottage Grove station.

NEVER TOUCHED LIQUOR.

"I jumped off and went inside. I wanted to send help to my partners, but before I could tell them I fainted. They brought me to with whisky—"

Here Merrill looked up from the dressing table and said to Dr. W. T. Conley, who was working over the detective:

"That whisky won't hurt me, will it, doctor? I never had touched a drop of it before in my life."

Merrill is 38 years old. He is married and lives at 6021 Aberdeen street.

BULLET IN SHOE.

A few minutes before Detective Merrill was delivered to the hospital an automobile drove up, and a man was dumped out at the curb. He was tall, dark, heavy set, weighed about 200 pounds, and wore a light suit.

Attendants hurried him into the hospital and into a cot. Examination revealed a wound in the groin where a bullet had passed through the thigh. In the wounded man's shoe the surgeons found the bullet, where it had dropped down his trouser leg. It was a 38 caliber bullet.

CARROLL FEARS FOR JOB.

"You ain't going to put this in the paper are you?"

"Why don't you want it in the paper?" asked the reporter.

"I'm afraid I might lose my job."

"What's your name?"

"Carroll—Jim Carroll."

"What do you do?"

"I'm a fireman for the Chicago and Northwestern. I live at 3539 West Twenty-second street."

GOING TO SEE FATHER.

"Why, I was going up to see my father at Fifty-fifth and Kimbark. I was going to take him some money. I got off in Twenty-second street to transfer. Then I decided to take a Jackson park car.

"I crossed State street when I heard some yelling behind me. Somebody says, 'You're a stool pigeon.' I didn't pay much attention then. Some fellow came running ahead of me. He was a big fellow with a straw hat and light suit on. When he got past me he turned around and started to shoot and he got me and here I am."

WHERE DOES FATHER LIVE?

"Where does your father live, Jim?" the reporter demanded.

"Why with me in Twenty-second street, of course."

"Then why did you say you were going out in Kimbark avenue to give him some money?"

Carroll stammered and hesitated.

CAPT. RYAN'S STORY.

Capt. Michael Ryan of the Twenty-second street station issued the following statement:

"I was standing in front of Freiberg's dance hall when I heard shots fired in Twenty-second street east of me.

"I ran down there and on my arrival found out that the shooting was caused by police officers.

"On investigation I find that the shooting was due, probably, to the inexperience of Policemen Amart and Merrill, who have been appointed to the police force within the last sixty days.

"I learned on investigation further that Merrill and Amart and an investigator from Maj. Funkhouser's office had raided a flat in West Twenty-second street a short time before the shooting. The raid on the flat and the calling out of the patrol wagon caused a large crowd to gather in front of the place.

TWO FEARED CROWD.

"After several patrol wagons had driven away with the inmates who were arrested, Amart, Merrill, and the investigator walked east in Twenty-second street. They were followed by a crowd of persons, probably a score or more. I also understand that Amart and Merrill thought they were menaced by the crowd and made a motion as if to draw their revolvers to disperse the crowd. Whether or not the policemen drew their revolvers I cannot say, but the crowd, it seems, knew that they were armed with revolvers.

"Detective Sergeant Birns and his partner, Sloop, were standing at Twenty-second street and Michigan avenue when Funkhouser's men, followed by the crowd, came towards them.

HOW THE SHOOTING STARTED.

"Hearing the loud mutterings of the crowd, Birns and Sloop walked west in Twenty-second street to meet the crowd, not knowing what was the trouble. I am told that Birns or his partner—which of them I do not know—commanded the three men in front, who were Policemen Amart and Merrill and the investigator, to halt, saying, 'We are police officers.' Some one in the crowd shouted: 'Look out! They've got guns,' meaning that Funkhouser's men were the ones that were armed.

"Birns and his partner, Sloop, did not recognize or did not know that the men in front were police officers, although they had shouted, 'We are police officers.'

"Who began shooting I do not know. Birns is dead and I have not talked with Sloop, who was wounded.

"It is probable, however, that Merrill and Amart, being new policemen and inexperienced, lost their heads and began shooting."

STORY BY DANNENBERG.

"I came upon the scene just a few minutes after the shooting," said Morals Inspector Dannenberg.

"I had planned to make a series of raids, and the first of them was at 28 West Twenty-second street. I left Fred Amart and Joseph Merrill in charge of the place and the prisoners, and I went with my other men to another place we intended to raid. I planned to meet Amart and Merrill at a certain place. When I drove up I saw a big crowd at Twenty-second and Michigan.

"The crowd didn't know me. Somebody shouted back: 'O, nothing; just a couple of Dannenberg's stool pigeons shot.'

"The crowd was already on the spot; the shooting was all over, and that is all I know about it."

FUNKHOUSER LACKS FACTS.

Maj. Funkhouser arrived at the Twenty-second street station at 11 o'clock, after the shooting had been reported to him by telephone. Policeman Amart, who had been arrested and taken to the station, was in a cell when the second deputy arrived. Amart was taken from his cell into Capt. Ryan's office, and there questioned by Maj. Funkhouser.

Maj. Funkhouser refused to comment on the shooting. "I know nothing about the facts in the case," the major said. "I don't even know the investigator's name. The squad in which he worked was one sent out by Morals Inspector Dannenberg. He has only been on the squad about a week, and I don't even know his name. I have not investigated yet, and I don't care to make any statement about the matter until I have thoroughly looked into it.

"I was down here with my squad. I thought Dannenberg and his men were on the north side."

DETECTIVE TELLS STORY.

Detective William Schubert of Chief Gleason's squad was on the job when reporters reached the scene. This is his version:

"Fred Amart and Joseph Merrill, with an investigator whose name I could not learn, were walking east in Twenty-second street after they had made a raid on the Turf saloon. A large crowd apparently was following them. The crowd consisted of hangers-on in the district, probably a good many of them were vagrants. These followers were shouting, 'O, there goes Funkhouser's stool pigeons. They're stool pigeons, watch them! Watch them!'

"In the excitement, several witnesses tell me, a brick was thrown in the direction of the morals squad men. At about the same time a shot was fired. No one apparently seems to know who fired this shot.

ARMED CLASH RESULTS.

"At the same time Detectives Stanley Birns and John Sloop of the detective bureau were walking along Twenty-second street. They were following the crowd. Apparently they did not know who the morals squad men were. When the shot was fired they ran down close to where Maj. Funkhouser's three men were.

"By this time Funkhouser's men had drawn their revolvers. Birns and Sloop drew theirs when they dashed into the crowd. Then several shots were fired.

"Apparently no shots were fired by Birns or Sloop. Birns dropped to the sidewalk, crying: 'O, my God, I'm shot.'

"Sloop also was shot through the left leg.

"As soon as the firing started the crowds ran in all directions. Officer Merrill and the investigator, whose name I am unable to learn, disappeared. Policeman Amart ran upstairs into Swan's poolroom at 73 East Twenty-second street. The shooting took place in front of 67 East Twenty-second street. Amart was found later in the poolroom and arrested and taken to the Twenty-second street police station.

DETECTIVE JOHN C. SLOOP.

WITNESSES DIFFER.

"The stories that witnesses tell me differ. Some say there was no provocation for the shooting, that the investigators and officers from the second deputy's office pulled their revolvers and fired on the bureau men in cold blood. However, that theory does not seem possible. Other witnesses, whom I am inclined to believe, tell the story of the brick and the firing of the single shot before the trouble really began.

"The police officers apparently did not know that the other squad were policemen. Each seemed to believe that they were quelling the disturbance."

BYSTANDER GIVES VERSION.

Harry Senner, a bystander, who says he saw the entire disturbance and the trouble which led up to the shooting, told the following story:

"I was walking along Twenty-second street in the crowd that had gathered around the Funkhouser men. I heard somebody in the crowd call them stool pigeons. I believe they said they were Funkhouser's stool pigeons. Then, with no apparent cause whatever the three men whirled around and pulled their revolvers from their holsters and began firing. After they had fired five or six shots the three men started to run. One of them ran into a pool hall. I don't know where the other two went."

GLEASON GOES TO STATION.

Chief Gleason when informed at his home of the shooting tried to get in touch with the south side stations by telephone, but failed. He then tried to get his chauffeur and again failed. Then he called a taxicab and hurried to the Cottage Grove avenue station.

DAY CONFERENCE HELD.

Earlier in the day a conference on vice conditions in Chicago had been held by Judge Goodnow of the Morals court, Maj. Funkhouser, Morals Inspector Dannenberg, Assistant Corporation Counsel Max Korshak, and Charles Horrigan, an attorney.

The plans that had been made by the second deputy's office to clean out the south side levee district were gone over. The plan believed to be the best to cope with the problm was to arrest all persons found in or about any of the houses in the district and book them on the charge of disorderly conduct. If they can prove that they attain their livelihood in a reputable way they will be released.

BIG CLEANUP PLANNED.

It was declared by both Judge Goodnow and Mr. Korshak that the levee could be thoroughly cleaned out if the regular police would assist the men from the second deputy's office in carrying out the program. A start will be made in a few weeks, according to the plans laid at the conference.

The conference was held in Judge Goodnow's chambers to determine whether or not he would accept as sufficient a charge of disorderly conduct against those to be arrested. The judge indicated he believed the legal phase of the matter would be satisfactory, but said he would take two weeks to consider it. Another meeting will be held at that time and the final plans laid.

STANLEY J. BIRNS AND FAMILY.

BEAN QUITS POLICE WORK.

Secretary to Chief Gleason Resigns Following Appointment to Corporation Counsel's Office.

Vernon L. Bean, secretary to Chief of Police Gleason, who recently received an appointment as an assistant corporation counsel, tendered his resignation to Chief Gleason yesterday. Mr. Bean at the request of Chief Gleason will remain with him until his successor is appointed and has become familiar with the work the position involves.

SISTER LEARNS OF DEATH OF BIRNS BY TELEPHONE.

Calls Up Detective Bureau to Talk to Brother When She Is Informed of Tragedy.

Soon after word was received at the detective bureau that Sergeant Birns had been killed there came a telephone call from Mrs. Hattie Meyers, his sister, who was at his home. Lieut. Larkin answered the telephone.

"I'd like to talk to Stanley Birns, lieutenant," Mrs. Meyers said.

"Who is this?" asked the lieutenant.

The lieutenant hesitated, and the delay apparently aroused fear in the mind of Mrs. Meyers.

"Is—is he hurt, lieutenant?" she asked.

"Yes," said the lieutenant slowly. "He is hurt. I am afraid he is hurt pretty bad."

She hung up the phone.

Later another sister of Birns said that all afternoon at his home he had been whistling or singing popular songs and had never seemed happier. His wife, she said, is at Steven's Point, Wis., where she went two weeks ago.

Arrested on Old Robbery Charge.

John Van Allen and Michael Ryan, waiters, were arrested yesterday on a charge of having robbed Marvin H. Beebe, owner of the Chicago laundry, last October. Ryan is said to have confessed and named Van Allen as having been responsible for a number of other holdups.

WAYMAN CLOSES LEVEE IN 1912

GRADUALLY REOPENED.

The "last stand" of the habitues of the south side "redlight" district during the last few years has been marked by protection, graft, and bitter opposition to the efforts of reform organizations.

Until two years ago the levee was wide open. The First ward ball had been abolished, but the countless rows of disreputable houses that stretched south from Sixteenth to Twenty-second street along Dearborn street and Armour avenue ran wide open.

The report of the vice commission headed by Dean Walter T. Sumner and the efforts of other agencies focused public attention on the evil. The first attempt to stamp it out was made by the special committee of the city council in the summer of 1912. Nothing was done, however.

Wayman Gets Busy.

Then came the "wash" grand jury investigation under the late State's Attorney J. E. W. Wayman. The jury met on Sept. 27, 1912, ostensibly to wipe out the social evil in Chicago. Virginia Brooks (Washburne) had drawn attention to the evil existing in West Hammond, and the jury heard evidence on the vice in that suburb.

Attorney Carl A. Waldron went before the grand jury to tell about the conditions in the south side levee. He offered to tell what he knew, but he was not allowed to do so. The story of the mysterious force which seemed to oppose the real inquiry into south side conditions was printed exclusively in THE TRIBUNE on Sept. 28, 1912. Mr. Waldron demonstrated what was happening. The political forces were at work to keep the investigation in West Hammond.

A few days later State's Attorney John E. W. Wayman startled Chicago by announcing that he would close the entire levee district and then it would be up to the police to keep it closed. He declared he was tired of being made the goat by reform organizations who blamed him for wide open conditions. He said Mayor Harrison had promised to back him up in his war on vice and keep the district closed.

Levee Panic Stricken.

For the first time Chicago's underworld was absolutely panic stricken. For the first time the oft published threat to stamp out segregated vice was being carried out. Red lights no longer gleamed. Day after day, after the campaign started on Oct. 6, raid after raid was made under the direction of Mr. Wayman. And before he left office a few months later, the levee was "closed," after a series of the most spectacular raids ever made in Chicago.

One of the leading aides to the state's attorney was William C. Dannenberg, who had been appointed inspector of moral conditions. He was formerly an agent of the federal department of justice.

Under pressure of the various civic organizations, who had interested themselves in the fight, a fair degree of supervision was maintained in the district during the first part of last year. Then came the appointment of Maj. M. L. C. Funkhouser to the position of second deputy superintendent of police, with special powers to handle the vice problem. From the day of his appointment he was harrassed by the efforts of forces seeking to reestablish the old district. A suit was filed which sought to have him made a bankrupt.

Police Do Little.

With Mr. Dannenberg he kept up the raiding of vice resorts in the Twenty-second street and Cottage Grove police districts, where the regular police did nothing. The Committee of Fifteen, which succeeded the vice commission, assisted. But the work of the second deputy's office could not prevent the gradual return of a semblance of the old conditions.

In April of this year attention was thrown on the problem again with the murder of Isaac Henagow by "Duffy the Goat," or James Franche. The police were not notified of the shooting, which took place in the notorious café of Roy Jones at 2037 Wabash avenue, until several hours later. In the meantime "Duffy" had ample time to escape. The police of the Twenty-second street station, who were said to know his hiding places, seemed to make little effort to apprehend him.

Shortly afterward the Citizens' association started an inquiry into the protected vice of the city and E. W. Sims, former district attorney, made startling charges of the collusion which existed between the police and the proprietors of the levee resorts.

Lid Is Lifted.

Several weeks ago signs of a gradual removal of the police lid on the redlights became noticeable to the public. Roy Jones' old place at Twenty-first street and Wabash avenue, bearing the name of Bert A. White, began to sell drinks all night in their upstairs café.

The Cadillac café, run in connection with the notorious Cadillac hotel, also switched on their electric flash sign and began selling drinks all night. Jordan's, the Rose café, and other notorious levee saloons ran wide open all night.

Jordan's Dive Raided.

Suddenly Funkhouser's men started things. Several resorts, said by the police to be closed, were raided. A few days later Chief Gleason's men closed John J. Jordan's dive at 2008 South Wabash avenue, "Freddie" Train's old place. Jordan was arrested. Meanwhile the Cadillac and others ran full blast.

Jordan's was almost immediately reopened. Then Maj. Funkhouser made a "personally conducted" raid on Jordan's last Tuesday morning at 1:30. The place was well filled. Forty men and women, many of whom had automobiles waiting for them in front of the saloon, were taken to the station.

The same night Funkhouser's men raided three resorts and took twenty-two prisoners.

Thursday night Chief Gleason emphatically told a TRIBUNE reporter that there was no friction between him and Funkhouser and that there would be raids made till there was nothing more to raid. He emphasized this by writing THE TRIBUNE a letter declaring there was no unpleasantness between the two police departments.

Records of Policemen

DEAD.

Stanley J. Birns was born Sept. 27, 1879. He was a laborer before he entered the police department and had resided at 1348 North Western avenue for some time.

On April 2, 1906, he was put on probation as an officer. He entered the police department Dec. 29, 1909, and was stationed at the Rawson street station in the Thirty-third precinct. Three years ago he was transferred to the detective bureau, where he had been ever since. About sixteen months ago he was made a second class detective sergeant.

Sergt. Birns has always had an admirable record. He recently recovered a carload of horses stolen in Kansas and was talking only last night of what he was going to do with the money he was to get as a reward for the feat.

"He was a good, ambitious officer, who was bound to rise," said Lieut. Tobin of the detective bureau.

INJURED.

Joseph Merrill was born Aug. 24, 1887, at Danville, Ill., where he was a spice miller for years before coming to Chicago and joining the police force. He lived at 6021 Aberdeen street. Officer Merrill entered the police department May 18, 1914, and was assigned to the second deputy's office.

John C. Sloop was born Feb. 23, 1878, in Allegheny, Pa. He was formerly a teamster and lived at 2813 West Twenty-second street. He was put on probation as an officer March 7, 1907. In September of the same year he entered the police department. He acted as chauffeur for Capt. John J. Ryan of the Warren avenue station, but was later transferred to the detective bureau. On Feb. 13, 1914, he was made a second class detective sergeant.

Fred Amort joined the police force on March 15 of this year. He was formerly a park policeman in Omaha, Neb., where he was born in 1888. He lives at 1514 South Springfield avenue. Both he and Merrill are still on probation in the police department, not having been in the service long enough to qualify as regular members.

The committee on causative forces of mental deficiency made a report recommending regulation of mental deficients.

Dr. Hickson's Paper.

Dr. W. J. Hickson of the psychopathic laboratory, Municipal court, said that of 246 boys from the Boys' court examined more than 84 per cent were morons. Their average chronological age was 18 years and their mental age under 11 years.

"We found only eighteen cases, or 7.36 per cent," said Dr. Hickson, "who gave a normal mental development. The most practical and reliable test of all is the psychomic test. It is the boys between the ages of 17 and 21 with which this court deals.

"Our records show they fill only the poorest and poorest paid manual occupations; that they rarely hold a position more than a few weeks or months; and they are the first to be laid off.

"We had a boy, aged 5, who was precocious mentally, testing age 7 on the Binet-Simon scale. He was sent to us by the court for certification for adoption. He had been returned because he showed sadistic tendencies.

"He slaughtered chickens and cats and attacked a baby. We are often asked for suggestions as to treatment. If my neurological findings are substantiated it will be seen readily that we have no treatment.

Not Entirely Hopeless.

"This situation is not entirely hopeless, however. We might suggest that these sadistic tendencies be carried over into useful fields. The sadist might be made a butcher or a surgeon. We know of the case of a feeble minded boy with pyromaniac tendencies who was set to shoveling coal all day in the boiler house, and he has made the best stoker the boiler house ever had.

"The findings of our laboratory are of the greatest importance to the business man who cannot afford to have those in the border line class in his employment. There is no telling how many accidents on land and sea and in factories have been caused by this class of mental defectives.

"The only two suggestions thus far made to handle the defectives we already have has been segregation and sterilization. Germans also are urging the legalization of abortion in these cases."

250,000 Epileptics in U. S.

The number of epileptics in the United States was placed at 250,000 by William C. Graves, formerly president of the National Association for the Study of Epilepsy and the Care and Treatment of Epileptics, in his paper at the morning session. "In the United States epileptic colonies hold 9,500 acres, 3,900 of which are under cultivation," said Mr. Graves. "But the need of a campaign in behalf of epileptics is shown in the fact that we have only 7,000 in institutions, when at least 125,000, or half of the entire number, need especial care in colonies."

Dr. O. S. Hubbard of Parsons, Kas., estimated the number of epileptics in Chicago as 4,000.

Body Found on Lake Shore at Thirteenth Street, but Was Not Killed There.

A workman plodding along the lake shore yesterday found a man's body in the sand at the foot of Thirteenth street. The few wisps of facts and the developments indicate a "Little Sicily" murder plot, ingeniously conceived and executed.

When the police claimed the body, the man, evidently a Sicilian, was found to have been choked to death with a gag. This gag, a wadded linen handkerchief, bore in indelible marking ink a rude drawing of a skull and crossbones.

The dead man's nose had been broken by a blow or kick, and he had suffered severe hemorrhage. A postmortem examination and an inquest are to be held today.

"This man never was killed on the lake shore at Thirteenth street," said Capt. P. D. O'Brien of the South Clark street police station. "I'm satisfied we'll find he was killed on the north or west side and that his body was hauled down and dumped on the lake shore."

ATTEMPTS TO HANG SELF.

Wife Cuts Down Swinging Body and Physician Revives Would-Be Suicide.

James O'Donnell, 7008 South Honore street, tried to hang himself in a woodshed at the rear of his home last night. His wife, Mary, saw him enter the woodshed with a rope and a few minutes later she looked in the door and saw him hanging from a beam. Cutting him down she called a physician, who revived him.

OPINION HITS WOMAN VOTE

Ex-Judge Holds They Cannot Ballot for County Board.

COURT FIGHT PROBABLE.

Suffrage Friends Pin Faith to Judge Owens to Save Them.

Another eleventh hour appeal to the courts to straighten out the kinks in Chicago's election machinery is promised over the question of the eligibility of women to vote for members of the county board.

Former Probate Judge Charles S. Cutting, who recently defended the constitutionality of the woman suffrage law before the high tribunal, yesterday prepared an opinion that women cannot vote for county commissioners, but may hold the office.

Coincident with the Cutting opinion some of the women's champions expressed the belief that County Judge Owens would ignore all such opinions and rule that women legally may vote for county board members.

Progressive party leaders said they were almost certain Judge Owens would sweep all contrary opinions to one side at the last moment and throw down the bars to the woman electorate.

"Unless Judge Owens has changed his mind recently I believe he will rule with us that women should be allowed to vote for county board members," said Harold L. Ickes, chairman of the Progressive county committee and director of the slate making conference.

Bosses Lack "Nerve" to Fight.

"If he does so rule, who's going to appeal to the courts? I don't believe any of the old party bosses have got the nerve to attack such a ruling, for the women are going to be a big factor in Chicago politics from now on. Besides, as I understand it, there is plenty of legal argument in support of the women being permitted to vote for these offices."

The case has been presented to the election commissioners and argued exhaustively. Their opinion, when drafted, will be submitted to Judge Owens for the final ruling. The election officials have indicated a leaning toward the women's contention and the political leaders have got the idea that Judge Owens may sustain them.

Ruling at Last Moment.

The opinion from the County court, whatever it may be, is not expected until the last moment, which will make court action extremely difficult.

Another disquieting aspect of the situation for those who do not believe women are entitled legally to vote for commissioners is the vacation time of the Supreme court. The next term does not open until October. The primary is in September.

Any one who desired to fight Judge Owens' ruling, if it should favor the women in this contention, would be forced into the Superior or Circuit court with a petition for a restraining order based on the alleged illegal expenditure of the taxpayers' money.

Views of Judge Cutting.

Judge Cutting, meanwhile, holds that there is no question about the illegality of women voting for members of the county board, although he holds that there is nothing in the constitution or the statutes that estops them from holding such office.

In this contention he is sustained by Carl R. Chindblom, attorney for President Alexander A. McCormick of the county board.

Mr. Cutting bases his opinion on the ruling of the Supreme court in the case of the People, vs. English, reported in the 139th Illinois, page 622. That was the litigation wherein an attempt was made to establish the right of women to vote for county superintendent of schools.

AUSTIN GOES ON A PICNIC

TANGO CONTEST? SURE.

All the Newest Steps and Other Outdoor Amusements.

July is a great month for national holidays. Canada starts it off with Dominion day; then comes the glorious Fourth; next is the Fourteenth of the French; and last comes Austin day, the "Splendid Sixteenth."

Yesterday Austin closed down for the day and went west to enjoy its annual picnic, held this year at Fox River park, near Aurora. Nobody knows just how many Austinites went, but when the prizes are awarded for the best guess at the attendance the managers say that the winning number will be close to 1,500.

It was a real national holiday in one sense at least: it rained. But the intrepid Austinites didn't let that disturb them at all. They just called off their ball game until the shower passed, and then went right on playing until they were stopped again. For that reason there was some doubt as to who won the game, but nobody was much perturbed.

Tango Attracts Crowds.

While the races and games were on many of the picnickers spent their time riding about the adjacent country in their machines or in gliding along the Fox river in canoes and skiffs; but when the tango contest was announced every one was on hand at the casino to watch the newest steps.

The result was a "dapceaway" for the Rasmussen sisters, the first prize going to Miss Carrie, who danced with William E. Norris, and the second to Miss Anna, whose partner was Gunnar Larson.

Harriet Ford and Edith Wilson also did several new tango steps. Bernadine Schwenke, was the youngest Austinite at the picnic.

Prizes Are Awarded.

Prizes were awarded in all the events, and with a few exceptions the awards were in the form of donations from members of the Austin Business Men's association, which managed the picnic.

3 KILLED BY A FAST TRAIN

Man and Two Women Meet Death at Genoa, Ill.

STOP ON RIGHT OF WAY.

Watch Approaching Engine and Fail to See Express Coming.

Three persons, a man and two women, were killed by the Missouri River express on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad last night three-quarters of a mile west of Genoa, Ill.

The dead:

August Tyler.
Miss May Robinson.
Mrs. J. J. Benton.

Tyler, who was an undertaker at Genoa, and the two women had walked down the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul right of way. They stopped almost beneath a bridge on which the Illinois Central tracks span the other tracks.

Stop to Watch Train.

They paused to watch an approaching I. C. train. As it roared across the viaduct the engineer of the express train, which was approaching from the rear, blew his whistle. The roar of the approaching express and the whistle were drowned, however, by the rumble of the other train across the bridge.

The express was going at a speed of about sixty miles an hour, and the engineer made a desperate effort to slacken speed when he saw the three persons ahead did not heed his signal.

Bodies Ground Under Wheels.

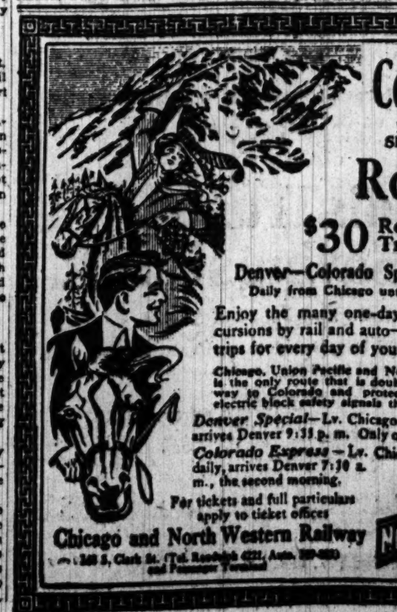

It was too late, however, and when the train was brought to a stop several hundred yards on the other side of the viaduct, the bodies of the victims had been ground beneath the wheels.

Miss Robinson turned when the engine was the within twenty feet and made as if to leap from the track. She stumbled and fell across one of the rails just as the engine struck her.

The bodies were taken to Tyler's undertaking rooms in Genoa.

Open Verdict in Foy Death.

An open verdict was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury which inquired into the death of Chow Foy of 809 East Ninety-second street, whose skull was fractured by a man who struck him on the head with a chisel.

ENGINEERS BALK MEDIATION PLAN

CITE PAST FAILURES.

The engineers and firemen of the ninety-eight western railroads now involved in a wage controversy last night refused to accept federal arbitration, as suggested by the committee of railway managers.

Rejection of the mediation proposal was contained in a letter written by W. S. Carter and W. S. Stone, executives of the two railroad employes' brotherhoods, to A. W. Trenholm, chairman of the conference committee of managers.

Letter Rejects Mediation.

Chicago, Ill., July 16, 1914.

Dear Sir: This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of even date wherein you say:

"We hereby request you to join with us in an application to the United States Board of Mediation and Conciliation and invoke its services for the purpose of bringing about an amicable adjustment of the controversy."

Your request has been referred to the joint committee representing the engineers, firemen, and hostlers in the western territory and has been declined for the reason that should they join with you in the request to the United States Board of Mediation and Conciliation it would place a moral obligation upon them to accept arbitration as provided for in the Newlands act. As we have stated to you on several occasions, they will not accept arbitration because in our past arbitrations the railroads have refused to place the awards in effect.

Yours truly,
W. S. STONE,
Grand Chief Engineer, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.
W. S. CARTER,
President, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

Final Decision Today.

Mr. Trenholm refused to comment upon this letter until after it should have been read and discussed before the conference committee of western railway managers at their session this morning. What the next step will be is a matter of conjecture, the employes having refused to give out a detailed copy of their strike vote by railroads as requested by the managers, and having refused absolutely to retract from their original demands of May 18.

Both employers and employes have stated it will be useless to continue conferences and the exchange of letters in the hope of effecting any settlement, and the rejection of arbitration by the engineers is expected to force the roads to appeal to Washington direct for mediation. In that case the federal board would take up the matter directly with the employes.

PUBLICITY MANAGER'S BODY FOUND IN DRAINAGE CANAL.

William E. Bersch Committed Suicide, Police Believe, Because of Overwork and Family Illness.

The body of William E. Bersch, the missing publicity manager for the North Shore Gas and Electric company, was found in the drainage canal yesterday. The police river and harbor patrol recovered it near Bryn Mawr avenue where Mr. Bersch's clothes were found the evening before.

The circumstances and the condition of the body, in the opinion of the police, indicate that Mr. Bersch committed suicide.

Mr. Bersch left his home at 215 Central Park avenue in Highland Park Wednesday morning saying he was going to his office. He failed to appear there or to return home. Then Mrs. Bersch called the police.

LABOR ASKS INQUIRY VOICE

Demands Hearing if Anti-Boycott Official Testifies.

NEW "TOUCH" REVEALED.

Factory Owner Asserts Contractors Raised Prices.

Announcement that Walter Gordon Merritt, attorney for the American Anti-Boycott association, would furnish the special grand jury which is investigating labor blackmail charges under the direction of District Attorney Wilkerson, with numerous instances of violations of the interstate commerce laws, caused a furore among business agents yesterday.

John J. Fitzpatrick, president, and Edward Nockels, secretary, of the Chicago Federation of Labor, called on the district attorney and demanded that they, too, be allowed to testify before the jury. Mr. Wilkerson assured them that he would be glad to have them do so. The labor officials are declared to have told the prosecutor that the anti-boycott association had been a far more persistent violator of the law than had the business agents.

Oppression Laid to League.

Any testimony that Mr. Merritt might offer, they said, should be taken with a large grain of salt, because of the oppressive and domineering tactics used by the association in forcing union men to use nonunion materials.

Joseph Mitchell, secretary of the McLaughlin Building Material company, appeared before the grand jury in the morning, after which the sessions were adjourned until Monday. John J. (Boss) McLaughlin, head of the firm, made the original complaint to the district attorney and caused the inquiry to be started. Mr. Mitchell is said to have furnished a few of the details of the story of how Mr. McLaughlin paid a business agent money to be allowed to resume the construction of a building.

Labor Agent Varies Touch.

There are several ways of killing a cat besides choking it to death by poking butter down its throat. Also there are many ways of blackmailing a contractor.

One of the latest methods is attributed to the "business agent" of an electrical union. The victim is John A. Nutowc, a cigar manufacturer at 4644 South Marshfield avenue. Mr. Nutowc has taken the case to State's Attorney Hoyne and will testify before the special grand jury.

According to the cigar manufacturer he decided to build an addition to his factory. He also decided to have the old building raised three feet. He made arrangements with various contractors and then closed down his factory. The building was half completed when the business agent of an electrical union appeared.

Examines the Jacks.

He examined the jacks upon which the building was raised. Then he informed Mr. Nutowc that he would have to pay $300 to the electrical union. Mr. Nutowc refused. The "business agent" called a strike.

Several days later Mr. Nutowc was informed by the agent the matter could be adjusted. The "business agent" met Mr. Nutowc in Johnson's saloon at 838 West Madison street and took him up to the "kick-in gallery." He demanded $300, according to Mr. Nutowc.

"When I refused he brought the price down to $100," said the cigar manufacturer. "Still I refused, because of the principle of the thing, and then he told me perhaps he had a plan and would see me later.

"Then to my astonishment the various contractors who had agreed to install certain equipment for a certain amount told me they would have to charge double. They said their work was being held up by the strike and that if I agreed to pay them a double amount they would give the excess charge to the union. There you are."

WILSON AWAITS CARVAJAL MOVE

Rebels Told They Must Preserve Order When He Gives Them Reins.

NO LOOT OR VIOLENCE.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special.]—A move by Provisional President Carvajal toward arranging with the Constitutionalists for the surrender of Mexico City and the Mexican government to the revolutionary forces is now awaited by both the Wilson administration and Gen. Carranza's representatives here. It is not believed it is more than a matter of days at the most before Carvajal undertakes the purpose for which it is assumed he was brought into office.

With the retirement of Huerta, however, the vast importance of the host of questions which must soon arise is being realized and informal discussions are already in progress for the purpose of a mutual understanding between the United States government and the Constitutionalists.

While the United States has not yet taken up the matter of recognition of the government which the Constitutionalists are to set up in Mexico City, it is appreciated by both parties that upon the conduct of the Constitutionalists from this moment forward depends whether or not they are to receive recognition and support of Washington.

Military Rule, Rebels' Plan.

The next government of Mexico will be a military government. Gen. Carranza will govern with the title of first chief. His power will be absolute.

This is the program of the Constitutionalists which has been made known to the United States government. President Wilson has tacitly accepted it.

But this program has been accepted with this admonition to the Constitutionalists—if their victory is sullied with violence, loot, or murder, particularly at the time the Constitutionalists enter Mexico City, foreign complications may arise which even at this late date will force American intervention.

The American forces at Vera Cruz and the battleships in that harbor will not be withdrawn until the new government has been recognized and peace retored.

So far there has been no proposal from the United States, even of a tentative character, for the recognition of a Constitutionalist government. The Constitutionists have been told that excesses upon their part may turn their apple to ashes and all other questions are left to the future.

No Harm to Vanquished.

In warning the Constitutionalists the United States has represented to them the necessity of agreeing upon terms of surrender with the Mexico City authorities which will give some assurance that there will be no unnecessary hardship imposed upon the vanquished Cientificos.

Specifically the United States is seeking to obtain from Carranza guarantees of amnesty for those guilty of purely political offenses; protection for foreign property and foreign lives, and protection for church property and the lives of the clergy.

This last matter has lately been made the subject of representations by the French ambassador, M. Jusserand, who acted at the request of Catholic priests of Mexico who are citizens of France. Also delegations of priests have visited the president and Mr. Bryan to obtain protection through the United States for the lives of priests in Mexico and for church property which is threatened by the Constitutionalists.

Ugly tales are being told here of the treatment of the clergy and church property in Mexico by the Constitutionalists and this matter threatens to become an important factor in the relations of the United States and other foreign governments with the Constitutionalists.

Peace Put Up to Rebels.

But beyond seeking such assurances from Gen. Carranza which it is hoped will be embodied in the terms of surrender agreed upon between the Constitutionalists and the Carvajal government, the United States is not seeking to limit the absolutism of the expected Constitutionalist government.

The situation, it is now learned, has been gone over thoroughly between representatives of the Constitutionalists and the state department. Carranza contends that absolute power is essential to the restoration of peace, and apparently the administration agrees with him.

The state department has not received any direct word from the new ad interim government at Mexico City. It had no part in the sending of the delegates from Mexico City who are to confer with Constitutionalists supposedly upon terms of surrender.

Neither has Washington received any assurances from Gen. Carranza that he will agree to its requests for the protection of life and property.

Actually the Washington government is out of touch with the two factions in Mexico. Representations have been made to Carranza through Consul Silliman at Saltillo and communication is continued with the Brazilian minister at Mexico City, but it is evident that the United States is having mighty little to say in the events now transpiring in Mexico.

MOHENO PRAISES HUERTA.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

Havana, July 16.—Querido Moheno, secretary of the interior in the late Mexican cabinet, sailed on the steamship Miami today for Key West. Speaking of the resignation of President Huerta, Moheno said:

"Gen. Huerta is a man of simple habits. In talking with him some time ago about the possibility of this event he told me that in case he resigned he would take refuge in the United States or Canada. I am sure he would not parade the French boulevards as a fallen ruler. We all recognize that the feeling of the Latins for a fallen ruler is one of sympathy.

"Gen. Huerta, who is the bravest man in America and who is strictly honest, will from tomorrow be the most popular man in Mexico, and within ninety days the cable reports from Mexico will say that the people are declaring that the new rebel government is most detestable."

Señor and Señora Moheno took with them a plump satchel which they have been guarding closely since their arrival here. It is said to contain $500,000 in securities.

DIAZ TO HEAD NEW REVOLT?

San Antonio, Tex., July 16.—Reports that a junta was being formed in El Paso in the interests of Felix Diaz were being discussed unofficially by army officers here today. The plan, it was said, was to start a counter revolution against Carranza and Villa and secure aid of the Huerta irregulars.

GIVE UP ALL, REBEL DEMAND OF BEATEN FEDERALS

Gen. Carranza declared it might be necessary to send Constitutionalist troops to Mexico City to preserve order and that he was preparing for such a situation.

WILL CHANGE CABINET.

El Paso, Tex., July 16.—Sweeping changes will be made shortly in the list of Gen. Carranza's immediate advisers, according to news from Saltillo and Torreon.

As the result of the recent Villa-Carranza conference in Torreon virtually the entire oConstitutionalist cabinet will be changed. It is said the Torreon conference selected twelve men regarded as of cabinet timber from which Carranza is to select six members of his cabinet, leaving two positions still unfilled.

Present Cabinet to Quit.

The Torreon conference, it is said, agreed that most of Carranza's official family are to retire, among them being Isidro Fabela, acting minister of foreign affairs; Rafael Zubaran, representative in Washington; Gen. Jacinto Trevino, chief of staff, Alfredo Breceda, now on a mission to Washington, and others.

The names agreed upon at the Torreon conference include: Luis Cabrera, Fernando Iglesias Calderon, Jose Vasconcelos, Gen. Antonio Villareal, Gen. Eduardo Hay, Elberto Pani, Federico Gonzales Garza, Miguel Covarrubias, Dr. Miguel Silva, Miguel Robles, Manuel Bonilla, and Diaz Lombardo.

Villareal for War Job.

Gen. Villareal, at present governor of Nuevo Leon, it is said, will become minister of war. He is said to have been the one man all the prominent Constitutionalist generals, including Villa and Obregon, could agree upon. He has not been unusually prominent in a military way, but is regarded as a man of great executive ability.

A number of the men already had been slated for cabinet positions. Among these were Calderon, José Vasconcelos, and Luis Cabrera. They now are in the United States. Pani also has been slated as a cabinet member.

It is said that the influence of the Madero family was strongly felt in the selection of some of the twelve names. Garza and Dr. Silva are regarded as Maderistas. Covarrubias was Madero's minister to Russia, and Lombardo was Madero's minister to Great Britain.

Rebels and Bandits Clash.

Constitutionalist soldiers and Federal guerrillas clashed late this afternoon at Palomas, Chihuahua, near the international line at Columbus, N. M., according to advices received at military headquarters at Juarez.

The Federals, numbering 200 and led by Gen. Roque Gomez, captured Palomas yesterday after annihilating a small rebel garrison there. Reinforcements were ordered to the scene from Pearson, Chihuahua by Gen. Villa. This column, it was said, encountered Gomez today.

On Mission of Peace.

The peace commissioners who will invite the Constitutionalists to take possession of Mexico City left the national capital today with Guadalajara as their destination, according to unofficial advices. They will go to Guadalajara because that is the point nearest to the Constitutionalist divisional commander.

Gen. Alvaro Obregon, chief of the western division, has established his headquarters there. Guadalajara, the second city of Mexico, is fifteen hours by rail from the capital.

Fifteen thousand troops, 5,000 from each division of the Constitutionalist army, will enter Mexico City simultaneously, according to Constitutionalist officials here. This plan, it was pointed out, would prevent any jealousy arising between the three divisions of the army.

It was predicted that each division commander, Villa, Obregon, and Gonzales, would lead his own command into the capital. After military rule has been established in Mexico City the other troops in the three divisions will be permitted to visit the capital.

If this plan is carried out more than 50,000 Constitutionalist soldiers will be quartered in Mexico City within a few weeks.

"There is no ground for the belief that my troops are in Chihuahua for any other purpose than recuperation," Gen. Villa said today in Juarez. "The operations against Zacatecas were hard on the animals of the division of the north. My stock is now grazing in various districts south of Chihuahua City and I expect to take my troops toward Mexico City in a few days. There is no need for apprehension regarding my stay in the north."

Rebel Differences Only Slight.

In reply to a question whether it was true that there were still some differences among the Constitutionalists, as had been rumored, Gen. Villa said he knew of none.

"The only difference that might exist, so far as I know, is that not all of us, perhaps, agree as to the extent to which the agrarian reform measure of the plan of Guadalupe should be carried out. In this connection I will say that it is a full measure of reform that my country seems to want and that nobody will dare to give it less."

Word was received at Villa's headquarters this afternoon of the death of Gen. Torribio Ortega in Chihuahua City today. Ortega died of typhoid fever, contracted during the Zacatecas campaign. He was generally regarded as Villa's favorite commander and the northern soldiers called him the "Honorable Ortega."

MEXICANS LIKE CARVAJAL.

Mexico City, July 16.—The designation of Francisco Carvajal for the provisional presidency has been well received throughout the republic, according to reports reaching here this morning. The fact that the new president is a civilian contributed to win for him the sympathies of the Mexican people, who appear to have become tired of a military dictatorship.

Gen. José Refugio Velasco received the appointment of minister of war early this morning and was sworn in at 11 o'clock.

All Quiet in Capital.

Besides the demonstration in honor of President Carvajal when he was leaving the chamber of deputies building after taking the oath yesterday no other outbursts of importance have occurred. There were a few shouts in the streets of "Down with Huerta!" and "Viva Carranza!" but the police promptly intervened, stopping all such demonstrations.

Gen. Huerta, who remained in the capital some hours after his resignation, is in flight, probably on his way to Puerto Mexico to join his family and friends who left for that port a day earlier. Gen. Blanquet, Huerta's minister of war and strong adherent, went with him when he left the city late last night, as did several others of his close friends.

A feature of the discussion in the chamber yesterday while the resignation of Gen. Huerta was pending was the speech of Deputy Musquiz Blanco, who made a bitter attack on Americans and American politics. He was hissed by the persons in the galleries.

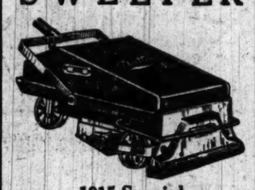

Severely Beaten by Robbers.

Ralph Juul, 855 North Francisco avenue, who says he is a relative of State Senator N. Juul, was attacked and severely beaten early yesterday by three men who tried to rob him at North Clark street and West Grand avenue. The men escaped after a policeman chased them for several blocks and had fired five shots at them.

MexicanPresident's Name; How Do You Pronounce It?

THE correct spelling is CARVAJAL. However, it is not pronounced the way it is spelled. If you wish to mention him as a Mexican would you must pronounce it as if spelled CARBAJAL, with the accent on the last syllable, giving 'J" the sound of "H."

HUERTA SLOWLY NEARS SAFETY

Families of Dictator and Blanquet Worried by the Delay.

DUE ON COAST TODAY.

Puerto, Mexico, July 16.—His family and others dear to him already out of the zone of possible danger, ex-President Huerta is moving toward this port tonight in a special train that should land him here early tomorrow morning. The train is moving leisurely, making a number of stops, and the incident thereby is robbed of much that otherwise might characterize Gen. Huerta's departure from the capital as a flight.

Huerta's friends here point to the manner in which he stood back, urging those whom he cared to leave before him, and refer to him as "the officer who commands the rear guard movement."

Brings Back Dias Flight.

As it appears tonight there will be little tomorrow to bring to mind the departure from Mexico of Porfirio Dias. It was Huerta Dias chose to escort him to Vera Cruz from the capital, Huerta to whom the deposed president uttered words which subsequent developments have made appear prophetic.

No one here knows just where and how and when Huerta will say good-by, but the majority believe that his departure will be as unostentatious as he can make it.

Gen. Camerena, in command of the special guard, has not been informed, nor does Gen. Luis Fuentes, Huerta's son-in-law, know. "We are waiting for the general to tell us," both of them said.

Fuentes, when a captain drew attention to himself at the close of the fighting in Mexico City by arresting Gustavo Madero, brother of the ex-president, and later by marrying Maria de la Luz Huerta.

Huerta to Avoid Limelight.

There is a desire on the part of some of the residents to meet the retiring president and they are talking about organizing a reception committee, but Federal officers and members of his family doubt whether Huerta will give them the opportunity because of his desire not to embarrass any of the friends he is leaving.

The orders of the Desden and Bristol still place them at the disposition of the exiles, but nothing more definite than this is known. It is understood generally, however, that most of the party, probably the women, will be cared for on the Bristol, while Gen. Huerta and Gen. Blanquet and perhaps the other men will be taken aboard the German cruiser.

Women Return to Train.

Realizing that battleships are poor things at best when it comes to taking care of passengers, those who boarded the Bristol this morning were back in the cars this afternoon and are sleeping there tonight, although from time to time small parties visited the warships.

Senora Huerta this evening had lost her buoyancy of the morning. She passed the greater part of the day in her section talking soberly to her sons, Jorge and Victor. She refused to see anybody, and members of her party described her as showing considerable uneasiness regarding her husband. Reports from the train on which Huerta is traveling were shown to her from time to time, but even the fact that the train was moving steadily forward was not sufficient to reassure her. Her mood extended to the other members of her immediate family.

Blanquet's Family Worried.

Members of Gen. Blanquet's family also were visibly worried, but a large number of those who arrived today appeared happy and contented. The refugees number about seventy and of these there are no more than half a dozen who are not connected with either the families of Huerta or Blanquet.

The children, who are the most numerous, are eager for the arrival of Huerta, not because that would mean he was out of danger, but because long ago he taught them that one of his hobbies is children. Huerta seldom passed a child in the streets of his capital if he were close enough that he did not at least pat it on the head.

The arrival of the foreign warships created more interest than the arrival of the special train. A small crowd of curious persons stood about the train beyond the line of guard all day, but something approaching real interest was displayed when the ships began to exchange salutes and again when they saluted the British and German consuls on the occasion of official calls.

Picked Soldiers Meet Refugees.

The railway yards were filled with soldiery, the pick of the army, selected by Gen. Huerta months ago, when the train arrived this morning. Preceding the special was a military train filled with troops and a second military train guarded the special from the rear.

It is announced unofficially that another British warship is on the way here from Vera Cruz and it is reported that both British and German vessels will play parts in the removal from Mexico of the Huerta and Blanquet families.

The coming of the refugees was kept so secret that when the trains pulled in hardly a resident of the town knew anything about it.

FEDERALS ON THE RUN.

Douglas, Ariz., July 16.—Gen. Alvarado telegraphed to Constitutionalist Agent Lelivier here today that the southern district of Lower California had been proclaimed Constitutionalist territory by Amezcua, the jefe politico. La Paz is the capital of the district.

The Federal garrison at Guaymas already had sent much artillery and spare ammunition to La Paz, believing it would be safe there.

Naco, Ariz., July 16.—The Mexican Federal troops evacuated Guaymas at 11 o'clock today, according to advices received here by railroad officials.

In view of the fact that no details could be obtained and that official news came from the Constitutionalists yesterday that Guaymas would be evacuated on July 20, Constitutionalists here were inclined to doubt that the city really had fallen.

It was thought that the fall last night of Empalme, a suburb, might possibly have been taken to mean Guaymas itself had been captured by Gen. Alvarado.

Federals Quit Palomas.

Columbus, N. M., July 16.—Federal filibusters under Gen. Roque Gomez this afternoon evacuated Palomas, captured Wednesday after almost annihilating the Constitutionalist garrison. Seven members of the garrison barricaded themselves in a house on the edge of the village and held their position against the Federal fire until the invaders evacuated, said persons arriving here from Palomas tonight. They also reported that Gomez's command was encountered a few hours after the evacuation by Constitutionalist reinforcements from Pearson, but no details of the rumored engagement were available.

Aguas Calientes Falls.

El Paso, Tex., July 16.—Aguas Calientes, 400 miles north of Mexico City, was evacuated today by the Federals, according to private messages received here. Aguas Calientes was first evacuated shortly after Zacatecas fell into Villa's hands. Two weeks ago Huerta's troops reoccupied the town.

WARNS U. S. OFFICERS.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—Secretary Garrison today telegraphed Brig. Gen. Bliss, commander of the American troops on the border, ordering American officers to refrain from participating in any meetings or conferences with Mexican officers of any faction.

Mr. Garrison wired Gen. Bliss that he had read newspaper reports saying that an American commander had met a Mexican officer on the international bridge at El Paso. He took occasion, however, in his telegram to point out the danger of misunderstanding what might result from such meetings.

The secretary's action was prompted by a news dispatch from El Paso, saying Col. George Bell Jr., commanding troops at Fort Bliss, had gone to the center of the international bridge, while pedestrians were prevented from crossing, and another man, velled by the darkness, presumably Gen. Villa, was seen moving to the center of the bridge.

SEE NO CHANGE IN CONDITIONS

German Press Pessimistic on Result of Huerta Abdication.

AS LONDON SEES IT.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, July 16.—The abdication of Gen. Victoriano Huerta as provisional president of Mexico is characterized by the German press as a "Pyrrhus victory," although it is admitted by all the papers that President Wilson succeeded in carrying out his policy of refusing to recognise the Huerta government and eliminated the provisional president from the Mexican affair without going to war to do so.

While the papers generally commend the abdication of Huerta, they say it does not change the conditions in Mexico or increase the prospects of the restoration of order.

The Neueste Nachrichten says President Wilson simply garroted Gen. Huerta through the influence of American dollars, diplomacy, and force, and adds that the aim of the United States is the "Panamalization of Mexico."

The Vossische Zeitung says it remains to be seen whether or not President Wilson can pat himself on the back for his success. The papers generally give credit to Gen. Huerta for having shown himself to be a statesman.

First Success for Wilson.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 17, 3 a. m.—The Times in an editorial says in Huerta's exit Wilson's policy has scored its first conspicuous success. "The sequel has proved him right, and his remarkable innovation in diplomatic procedure has thus far justified itself both in aim and in method," the editorial says. "To have ousted Huerta, however, is only a step towards the settlement of a wider problem. With American troops still in possession of Vera Cruz and able at any moment to advance on the capital, it is possible Mexico City may escape the chaos to which a withdrawal of all native authority might otherwise expose it.

"But even if this complication is avoided there remains the vast intricate series of difficulties involved in finding a new and acceptable president, in composing the feuds among the Constitutionalist leaders, and in restarting the mechanism of political and industrial life. Wilson may look forward to playing the part of umpire between the warring parties and of the trusted counsel to whichever group succeeds in establishing a stable administration.

U. S. May Yet Aid Mexico.

"He may even hope that American assistance will one day be voluntarily invoked for the purpose of reorganizing the Mexican state. These are among the happier possibilities of the situation.

"But there are also some of much darker hue and perhaps on the whole more likely of fulfillment. Wilson's sincere and unselfish efforts to save the Mexicans from themselves have already contributed very largely to the removal of one of the pertinacious obstacles. But the ultimate Mexican question has not thereby been disposed of. Rather is it beginning to reveal its true proportions."

Reparation for Benton Death.

The Pall Mall Gazette points out that if Francisco Carvajal, the new provisional president, surrenders to Gen. Carranza, as he is expected to do, "it may soon be possible to exact reparation from Gen. Villa for the murder at Juarez of William S. Benton, the Scottish rancher."

The Lyon & Healy Piano Raises a New Standard.

The Lyon & Healy Piano marks a new standard in piano values. Nothing like this charming upright has ever been offered at its price of $400. The Lyon & Healy Piano is the product of the Lyon & Healy factories, which are of the largest type of factory construction. The great new Lyon & Healy plant at Harrison Station (Fullerton Avenue), attracts many visitors. It is a model of fireproof cement and steel construction and contains the very latest devices. Furthermore, there are many innovations intended to add to the comfort of the workmen. Lyon & Healy Pianos, for instance. In one period of their construction, are brought to the top floor where the work may be done under skylights facing to the north. Few artists have beautiful light and surroundings as do workmen employed in these studio-like divisions. Lyon & Healy workmen have individual lockers, and there are shower baths, etc., placed at the disposal of all. Out of many ultra-modern devices it is hard to select one as an example, but perhaps the fact that the shafts which turn the machinery run on ball-bearings, thereby eliminating the usual noise, will give a striking proof of the splendid conditions which make for the perfection to be found in the Lyon & Healy Piano. A modest first payment may be arranged with small monthly payments to follow, when it is not convenient to pay cash.

No, This Is Not in Lake Michigan!

Heinly's restaurant, in the basement of the Crilly building at Monroe and Dearborn streets, was comfortably crowded yesterday afternoon when water from a backing sewer began to flood the place.

When the water had risen to a depth of a foot and a half a volunteer bucket brigade disbanded by mutual consent, and the only person left on the flooded floor was a man who had removed his shoes and socks and rolled up his trousers. The remainder—waitresses and other persons alike—were perched on tables that seemed momentarily about to become rafts.

STORM FLOODS LOOP; ONE DEAD

station while the water was being baled out.

Thousands of other basements in all parts of the city were flooded, including those under the Kedzie, Lincoln, West, and Monroe exchanges of the Chicago Telephone company. Fire apparatus saved the day and telephone service was not seriously hampered.

Many of the subways under the tracks of railroads on the north and west sides also were filled with water, some to a depth of several feet. Drivers of motor trucks who took refuge under the subways found their machines stalled when they perceived they had run themselves into a trap.

Lightning and wind each wrought their individual havoc. Boats riding in the yacht basin were wrenched from their moorings by the thirty-nine mile gale behind the storm, and at least one launch was sunk. Its occupants, Albert Shank, 2211 Western avenue, his wife, and his two children were rescued by the crew of the Lincoln park steamer Favorite.

Fifty-five times during the storm the fire department was called on either to pump out flooded basements or to extinguish blazes started by lightning bolts.

Robert Buford, a negro, was killed by a bolt of lightning in an early moment of the storm while at work on the foundation of the new Second Church of Christ, Scientist, in Oak Park.

About the same time a bolt struck William Schumann of 317 North Avers avenue as he was walking along the Northwestern tracks between North Keeler and North Kostner avenues. Part of Schumann's clothing was burned off and he was wandering in a daze when the police picked him up.

Elevated Road Tied Up.

An electric feed wire, blown down by the wind, fell across the east bound trolley wire on the Oak Park "L" at East avenue and melted it. The break was not patched until an hour later and during that time service on the line was suspended. The same accident kept many Oak Park homes dark last night.

Ivan de Lamoreaux, a guard at the county hospital, was badly burned when a bolt of lightning struck the transformer building, adjoining the county morgue. Henry Born, weighmaster, who was in the building with De Lamoreaux, had a narrow escape from injury. Firemen soon checked the blaze started by the bolt. Patients in the county hospital felt the shock, but there was little excitement.

Mrs. John Wessels was sitting at the window of her flat at 1021 Wells street, when a bolt bounced off the sill, tossed her from her chair, and burned her right arm. Mrs. H. G. Beach, Mrs. Henry Diedish, and Emma Stewart, 12 years old, neighbors of Mrs. Wessels, suffered from shock, as did John Stewart, Emma's 15 year old brother, and John Egan, 16, who were watching the storm from the shelter of a rear porch. The roof of the building caught fire.

Another building was struck at Milwaukee avenue and North Lincoln street. The roof also caught fire and occupants were driven to the street. A bolt tumbled the chimney at 3240 Herndon street over the cornice, smashed three windows, and set the building afire. Little damage was done by the flames.

The cornice of the La Salle street railroad station was struck. A portion of it, dislodged, crashed down on the roof of the trainshed and frightened persons in the waiting room.

Flagpoles were especial targets of the lightning. Among those hit were poles on the Chicago Telephone company's building at West Washington and North Franklin streets; the United States Marine hospital, 4x35 Clarendon avenue, and the Illinois Charitable Eye and Ear hospital, 904 West Adams street.

STORM CAUSES DISASTER AS HEAT GRIPS KANSAS.

Manhattan Buildings Overturned, One Man Killed by Lightning, and Several Prostrated.

Kansas City, Mo., July 16.—Thunder storms came on the heels of the hottest day of the year in Kansas and western Missouri and tonight most places in this section report relief from the hot wave that sent thermometers above the hundred degree mark.

Salina reported the highest temperature in the state, 105 degrees, while Topeka, with 103, and Leavenworth and Emporia each with 102 were among those setting new season records.

Several persons were overcome by the heat. T. D. Smith, living near Summitt, Kas., was killed by lightning.

Considerable damage from heavy wind was reported from several Kansas towns. Manhattan was swept by a storm that overturned small buildings, uprooted trees, and snapped off telephone poles.

Two Killed by Cyclone.

Henderson, Ky., July 16.—Two persons were killed, several others injured, and scores of buildings damaged when a cyclone struck this city late today. It is estimated the damage will reach $150,000.

WIND BLOWS MAN TO DEATH.

Dixon, Ill., Factory Foreman Swept from Roof of County Judge's Residence.

Dixon, Ill., July 16.—[Special.]—George Boileau, foreman of the John Hoffman Furnace company, was killed today when he was blown from the roof of County Judge Scott's residence during a windstorm. He struck on his head on a cement walk. His widow will receive $6,500 from accident insurance companies under the new state compensation law.

REYNOLDS HEADS CHICAGO BOARD

Bankers of Class A, Group 1, Elect Him as Reserve Director.

WILSON TO COME HERE.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special.]—George M. Reynolds of Chicago has been elected director of the Chicago district reserve board in class A, group 1. This means that Mr. Reynolds has been elected by the banks in the Chicago district which have a combined capital and surplus exceeding $120,000.

The treasury department tonight gave out a list of those directors who have received a majority of the ballots cast so far, insuring their election. Although the balloting will continue for practically one week more, Mr. Reynolds has already received the votes of 90 per cent of the banks entitled to vote in the Chicago district. The other candidates, however, for the class A, group 2 and group 3 directors, and all of the class B directors, are running a close race.

Chances Favor J. B. Forgan.

J. B. Forgan of Chicago and E. L. Johnson of Waterloo, Ia., are running neck and neck for the group 2 honor, with the chances favoring Mr. Forgan. Mr. Johnson also has a great many votes for group 3 and in this class is leading Stoughton A. Fletcher of Indianapolis by a narrow margin.

In the Class B contest R. D. Clarke, a Peoria distiller, and Henry B. Joy, a Detroit automobile manufacturer, are fighting it out for first place in group 1.

There is a close three cornered battle in group 2 between M. B. Hutchinson of Ottumwa, Ia., Robert Bracken of Frankfort, Ind., and William Butterworth of Moline, Ill., with Hutchinson leading. August H. Vogel of Milwaukee is leading the field in the group 3 contest.

Nineteen of the seventy-two directors to be elected have been chosen thus far. In the Richmond, Va., district, all of both Class A and Class B have been elected.

Directors Already Chosen.

Among those who have been chosen are:

District No. 1—Boston. Class A, group 1—Thomas P. Beal, Boston.

District No. 10—Kansas City. Class A, group 1—Gordon Jones, Denver. Class B, group 1—M. L. McClure, Kansas City.

The full plans of the board probably will be announced at the conference to be held in Chicago Sept. 1 to 4. The regulations either will be formulated at that conference or presented to the bankers and business men there.

Wilson to Come to Chicago.

Although he was too ill to keep any appointments today, President Wilson, through Secretary Tumulty, let it be known that he would accept the invitation of the Illinois Bankers' association to attend the conference. The president likely will accept the invitation of the Chicago Bar association also.

U.S. IN PERIL! NOBLES CAUSE

Bowdle Alarmed by Wedding of Heiresses to Titles.

WOULD PUT ON HEAVY TAX

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special.]—Representative Stanley Bowdle of Ohio, who abhors titles, made public a statement today in support of his bill proposing that a tax of 25 per cent be levied on the incomes of all persons who marry titled foreigners.

At the same time Mr. Bowdle gave out a list of twenty American women who have married into the nobility, all of whom derive large incomes from property in the United States.

"Several years ago it was suggested that we tax inheritances in this country," Mr. Bowdle said. "A shout went up of 'Demagogue,' but today in most of our states a man's descendants can't succeed to a modest inheritance without paying the state.

"However, we have hundreds of millions removed permanently from America by a lot of shiftless lords, dukes, etc., who enjoy it while they live and then hand it on to a progeny that has nothing but contempt for democratic institutions. They get this from American soil without one penny of tax.

Nobles Get Untold Millions.

Here is a brief list of American women of wealth who have carried off untold millions made by American men and given it to those who toil not and spin not. Under ancient feudalism the overlord at least lived in the center of his estates and knew his tenants. America will shortly be an assemblage of industrial feudal estates whose owners live 3,000 miles away.

"This situation constitutes a distinct peril to the republic. Within four years this peril will be recognized by both political parties. In advance of a taxing law fathers of wealth who still preserve their self-respect for American institutions should see to it that their wills are arranged to stop this evil."

List of Heiresses.

The list follows:

ANNA GOULD, Comtesse Boni de Castellane and later Princess de Sagan.
VIVIAN GOULD, Lady Decies.
MISS THAW, Countess of Yarmouth.
LAURA STALLO, Princess Murat.
HELENE STALLO, Princess Rospigliosi.
HELENE ZIMMERMAN, Duchess of Manchester.
MRS. STETSON, Duchess of Braganza.
EVA MACKAY, Princess Colonno Stigliano.
MISS CHAPIN, Countess Villard Villars.
MISS SAMPSON, Marquise de Talleyrand-Perigord.
ELLA HAGGIN, Countess Festetics.
MISS WHEELER, Countess Maximilian Pappenheim.
CONSUELO VANDERBILT, Duchess of Marlborough.
MISS VANDERBILT, Princess Sievick.
MISS LEITER, Lady Suffolk.
WINNARET SINGER, Princess Polignac.
ALICE HEINE, Princess of Monaco.
ANNE REID, Lady Arthur Aylmer.
MARY BINNEY, Princess Paola Camporeale.

Successor of Longworth.

Representative Bowdle is a Democrat. He succeeded "Nick" Longworth in the house. Just where Mr. Bowdle imbibed his prejudice against the nobility his friends are at a loss to explain. They do not think that he entertains any prejudice on this account against Mr. Longworth, whose sister is the Comtesse de Chambrun.

THE LAKE.

Deaths from drowning in a season in and about Chicago do not reach an alarming percentage of the thousands who bathe in the lake, but they make a lamentable and tragic record. Nearly all were avoidable. Nearly all take away young men and young women, boys and girls, in the flush and promise of youth and the tragedy of the failure of these young people to return living to the homes they had but recently gone from laughing is not mitigated by the fact that very few of the many thousands who bathe daily in the lake die in it.

The dangers of the beaches are not always revealed to the most skillful and cautious swimmers. They easily catch the unobservant or the uninformed and words of caution ought to be pressed upon all who are inclined to go carelessly into the surf and take their chances with undertow and currents.

For years the city has been urged to make use of its lake shore advantages. The efforts to open up beaches have been persistent and slowly successful. Stretch after stretch has been put at the disposal of the people and ways of getting to the lake from interior parts of the city have been bettered. This has all been in the direction of wholesome use of a great natural advantage.

Now there must be a supplemental effort to teach people to use the lake wisely, to protect them from hazards that are avoidable, from the dangers hidden under a smooth and unthreatening surface.

Caution is the word for the bathers.

MORE REGULATION.

Some of our aldermanic pilgrims have been looking into other buildings than railway terminals. They are reported to have been impressed by a saloon regulation in Boston which forbids a bartender to drink with the men he serves. Something else has revived in their minds the notion that it would be helpful to temperance to prohibit treating and make each drinker pay for his own drinks.

Thus early it is evident that we shall get information relating to at least one other subject than railway terminals when the pilgrims return from abroad. If the acquiring of it does the pilgrims no more harm than the getting of it will do us good there'll be no great damage done.

There used to be—may be now—a regulation in Philadelphia which made it unlawful for a saloon to sell more than two bottles of beer to be taken away from the saloon to one person at one time. If the person wanted a half dozen bottles wrapped up he either found two other men to make a pretense of purchase or having purchased two bottles, he stepped outside, reëntered, purchased two more, etc., etc., until he had the number he wished to buy.

Regulation can go crazy. When it does, the reaction generally hurts sane regulation. The question with regard to saloons is whether they should exist or not. When a majority of the people say they do not want them they will be closed. So long as they exist they are to be governed by well considered laws which ought to be enforced, and to do this it is not necessary to specify what color of necktie a man entering a saloon shall wear or how he shall part his hair.

A SENATOR'S QUESTION.

Last year congress aided the celebration of the centenary of the battle of Lake Erie by appropriating $250,000 for a monument on the site of that victory.

This year there is to be the centennial of a battle less popularly renowned, perhaps for rather silly literary reasons, but in fact as heroic and of political and military consequences far greater.

That was the battle of Lake Champlain, whose hero, the pious and indomitable MacDonough, by his achievement there did more to save the American cause from utter ruin than was accomplished by any other act of the war.

MacDonough's victory established completely our superiority on the inland waters, a superiority which Wellington declared was requisite to successful land operations. "If we cannot" (establish this superiority), he wrote in reply to a request that he take command, "I shall do but little good in America; and I shall go there only to prove the truth of Prevost's defense and to sign a peace which might as well be signed now."

MacDonough's victory saved us not only from defeat but probably from national disruption, for Massachusetts was on the brink of secession.

In spite of the importance of MacDonough's victory, when it was proposed in the senate the other day to appropriate $125,000 for a suitable memorial of this critical event several senators objected on the plea of economy, though not successfully, and one of them asked the following remarkable question: "Are we likely to lose the results of the victory of Lake Champlain by not erecting this monument?"

The full force of this incident will only be realized when it is added that the author of this question was the senator from a state unable to keep its own peace and lately obliged to call upon the regular army of the United States to restore order!

Mr. Thomas of Colorado does not believe in wasting money on soldiers or sailors who left us the heritage of valor and devotion upon which he and his community lately were so ready to call.

MacDonough and his men fought and won for us, and they are gone. Why not shirk the debt of honor and save our money?

It is hard to say whether it is the moral obliquity, the callous cynicism, or the political blindness expressed by such a question that stands out in sharpest relief. But the consideration of gravest concern is that in "the most august deliberative body in the world," in the chamber which has echoed with the great utterances of American patriotism, the representative of an American commonwealth should be capable of such an offense. What is serious in the incident is the fact that the offender is not merely an individual but a type, and a type which too faithfully expresses the morale of certain classes of so-called Americans.

Colorado and some other communities under the stars and stripes need a moral purge and a "revival" of Americanism.

HUERTA GOES.

The pronunciamentary literature of Mexico is enriched by Huerta's farewell address to his countrymen. The soil of Mexico is to be enriched by his departure. The first chief with a Latin soul and Saxon mind, Gen. Carranza, and the military genius of the revolution, Villa, a bandit grown reformer and a first class fighting man, may have their triumph and hear their bands play in Mexico City.

The revolution has won. Huerta has abdicated and is skipping, with a comfortable competence with which to sustain life pleasantly in foreign parts. The downtrodden 85 per cent of the Mexicans may toss up their hats and raise their voices.

Diaz yielded to one-tenth the fighting that Huerta faced, but Diaz knew he was undermined in every direction and that the revealed rebellion was a small part of the actual revolution. Huerta remained until considerations of personal safety dictated his withdrawal.

Now what? "The revolution" has been a continuing expression of Mexican life. It continued, even though held down by Diaz, because no matter how often it changed the personnel of its governing class it never changed the condition of the governed.

Madero tried to, but it was his misfortune, while alarming the great land holding class, not to give the landless class possession or promise of immediate possession. And Madero was helpless. He had no army. The regular military establishment, as he found it, was not loyal. The chief general of his own revolutionary forces was the first to turn against him and in Mexico City he did not have his own men but the enemy's.

The Constitutionalists have an army. They also have a man in Villa who, so long as he remains faithful, is entirely competent to keep the country under control and wipe out bands of irregulars and of bandits who find war more profitable than peace.

Villa is one of the people. He demands the parceling out of the great estates. His soldiers must have farms and stock. The people must have farms. Carranza need not trust Villa beyond the moment when it appears that the agrarian reform sought by the revolution is not to come of the revolution. That is the price of peace in Mexico.

The reactionaries of Mexico fight only their losing battles in the field. They win after the fighting is over. The peon finds his condition unimproved. A new leader comes and a new revolution starts.

Zapata did not accept Madero. He may not accept the Constitutionalists. That is a danger to the reëstablishment of peace.

The difficulties are apparent, but Mexico now has its chance. A government can be established which will be supported by the recognition and good will of the United States. The sympathies of President Wilson have been wholly with the revolutionaries and their cause. Another failure in government, in the preservation of peace and the maintenance of order will force the intervention of the United States.

If the only group of men in Mexico in whom the United States government has any confidence fails to set the Mexican republic right, the confession of inability will be complete.

The way is cleared for the experiment which Mr. Wilson believes will be successful. The humanity of his policy is apparent. Its wisdom is to be demonstrated.

A DISCREET DIPLOMAT.

We do not believe that one of Mr. Bryan's diplomats, Mr. Pleasant A. Stovall of Georgia, minister to Switzerland, was unaware of the fact that there is no Swiss navy. The senators in Washington who are laughing at Mr. Stovall have him wrong. It may be true, as they say, that he presented the Swiss government with an invitation to participate in the naval display of the Panama exposition. But what of it?

It was Jefferson's theory that it was not only possible but highly desirable to have a navy without ships, and Mr. Stovall is a Jeffersonian. That theory has prevailed at various times in the United States and Mr. Stovall was not warranted in assuming with undue haste that it was not much thought of in Switzerland.

Furthermore there was a matter of delicacy that no courteous diplomat, as are all of Mr. Bryan's contributions to our foreign service, would make light of. It was not Mr. Stovall's part to assume that the Swiss had no navy. It might be a touchy point with them, a cause of gnawing national regret. To ignore Switzerland when invitations were being given to all the nations might be to direct attention to a lack of which the Swiss were bitterly conscious.

If it be not the part of a diplomat to take these little matters discreetly into account, then why is a diplomat? It was for the Swiss to say whether they had a navy or not. Mr. Stovall would just as soon assume that a guest did not have table manners. Long may Mr. Bryan's diplomats honor us abroad.

The Best Editorial of the Day.

FASTIDIOUS RAILWAY PASSENGERS.

[From the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.]

The prediction was ventured in these columns recently that, since the citizens of a northern New Jersey town had become so disgusted with dirty passenger coach windows that they held up a train and washed the panes themselves, a way would be found to make the offending company keep its property clean in future.

On Thursday the state board of public utility commissioners ordered the New York, Susquehanna and Western railroad "to clean and maintain in a reasonably cleanly condition the outside of each passenger car, including the windows thereof."

Dust had been permitted to accumulate on the coach windows in the name of economy, one company holding that there was no law or commission competent to prevent it taking steps rendered necessary or advisable by the fiscal condition of the corporation.

With the spirit of wise economy the average American has no quarrel. But when he purchases a railway ticket and enters a coach he is not prepared to find the outer world shut off by a translucent haze easily removable by brush and water. It may be the people have been so pampered by transportation luxuries that they have grown finicky. Even if that be so we imagine the company's promised appeal to a higher court will prove vain.

Golf and the Caddie Question.
[From the English Review.]

I know at least a dozen men who have ruined their careers through golf—"taken it up," you know, to the neglect of everything else. Its effects on the brain, too, are pronounced. As only a man with a wooden temperament can ever hope to excel in a game which demands mechanical precision, so the deadening effect on players is indisputable. You cannot play golf and think of other things. For the time, the mind must be a vacuum, and the deader it is, probably the better you will play. After two days of golf, a man finds his mind sodden, empty. To say that golf is good for the intelligence is absurd. It is, mentally, the most blunting form of recreation a man can indulge in.

As sport for our boys, I should say golf was the worst game possible. Being purely selfish, it discourages esprit de corps. It is not a game demanding bravery, strategy, or any of the fine qualities brought out by football, cricket, polo, or any team game necessitating team cohesion, intelligence, co-partnery, unselfishness, bravery, self-sacrifice, dash, exercise, and condition. The indispensable qualities for the golfer are self-confidence, the wooden temperament, and the faculty for machine-like precision. A man, without nerves, should play scratch golf all the time, and would, unquestionably. But temperament is the finest thing a man has. To seek to destroy it is madness. That is why artists almost invariably, creators, that is, play such indifferent golf; they cannot concentrate on mechanics sufficiently, they cannot close the mind over a mere game; they cannot acquire the state of automata, their own temperamental personalities, the creative idiosyncrasy, being stronger than the mental anaesthesia inseparable from the golfing condition. In a word, creators cannot take the game seriously enough. It doesn't matter to them sufficiently. Long before the eighteen holes are over, their minds have wandered upon other things—with disastrous consequences to their golf, though probably they have enjoyed their round as much as any one.

BELCHING.

BELCHING is a sign of hysteria, neurasthenia, or some other kind of a jimmy. Furthermore, it is a habit, and a bad one. It belongs in the class with stammering, in that one learns how to do wrong when doing right is easier.

It is true a little gas may form from decomposing food in the stomach, but the quantity will be small. A little gas may find its way from the intestines into the stomach, but the gas inflated areas of the intestines are some inches away, and the direction of flow is away from the stomach.

Practically all the gas belched is first swallowed as gas. We swallow some air when we eat hastily. We swallow gas with carbonated water, when we chew, and in many different ways. The profuse belchers, however, deliberately swallow air and then quickly belch it up.

If you will watch the Adam's apple of a person drinking water you will notice a certain characteristic swallowing motion. Now notice the Adam's apple of a belcher in action, and you will see that he first swallows the air and then belches it. Physicians demonstrate it more plainly by watching the Adam's apple with X-rays.

How is the habit acquired? A person overeats. In his distended stomach there is a good deal of air. He belches and gets relief. Recollection of this remains with him in his subconscious memory. At some later time his stomach is too tight. He can belch no gas to get relief. He swallows air and then belches it. Before he knows it he has acquired the habit.

Neurotics, neurasthenics, and hysterics are apt to get this habit, just as they are prone to get the whisky habit, or the morphine habit, or tobacco habit.

Of course, back of the habit lies some error. It may be overeating, rapid eating, irregular eating, or indigestion, slow digestion, dilation of the stomach, or mild neuralgia of the stomach.

The habit has been acquired in an effort to find relief from some discomfort. When such discomfort shows itself in a sensible person, he changes whatever is wrong. When it shows itself in a neurotic, he leaves the cause undisturbed, but takes to belching, just as another neurotic who feels off a little takes to morphine, or cocaine, or whisky.

Does any harm result? Yes; often. The belching of air siphons bile into the stomach. Bile does not belong there. Bile persistently in the stomach disturbs the digestion. The longer the belcher belches to relieve his stomach the more surely he embarrasses his stomach.

The persistent swallowing of air upsets the working of the gate into the stomach and also the gate out of the stomach. The stomach may become dilated through the persistent swallowing of air.

However, as bad as any of these is the frame of mind of the belcher. He is an "ailer." He probably regards himself as a dyspeptic. He is pretty certain to have some form of persistent stomach complaint. He gets the soda habit.

Of course, to start with, a belcher is not thoroughly well poised or he would not be a belcher. But the habit makes him more of an "ailer."

X-RAY AND CANCER.

D. A. B. writes: "What success has the medical profession had in treating cancer with the X-ray? Is it not a fact that the X-ray causes cancer and is positively dangerous for such uses? Would the X-ray have any curative effect on stomach troubles, such as inflammation, gastritis, ulceration, or on a kinked bowel due to muscle displacement or pressure? How are physicians who make such claims and secure patients by reason of such, looked upon in the medical profession?"

REPLY.

1. Very good success with skin cancer; poor success with cancers situated deep in the body.

2. Yes, X-ray causes cancer. If, by the last half of the sentence you mean is "dangerous when used to cure cancer," the answer is no. The worst that can be said is that in cancers unsuited for its use some people have used it instead of having the growth removed.

3. No.

4. No reputable physician would claim to cure gastritis, ulceration of the stomach, or kink of the bowel with X-ray.

ICEBOX DATA LACKING.

J. B. B. writes: "Please give me the address of a firm from which I can get a good refrigerator."

REPLY.

We find it difficult to answer this question. The manufacturers' catalogues give space to appearance, lining, direction of air currents, and dryness. What we want to know is thickness and character of insulation, temperature of food chamber [series of observations], and amount of ice used per week under standard conditions. We would be obliged to manufacturers for information on these points.

When we get this information from manufacturers, we shall be glad to advise you.

TO WARD OFF SUNSTROKE.

Mrs. A. B. writes: "Would you kindly tell me how to guard against sunstroke?"

REPLY.

The most important instruction is to drink no whisky, wine, or beer. Next, do not overeat. One-half the winter ration is enough for a hot day. Next, drink water early and often. To drink it often is important. Next, keep the bowels open.

REPLY TO MRS. D.

REPLY.

Yes, it is significant. You should have an examination for diabetes. It looks as though your system can dispose of so much sugar and when you eat candy you overload.

DIABETES NOT HEREDITARY.

E. K. writes: "Is diabetes hereditary? Would a boy born when his father had been suffering for a year with a malignant type of the disease be likely to inherit it?"

SIR RALPH AND LADY PAGET, who are arriving in New York on board the Aquitania from Liverpool, are no strangers on this side of the Atlantic. Sir Ralph, now assistant under secretary of state for foreign affairs in London, was formerly attached to the British embassy at Washington, while his wife, Leila, is half-American, being the daughter of Gen. Sir Arthur Paget, commander of the military forces in Ireland, whose wife is the former Minnie Stevens of New York.

Leila, Lady Paget, indeed was a particular favorite of her American grandmother, the late Mrs. Paran Stevens, owner of the Fifth Avenue hotel in New York. She spent several seasons with Mrs. Stevens in New York and was last here eleven years ago.

She is tall, graceful, with beautiful dark gray eyes, long dark eyelashes, and a brilliant complexion.

Her husband, who is likewise her cousin, was minister to Siam when he married her, and the early portion of their married life was spent in Bangkok. Afterwards they were transferred to Munich, and from there to Belgrade.

Leila, Lady Paget, is a gifted woman who has little in common with her mother. Whereas Minnie, Lady Paget, is, to say the least, extremely worldly, ultra-fashionable, and might be described as frivolous, were it not for much shrewd method in her frivolity, her daughter, Leila, is serious, quiet, an artist, indifferent to society, and devoted to good works.

While at Belgrade, where her husband was stationed as minister plenipotentiary, she founded and presided over a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals with branches in all the other cities and towns of the kingdom, a society which she has left in a flourishing condition.

Moreover, throughout the war in the Balkans she worked day and night in the hospitals, nursing the sick and wounded with the utmost courage and devotion and relieving the suffering, until her health became seriously affected.

Whereas her mother, Minnie, Lady Paget, does not enjoy to any marked extent the good will of King George and Queen Mary, nor yet of Queen Alexandra, Leila and her husband, Sir Ralph, are favorites of all three, especially of the queen mother.

Queen Alexandra can never forget that it was to Sir Ralph's father and mother, the late Sir Augustus Paget, and his German wife, Walpurga, Countess of Hohenthal, that she was mainly indebted for her selection as the bride of Edward VII.

Leila Paget and her husband are welcome guests at Sandringham, where Gen. Sir Arthur Paget and his eldest son have often been asked; but Minnie, Lady Paget, has not been included in these invitations to Sandringham, not even during the lifetime of King Edward, who used often to dine with her in London, en garçon.

Leila, Lady Paget, has her own circle in London, her friends being entirely distinct from those of her mother. She is fond of her mother-in-law, Walpurga, Lady Paget, who is at daggers drawn with Minnie, Lady Paget.

Walpurga, Lady Paget, is a Christian Scientist, a vegetarian, an artist, a poet, and an author; was maid of honor to Empress Frederick prior to her marriage, and while English ambassadress in Italy befriended "Ouida," in several of whose novels she is portrayed in the most kindly colors.

Not long ago she published a most charming volume of reminiscences, entitled "Scenes and Memories," which by their gentle tact, kindly good will, simple directness, and undemonstrative sincerity, form the model of what the reminiscences of those who have lived at courts and in the atmosphere of state secrets should be.

The story which she tells of how Queen Alexandra was selected as bride for Edward VII. is worthy of being given here.

While she was still in the service of Empress Frederick, the latter, then crown princess, had been quietly asked by her parents, Queen Victoria and the prince consort, to ascertain if there were any German princesses of a marriageable age who would make a suitable match for the then Prince of Wales. The princess and her maid of honor failed in their search.

The maid of honor happened to mention the matter in confidence to her fiancé, Augustus Paget, on the occasion of his visit to Berlin from Copenhagen, where he was then secretary of legation. He at once exclaimed: "I know the prettiest, the nicest, and the most charming princess. She is Princess Alix, eldest daughter of Prince Christian, the future king of Denmark. She is a little over 16 and as good as she is pretty."

A day or two later the maid of honor happened to be seated at dinner by the prince consort, and she whispered the name of Princess Alix into his ear.

He at once repeated the whisper to Queen Victoria, and the preliminaries were speedily adjusted. When Queen Victoria met Princess Alix, her delight was immediately evident to all, and the tact and wisdom of Augustus Paget, afterwards Sir Augustus Paget and ambassador at Rome, were abundantly justified.

Sir Arthur Herbert, on the other hand, who has arrived with his American wife on board the Laconia and is now at Newport, R. I., where he will spend the summer with Lady Herbert's relatives, no longer basks in the sunshine of royalty, and on being transferred three years ago from the post of minister plenipotentiary at Christiania to Mexico, a mission in every sense less desirable, resigned in anger from the service.

Christiania is what is known in the English diplomatic service as one of the family missions, owing to the fact that the Queen of Norway is the favorite sister of King George, as she was the favorite daughter of Edward VII.

There is every reason to believe that the transfer of Sir Arthur and of his American wife, who was Miss Helen Gammell [one of the daughters and heiresses of William Gammell of Rhode Island] from Norway to Mexico was due to some personal misunderstanding with King Haakon and Queen Maud.

Sir Arthur Herbert is no relation to Sir Michael Herbert, who died while holding the office of British ambassador to the United States, and whose widow is a sister of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Mrs. Ogden Goelet of New York.

He belongs to the ancient house of the Herberts of Colebrook park in Monmouthshire and is descended from that Lord Herbert of Cherbury who was such a prominent figure at the court of Queen Elizabeth and her recognized favorite when she was in the neighborhood of 70.

Colebrook park was out of the family for about a couple of centuries, when Sir Arthur, after his marriage to the rich Miss Gammell, was able by means of her American dollars to repurchase it from the Hanbury Williams family, to whom it then belonged.

FIXING GRADE OF SOUTH CHICAGO AVENUE.

Chicago, July 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—What is causing seeming delay in establishing the grade of South Chicago avenue from Ninety-third street to Baltimore avenue?

GEORGE W. KOHLER.
9236 Commercial avenue.

The grades on South Chicago avenue were established years ago. Then the Ninety-fifth street track elevation and subway ordinance, when passed, provided for a change of grades on South Chicago avenue from Baltimore avenue up to Ninety-third street. But this change of grades so provided for was not satisfactory to all of the property owners along the street, and this division was asked to make a certain change in the grade between Baltimore avenue and Ninety-third street. The parties making this request were told that in order for this division to act it should have a petition signed by all the property owners in that block.

That petition was promised, but has not yet appeared. When it is received this division will make the desired change in grades. If no petition appears, work can be done at any time desired on the grades as now established by the subway ordinance. W. H. HEDGES, Bench and Street Grade Engineer.

NEIGHBORS WERE MISTAKEN.

Chicago, July 14.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I have purchased a home at 223 North Menard avenue and before the purchase was made was assured by real estate men that West End avenue would be paved this summer. Since moving into the house the neighbors tell me that the street has been unpaved since world's fair year, and they know of no assessment for paving the street.

ALICE M. MACKAY.

Bids were opened July 1, 1914, for paving with asphalt West End avenue, between North Austin and North Menard avenues. The contract will be awarded soon, and the improvement made during the summer.

BOILERS INSPECTED EVERY THREE YEARS.

Chicago, July 7.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Sept. 12, 1911, the city of Chicago inspected the low pressure boiler in my six flat building and collected $3, and June 19, 1914, they came around again and inspected it and want to collect another $3. Please let me know if I have to pay this again, or if I only have to pay it the first time.

A DAILY READER.

The ordinance regulating the operation and inspection of boilers provides that every low pressure boiler in operation shall be inspected once every three years and a fee of $3 collected for each inspection. EDWARD COHEN,

DENIAL FROM SEWER BUREAU.

Chicago, July 8.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Why does the health department allow the bureau of sewers to dump the cleaning out of the sewers on South Winchester avenue, from Thirty-fifth to Thirty-eighth street, on the street? The smell from this dirt is very bad, and, besides, it is no place for it.

T. A. WRYK,
3806 South Winchester avenue.

Mr. Wryk is mistaken when he says that the bureau of sewers dumped the dirt taken from the Winchester avenue sewer on the street. This is never permitted. In blocks like these mentioned, where the street is unimproved and the abutting land unoccupied, the only kind of dirt to reach our basins is the mud washed in from the street. In this case the mud was removed from the basins and spread on the street where it would do the most good.

If Mr. Wryk will kindly reëxamine Winchester avenue at the point he complains of he will find that the dirt taken from the basins is not offensive. He will also find that considerable manure has been dumped there by private parties. This is the real cause of his complaint, but he falls into the usual error of blaming it on the bureau of sewers.

GEORGE E. McGRATH,
Acting Superintendent of Sewers.

HOW TO BE NATURALIZED.

Chicago, July 12.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I am a young lady who came to this city from Canada about a year ago and I am anxious to become a citizen of the United States. Kindly inform me where I may apply for my naturalization papers. G. R.

The writer of this inquiry should appear before the clerk of either the United States District court, room 600 Federal building; Circuit court, room 412 County building, or Superior court, room 437 County building, and file a declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States. After the alien has resided in the United States for a period of five years and after at least two years have expired from the date of the declaration of intention she may file a petition for naturalization or final papers.

WAITING FOR GROUND TO SETTLE.

Chicago, July 12.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Kindly tell us when they expect to pave Laramie avenue between West End and Madison street.

ANNA CORCORAN.

The paving was delayed on account of a new sewer. This sewer was finished about six weeks ago, but the street railway company will not put tracks over the sewer until it has had time to settle. As soon as the tracks have been rehabilitated we will be ready to go ahead with the paving work.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

SI-KO'S WONDER CHILD.

Chicago, July 16.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The wonder child, Howard R. Brintlinger, selected by Si-ko out of many thousands, will become what his environment makes him—his future will depend upon the fields in which his mental, physical, moral, and social faculties become exercised.

It will depend entirely upon the kinds of mental and physical exercise Howard gets whether he amounts to anything at all or not. Under certain kinds of environment, being spoiled and made self-conscious by newspaper notoriety at his early age, he may become merely a baseball fan, a cigaret fiend, a cocktail king, or a plain snob. Under varying environments this fine boy might become a silversmith, an orator, a train robber, a conscienceless grasping millionaire, a labor agitator, or even a mere hanger-on, while other people are doing things.

There are no doubt a hundred thousand boys and girls in the United States at this moment who have the capacity, if brought under the right kind of training and environment to develop them, to become as great thinkers as Franklin, Spencer, or Newton, but those who "go to school," who are trained in the conventional rut system of education cannot become great. Children who stand high in their classes and seem to have wonderful qualifications frequently turn out to be low salaried school teachers, book worms without earning power, bookkeepers for uneducated business men, private secretaries, etc., the routine of their school work having so absorbed, obsessed, and narrowed their vision as to make their minds unfit for the broad view of life to make a wonderful adult instead of a "wonder child." PARKER H. SERCOMBE.

THAT HOME RULE SALUTE.

Chicago, July 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—To express sympathy for Irish home rule a great demonstration was held in a local park yesterday, at which it is reported that the Irish flag was raised and given a salute of twenty-one guns.

The writer has not yet known of a precedent for such an act in which a foreign emblem has been given public acknowledgment by a regulation salute on American soil, excepting perhaps upon a legitimate demand; therefore, it appears to be an arrogant breach of the ethics of patriotism, bordering on a treasonable offense. LOUIS STEPHENS.

COST OF WATER METERS.

Chicago, July 14.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I have read with a good deal of interest the letters in your columns regarding Mayor Harrison's proposal to install water meters in Chicago to stop the big waste of water. I have seen no figures in any of your news items or letters showing the cost of putting in these meters. The landlord I rented from in Detroit had a meter put in to measure city water for a two family house and he told me it cost him nearly $40 to have this work done.

Here in Chicago we have nearly 300,000 water users and if we figured the cost of putting in a meter in each one of these places at $40 each it would mean an expense of $12,000,000, which the taxpayers would have to pay, besides the cost of reading and maintaining all of these meters. We all know there is much city water that is "criminally" wasted, but surely there must be a better way of stopping this waste than to load the taxpayers with such an enormous expense.

FLIES IN PULLMAN CARS.

Chicago, July 15.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your paper is doing excellent work in war against the mosquito and the fly. Why don't you get after the Pullman sleeping cars on the railroads and depots? They are just full of flies, and there is no excuse for it. If the porters were furnished with a good fly swatter and instructed to kill every fly in their sleeper, and if the agents were furnished with fly poison or fly papers to put around in the depots, and even the day passenger cars should be supplied with fly paper and fly poison, it would make it delightfully more pleasant and safer for patrons of the road and would be highly appreciated.

Here is a chance for you to make war on territory that you have not yet touched. Go after it. In a trip to Buffalo last week I killed twenty-seven flies in less than one hour with a paper, sitting in a Pullman car, and you know paper is a very poor swatter. J. E. KEENE.

NEW TRUST BILL MADE READY FOR SENATE ACTION

CHICAGOANS REBUFFED

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special.]—Important changes appear in the Clayton anti-trust bill, the revision of which was completed tonight by the senate judiciary committee.

The final draft of the measure discloses that the Democratic majority of the committee has adopted only a part of the suggestions made by the delegation from the Chicago Association of Commerce to President Wilson.

The Chicago business men proposed that the definitions of specific acts of restraint of trade in the first four sections of the bill be eliminated and the suppression of such practices be left to the trade commission. The committee has eliminated only one of these provisions, that relating to refusal to sell coal, gas, and electricity.

May Accept Chicagoans' Ideas.

President Wilson indorsed the suggestions of the Chicago men and it is assumed that, in spite of the refusal of the senate committee, the change will be made, either in the senate or in the conference committee, which will give final shape to the bills.

The only concession the committee made to the Chicago idea was to provide that the offenses specified shall be passed upon by the trade commission. If the body finds that the practices complained of are in violation of the anti-trust law, it shall prohibit their continuance, and is authorized to enforce its orders in the respect by injunction proceedings in the district courts.

The Chicago men asked that a commission decision finding no violation be embodied in the form of an order which would count for as much as an adverse order in any subsequent anti-trust prosecution. The committee refused to include this provision.

Changes Made by Committee.

Section 2, prohibiting price discriminations, was modified so that it applies only to definite efforts to create monopoly.

Section 7, relating to the exemption of labor and farmers' organizations, was modified by the elimination of fraternal and consumers' associations and by the provision that the members should not be restrained from "lawfully" carrying out their purposes. The provision regarding railroad rate pooling was eliminated.

The Democrats contend that the section as it stands merely legalizes the existence of labor unions, but does not prevent them from being prosecuted for any acts committed in violation of the anti-trust laws.

In the section limiting the issuance of injunctions in labor disputes the most important change is elimination of the provision which authorized, according to its critics, the invasion of premises by strikers.

Brandegee Attacks Bills.

Senator Brandegee of Connecticut raked the trust bills fore and aft in the senate this afternoon. He said that Senator Newlands was determined to pass a bill carrying the title "Federal Trade Commission bill," and that the senator cared little what was in the bill if he could pass a bill with that title.

Senator Gallinger added to the discomfort of Senator Newlands by reading an extract from a letter written by Senator Hollis, who claimed that Representative Stephenson of New Hampshire was the author of the federal trade commission bill. Senator Newlands blushed furiously and suggested that Congressman Stephens was the author of "section 5" of the bill, which contains the words "unfair competition" which have excited much controversy in the senate.

Newlands Target of Attack.

Senator Sterling and Senator McCumber attacked the bill. But it remained for Senator Brandegee to dissect it mercilessly.

"The truth of it," said Senator Brandegee, "the senator from Nevada is wandering in a fog of optimism and charity in this matter. He has not landed anywhere on his feet."

"The truth of it," said Senator Brandegee, "the senator from Nevada is living in a fog of optimism and charity in this matter. He has not landed anywhere on his feet.

"The country knows absolutely nothing about what he proposes to give them. The people think it is a sort of anodyne of soporific and oleaginous substances which will be a poultice to its shattered nerves, when really it is nothing but a scourge and a dose of cayenne pepper to irritate and drive them to distraction.

Sees Jolt for Business.

"If these poor, misguided uplifters and business men, who delight to come down here and attend a function at the White House and then go away and give an interview about how prosperous their business is in consideration of the free lunch to which they have been treated understood in the faintest degree what sort of a dose is going to be administered to them, they would subside.

"If they understood that at any time they uttered some remark as to politics or business which savored of lese majeste under the provisions of this federal trade commission bill, the next day they might be visited by a little snooper or spotter from Washington, who would pull out his union card and demand the combination o. their safe and all their documents and books and papers and contracts and affiliations with other corporations and individuals, they would change both their political and humanitarian sentiments very quickly.

Urge Fight Against Bill.

"If they understood what this dose of health to the poor business man was to be, they would see that their only salvation is to nip this sort of legislation in the bud, to brand it as "undemocratic and un-American, and tyrannical, and they would, instead of trying to get this bill amended here and there, scotch this snake right at its birth.

"The American people know that business will not tolerate such things in the country as a commission to be continually snooping around charged with nothing but power to make an infinite and unregulated series of don'ts. If this commission is fit to decide what is an unfair method of competition, it is certainly fit to decide what is a fair method of competition, and it has got to decide what is fair before it can decide what is unfair.

Demands Justice for Business.

"If upon their inquisition, based possibly upon an anonymous letter or the complaint of a competitor, they find that the practice is fair, and upon a complete showdown they find the party who is dragged down here to defend what he has heretofore considered to be lawful competition in business—if they find that he has engaged in no unfair practice, then the man ought to be allowed to proceed in it with confidence and not be subject, as he would be under this bill, to a suit by the department of justice brought about by the investigations of another series or snoopers, and spotters, and government spies."

Senator Brandegee charged that the legislation is half baked and that members of the cabinet, committees, individual senators, the newspapers, and even the president himself are not agreed as to what the legislation means.

Revised Provisions of New Trust Measure.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 16.—[Special.]—The Clayton bill, supplementing the Sherman anti-trust law, as revised by the senate committee on the judiciary, is ready for consideration by the senate. The provisions of the measure as approved by the committee tonight follow:

Section 1. The anti-trust laws include the Sherman act and provisions of the Wilson tariff act of 1894 as amended by the act of Feb. 12, 1913. "Commerce" means interstate and foreign trade, but "nothing in this act shall apply to the Philippine islands."

Section 2. "It shall be unlawful for any person engaged in commerce either directly or indirectly to discriminate in price between different purchasers of commodities" sold for use, consumption, or resale, "with the purpose or intent thereby to destroy or wrongfully injure the business of a competitor of either such purchaser or seller.

"Provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent discrimination in price between purchasers of commodities on account of differences in the grade, quality, or quantity of the commodity sold, or that makes only due allowances for differences in the cost of selling or transportation, or discrimination in price in the same or different communities made in good faith to meet competition and not intended to create monopoly, and,

"Provided, further, that nothing herein contained shall prevent persons engaged in selling goods, wares, or merchandise in commerce from selecting their own customers in bona fide transactions and not in restraint of trade."

Section 3. House provision, prohibiting producer of coal, gas, or electricity from refusing to sell to responsible purchasers, entirely stricken out.

Section 4. No person shall lease or sell patented or unpatented commodities "for use, consumption, or resale," or give favors as to price "on the condition, agreement, or understanding that the lessee or purchaser thereof shall not use or deal" in the commodities "of a competitor or competitors of the lessor or seller."

Section 5. Any person whose business is injured by offenders against the anti-trust laws may recover threefold damages, costs, and reasonable attorney's fees "in the district in which the defendant resides or is found or has an agent."

Section 6. A final judgment or decree in a government trust suit shall be prima facie evidence against the defendant in any suit brought by any other party "as to all matters respecting which said judgment or decree would be an estoppel as between the parties thereto." The statute of limitations shall be six instead of three years in future cases.

Section 7. The anti-trust laws shall not forbid "the existence and operation of labor, agricultural, or horticultural organizations" or their members "from lawfully carrying out the legitimate objects thereof; nor shall such organizations or the members thereof be held or construed to be illegal combinations or conspiracies in restraint of trade, under the anti-trust laws."

Section 8. No commercial corporation shall acquire an interest in another commercial corporation if the effect is to "substantially lessen" competition. Holding companies which operate to lessen competition are prohibited. But the purchase of stock for investment and the formation of subsidiary corporations are permissible when competition is not lessened.

The law shall not be construed to prohibit a railroad from acquiring or aiding in the construction of a branch or short line with which it does not compete substantially, but "nothing contained in this section shall be held to affect or impair any right heretofore legally acquired; provided that nothing herein shall be held or construed to authorize or make lawful anything prohibited and made illegal by the anti-trust laws."

Section 9. No railroad officer or purchasing agent shall have any interest in any concern dealing in rail securities or supplies to the amount of $50,000 or more a year unless purchases are made by competitive bidding under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission. Violations shall be reported by the commission to the attorney general and corporation officers responsible for the offenses shall be fined not exceeding $25,000 or imprisoned not exceeding two years.

No person shall be a director of two or more commercial corporations, having capital, surplus, and undivided profits aggregating more than $1,000,000, if they are or have been competitors or if an elimination of competition by agreement would violate the anti-trust laws. A person eligible as an interlocking director or under these terms may serve one year even if changing conditions make him ineligible for reëlection.

Compliance with the provisions of sections 2, 4, 8, and 9 shall be enforced by the interstate commerce commission and the federal trade commission. The commission shall investigate offenses and, after a hearing upon thirty days' notice, if it shall decide the law is being violated, it shall issue an order that the concern desist within a stated time. This order is enforceable by injunction process in the district courts.

Section 10. Any proceeding under the anti-trust laws may be brought against a corporation in the judicial district of which it is an inhabitant or wherein it "transacts any business" and the process may be served wherever the corporation is found.

Section 11. Subpœnas for witnesses in an anti-trust suit in one district may run into any other district.

Section 12. Violation of the anti-trust laws by a corporation shall be "deemed to be also that of the individual directors, officers, or agents" responsible for the offenses and the guilty persons shall be fined not exceeding $5,000 or imprisoned not exceeding one year or both.

Section 14. Any person may obtain injunctive relief from threatened damage by violation of the anti-trust laws.

Section 15. No preliminary injunction shall be issued without notice to the opposite party and no temporary restraining order shall be issued without notice unless irreparable damage from delay be shown by affidavit. Such restraining order shall expire within ten days unless extended for cause. A hearing shall be given without delay.

Section 16. No restraining order or interlocutory injunction shall issue except upon the giving of security by the applicant.

Section 17. Injunctions and restraining orders shall be binding upon the parties and all associated with them.

Section 18. No injunctions shall issue in labor disputes unless to prevent irreparable injury to property or a property right "for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law." No such order shall prohibit strikes, lockouts, peaceful picketing, boycotting, strike benefits, or peaceful assemblage and these acts shall not be considered violations of the anti-trust laws.

Section 19. Any person disobeying a court order so as to violate a federal or state criminal statute shall be prosecuted for contempt.

Section 20. Any person charged with contempt may be tried by jury upon demand.

Section 21. Contempt cases may be appealed and the defendant admitted to bail.

Section 22. These provisions shall not apply to contempts committed in the presence of the court or so near thereto as to obstruct the administration of justice.

Section 23. Contempt proceedings are outlawed after one year.

G. O. P. STATE CONVENTION TO MAKE NATIONAL NOISE.

Orators Who Have Presidential Designs Will Be Asked to Aid in Making Meeting a Roundup.

Politics of national dimensions will figure as the main chance of the Republican state convention at Peoria, Sept. 18. Plans are in the making, it is understood, which, if carried out, will transform a perfunctory post-primary convention into the first big noise of the 1916 campaign.

Preliminary plans of Republican state leaders include an invitation to several Republicans of national prominence who, the politicians estimate, will figure formidably in the tryouts for the Republican presidential nomination two years away.

August Einfeldt, president of Oak Park village, drove up to the police station yesterday just as the desk sergeant received a telephone call that a mad dog was loose in a yard at 1012 South Grove avenue. The patrol wagon being out at the time, the mayor took a shotgun, drove to that address, and killed the dog.

STRINGER BEGINS 'REAL' CAMPAIGN

Tripartite Foe of Roger Sullivan Meets His Lieutenants in Chicago.

START ORGANIZATION.

Lawrence B. Stringer's "real" campaign against Roger C. Sullivan for the Democratic nomination for United States senator was started yesterday at a round-up of Stringer men held at the Great Northern hotel, at which Mr. Stringer announced that he will be a candidate, based upon the tripartite declaration issued Wednesday by Gov. Dunne, Mayor Harrison, and Senator Lewis in his behalf.

For the first time in the later history of Illinois Democratic politics there is an apparent working agreement between a Democratic United States senator, a Democratic governor, and a Democratic mayor of Chicago.

Harrison Not Represented.

Senator Lewis and Gov. Dunne were amply represented yesterday in the Stringer conference which named a preliminary committee to take charge of the organization of an active campaign committee. Mayor Harrison had no spokesman there.

State Representative Michael S. Igoe of Hyde Park was made chairman of the provisional committee. Selection of Mr. Igoe was seized upon by the politicians as indicative of County Treasurer O'Connell's hand in the pushing of the Stringer boom. Mr. Igoe, now an assistant United States district attorney, was the Dunne floor leader at Springfield in the last session of the legislature and comes from the Hyde Park legislative district in which County Treasurer O'Connell lives.

Stringer at Meeting.

Congressman Stringer was at the Great Northern conference, which was in session for five hours. To the participants Mr. Stringer said that he is prepared to make the campaign and that his petition, already prepared, will be filed within a week.

At the conference were conspicuous members of the federal and state administrations in Illinois, as appointed through the initiative of Senator Lewis and Gov. Dunne.

This Committee Named.

Subtreasurer Irving Shuman, Chicago; Naval Officer William Brown Jr., Chicago; former Judge C. N. Goodwin, Chicago; Assistant District Attorney Morgan Davies, Chicago; Assistant District Attorney Ben Epstein, Chicago; William Wham, Salem; State Food Inspector W. Scott Matthews, Carbondale; David Lansden, Cairo; Robert Stewart, Freeport; R. V. Gustin, East St. Louis; Max Prill, Centralia; George M. Le Crone, Effingham; P. A. Waller, Kewanee; State Roads Commissioner James P. Wilson, Polo; George E. Doying, Jacksonville; Internal Revenue Collector John M. Rapp, Fairfield; Assistant District Attorney Michael S. Igoe, Chicago; Robert J. Hunt, Decatur, member ex-officio. Mr. Hunt was the chairman of yesterday's conference.

Not an "Anti-Chicago" Candidate.

"I am now prepared to make this campaign," Congressman Stringer said, "without any mudslinging or any attacks upon anybody. I am not an 'anti-Chicago' candidate in that sense of the term. I believe that the Democrats of Chicago will be reasonable, at least a majority of them, and concede to the downstate the right to name one of the United States senators, and upon that premise I shall make my campaign in Chicago."

Congressman Stringer intimated that additional and important support is to be given to his cause. He was asked whether this meant an indorsement from Secretary of State Bryan, and he said that was not what he meant. Mr. Stringer does not anticipate a formal indorsement of his candidacy from President Wilson, he said.

Lieut. Gov. Barratt O'Hara and Secretary of State Harry Woods have no idea of withdrawing in behalf of Congressman Stringer, according to their Chicago friends.

Capt. O'Brien Hurt by Fall.

WOMAN RESTS AT HOSPITAL

OTHERS NEED A CHANCE.

For $4.50 One Person Can Be Maintained a Week.

Contributions for the woman who appealed for a little fresh air and rest treatment at THE TRIBUNE hospital at Algonquin are still coming in. The woman is spending a few of the best days of her life, with proper treatment, good substantial food, rest, and fresh air.

There are many others like her who need the same thing—women who have children to support, who have no opportunity to recuperate from illness but who help to make up the heavy list of county hospital repeaters, because they have never had a chance to recover from one illness before another, or the same one, overtakes them.

For $4.50 a woman can spend a week at Algonquin. Usually ten days is given for convalescence. The children are cared for at about half that amount. A visitor at the Algonquin institution would realise the good it is doing and could not fail to respond to the appeal for more money to send more women and children to the country.

G. O. P. FIGHT TO CONTROL BUSSE WARDS IS BEGUN.

Committeeships in 21st and 23d Promise Fights with Insurgents' Tickets in the Field.

The fight for control of the Republican organization in the Busse string of wards on the north side opened last night in the Twenty-first ward when the Young Men's Republican Club of Chicago held its first meeting at 61 West Delaware place.

Oscar Hebel and Frank Vogler have locked horns over the committeeship in the Twenty-first ward. Hebel is backed by Francis A. Becker, who won the state committeeship in the district the last time out and is now a candidate for reelection.

In the Twenty-third ward former Judge Axel Chytraus, carrying the Deneen banner, is opposed to Edward J. Brundage, backed by the Citizens' insurgent Republican forces.

The Young Men's club last night indorsed Becker and William F. Peters for sanitary district trustee. Other indorsements were Herbert G. Immenhausen for state senator and Charles T. Funke for state representative in the Twenty-ninth district.

Neither the Citizens' nor the Progressive county slates were completed yesterday. Harold L. Ickes, who is handling the Progressive slate, said last night that he would be ready to announce the complete list today.

Haul Man Out of Closet.

Patsy Grundy, 21 years old, of 761 South Clark street, was arrested yesterday after he had been found in a clothes closet in the home of Anthony Fiandlo, 646 South La Salle street, where he had sought shelter after Mrs. Anna Fiandlo had chased him with a shotgun.

BRYAN ATTACKS COL. ROOSEVELT

Declares in Commoner Wilson Has Outdone Him in Every Way.

DENOUNCES HIS STAND.

Lincoln, Neb., July 16.—[Special.]—In a long signed statement in the issue of the Commoner about to be published, Secretary of State Bryan vigorously attacks Col. Roosevelt for his criticisms of the administration and promises to say more when the ex-president becomes more specific on the foreign policy. He says:

"Ex-President Roosevelt has commenced his attack upon President Wilson's administration, but if his first speech is any indication of what is to come, it is an attack that need not be feared. Those who listen to him or read what he says will not overlook the fact that he has a double reason for being dissatisfied with the present administration.

Pictures Wilson as His Nemesis.

"The first reason is found in the fact that it was President Wilson's progressiveness that sealed Mr. Roosevelt's fate in the last campaign. If the Democratic convention had followed the example of the Chicago convention and nominated a reactionary, Mr. Roosevelt might have been elected, but instead of choosing a reactionary the convention made the selection from among the progressive candidates before the convention, and as a result Democracy came into power.

"The Democratic party has made good and it is now so progressive that there is neither need nor room for another progressive party. The ex-president is not quick to forgive those who have thwarted his ambitions and he has this grievance against the president.

"The second grievance is to be found in the fact that he desires to be a candidate again, and he has no chance of winning so long as the country indorses the course pursued by the Democratic administration."

"Winked at High Tariff."

Again Mr. Bryan says:

"Mr. Roosevelt was in the presidency seven and a half years, and during that time he never made any effort to reduce the tariff.

"Mr. Roosevelt's position on the tariff gives no hope of tariff reduction, or even of the maintenance of the present rates.

"On the trust question, Mr. Roosevelt's position is even weaker than on the tariff. He attacks the Democratic party because of its opposition to private monopoly. Mr. Roosevelt believes in the regulation of monopoly instead of the prevention of it. But the country has seen enough of regulation, and its most enlightened view was obtained when Mr. Roosevelt was president.

"It saw the monopolies regulate him. More trusts were formed under his administration than in any similar period and he made no effort to protect the public. And how can he be expected to regulate trusts in the future when he takes one of the most hard hearted of the monopolists as his campaign manager and offers him to the public as the embodiment of progressive principles?"

Links Him with Big Business.

As to the difference between Roosevelt and the Democrats on the trust question Mr. Bryan says:

"Much more than half of Mr. Roosevelt's campaign fund of 1904 was drawn from corporations. While these corporations were not all trusts, it is known that a great many of them were beneficiaries of legislation, and no one can doubt that they thought they were buying immunity when they contributed. And so with Mr. Roosevelt's campaign fund in 1912; it was drawn almost entirely from a few parties, and they interested parties.

Twits Him on Money Bill.

"In the Pittsburgh speech Mr. Roosevelt did not mention the most important measure for which the president stands sponsor—namely: the new currency law. It has proved a tremendous success. Mr. Roosevelt had more than seven years in which to do something on the currency question, but he had no ideas upon that subject except those borrowed from the Wall street bankers, and he did not dare to put these in the form of a law.

"When President Wilson came in he was free to take the people's side of the question and at once obtained the passage of an epoch making law. No wonder Mr. Roosevelt is silent on the subject."

T. R. COMING TO AID ROBINS

PHYSICIAN THE ONLY BAR.

State Moose Extend Plans After Getting Colonel's Letter.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt is expected to go looking for another doctor pretty soon. He sent word yesterday that he especially wanted to get into the Illinois battle this year and make it the big fight of the country in behalf of Raymond Robins for United States senator if his doctor would permit it.

Col. Roosevelt in a letter to Medill McCormick, new chairman of the Illinois state committee, among other things said:

'Robins is the one man whom I most wish to speak for in this fight."

The reference to the doctor's permit came later in the letter. This the notion of the local Moose leaders that the doctor will give his permission when the time comes or Col. Roosevelt will get a new doctor.

Chief Battlefield Here.

In any event Illinois is to be the spectacular battle ground of the country in the fight to be waged this fall by the Progressives.

Mr. McCormick will go to Oyster Bay a little later to discuss the colonel's itinerary over Illinois. They already have put pins in the map at Danville and Champaign, where reside "Uncle Joe" Cannon and former Congressman William B. McKinley.

In preparation for the big fight all along the line in this state Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana will make a three day campaign over Illinois next week. He will speak Tuesday noon at Champaign and at night at Danville.

On Wednesday he will speak at Buffalo, Harristown, and Decatur. Thursday will embrace Clinton, Bloomington, Morton and Galesburg.

Others in Party.

Besides Mr. Beveridge the party will include Medill McCormick, Representative George Fitch of Peoria, Julius Kespohl of Quincy, Rodney H. Brandon, superintendent of the vocational institute of the Loyal Order of Moose at Mooseheart, Ill.; and the local candidates along the way.

Because of the enthusiasm caused by the Roosevelt letter Moose leaders yesterday decided to extend their efforts in the legislative battle. They now propose to place two candidates in the field for legislative nominations in several districts, notably the Fourteenth, Thirty-fifth, and Forty-first. William E. Cadmus yesterday announced his candidacy for the Moose nomination for congressman at large.

CYCLIST RIDES TO DEATH.

Boy Dashes Wheel Into Heavy Sand Wagon and Loses His Life.

Frank Sweeney, 12 years old, of 9240 Brandon avenue, was killed yesterday when his bicycle collided with a sand wagon at Ninety-third street and Baltimore avenue. The driver, Joseph Dombrowski of 8230 Bond avenue, was arrested.

'C. S. W.' LETTER A MYSTERY; WHITMAN DISCLAIMS NOTE.

New York Prosecutor Denies Writing or Authorizing Attack on Barnes—Roosevelt Not Through.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Charles S. Whitman said today that he neither wrote nor authorized the "C. S. W." letter denouncing William Barnes which Col. Roosevelt made public last night under the apparent impression that it was a rough draft of a communication from the district attorney to the Nonpartisan Whitman league and intended as a bid for Progressive indorsement in the campaign for governor.

The real truth about the letter, its source and intent, therefore remains a mystery. If Mr. Whitman knows who did write it, he didn't say so.

Charles H. Duell Jr., who does know the author of the letter, was so busy practicing law today that he wouldn't say a word.

Mr. Whitman's reply to Col. Roosevelt's attack was temperate, even mild. Mr. Whitman ignored most of the things Col. Roosevelt said about him. Most of his statement was a copy of a letter which the district attorney wrote to Mr. Duell Jr. on Feb. 19, wherein he said the time was ripe for an alliance of progressive Republicans and members of the Progressive party and all other good citizens to rid the state of corrupt party control.

Mr. Whitman's reply to Col. Roosevelt says:

"As to the alleged draft of a letter written in July, which was quoted in full (Mr. Whitman here refers to the anti-Barnes letter initialled "C. S. W." which Mr. Duell sent to the colonel on July 3 or 4 through the colonel's son), I neither wrote nor authorized any such letter."

When Mr. Whitman's statement was read to Col. Roosevelt over the telephone the colonel said: "I have no comments to make tonight."

There is every reason to believe, however, that the colonel will come forward with another broadside within a day or two.

A fascinating, absorbing and instructive story—don't miss the first installments.

Gives a thrilling account of Col. Roosevelt's trip of adventure and research into the Paraguayan and Brazilian interiors, through the great tropical forests which so few white men have ever traversed. The journey up the Paraguayan river in the gunboat yacht of the president of Paraguay includes many delightful impressions of bird and animal life; a visit to a Brazilian ranch; observations of the dreaded Piranhas, the man-eating fish; the hunting of the formidable jaguar, and, when the highland wilderness of western Brazil is reached, a wonderful account of the vampire bats "that suck the blood of living creatures," of the beautiful falls of the Salto Bello, of the Parecis Indians who play football with their heads, of a wonderful colony of strange spiders, and of all sorts of bloodthirsty small creatures. Col. Roosevelt was impressed on all sides with the

"HIS STOLEN FORTUNE."
Essanay.

Frank Wentworth	Francis X. Bushman
Mrs. Holcombe	Helen Dunbar
Lola	Beverly Bayne
Attorney	Rapley Holmes
Hotel clerk	Charles Hitchcock
Hotel clerk	John Cossar

FRANK WENTWORTH, who had spent six months of blissful enjoyment of the large fortune fate had dropped on his shoulders through the will of his uncle, was rudely awakened from his luxurious lolling one morning by the receipt of a posthumous letter from the late departed one. This letter conveyed the disappointing news that the fortune was dishonestly come by, the uncle having in some fashion defrauded an old time partner by name Max Illuski. It put the matter of the restoration of the fortune to Illuski or his heirs up to Frank's honor, and concluded with love and best wishes.

This situation was a real facer for a chap who, naturally addicted to the velvet facings of life, had grown still fonder of them through a half year's indulgence. Besides that, he had gotten himself engaged to a delightful girl, Lola Holcombe, and, though he was sure she loved him, still he didn't relish offering her the exchange of pauperism for millionairism. But Frank was not a man to shirk a duty, and he took the first step towards reverting the tide of fortune to the proper channels by consulting the city directory. He found here little lumination on his path, for the volume registered twenty-five Illuskis. That flouted him with a dash of discouragement, but when Wentworth set out to do a thing, even if it was to dispose of the fortune he wished to keep, he persisted in his efforts.

He remembered that the daily papers were voluble as to the beneficial results a tiny ad in their columns was sure to bring, so he followed their lead and confided his desires for an Illuski to the "personals" of several sheets. He found the newspapers did not overestimate their "pulling power." But before he made that discovery he decided to see Lola, and called to take her and her mother for a ride in his car.

On the ride he broke the news of the temporary nature of his fortune to them, with the immediate result that Mrs. Holcombe stopped the car, got out, and dragged the reluctant Lola to the pavement. The lady insisted on a well gilded Cupid for her daughter, estimating golden tinsel of more profit than pulsing, red-blooded enthusiasm.

Back at his hotel, Frank discovered the speedy results of his advertisement. Illuskis thronged the lobby, they perched on all the chairs, they peered at all the doors and windows, they bombarded the hotel clerk. Frank achieved his room, but was summoned down to face and dismiss the mob he had accumulated. His efforts were vain. The police finally succeeded in dislodging the Illuskis from their siege, but the hotel bore their marks, for their none too gentle departure left things mussed up to the extent of $5,000 damage, which was attached to Frank's bill.

In his room there was no escape from the Illuskis, hundreds of whom had written to him instead of calling. He was swamped with letters, stunned with telephone calls, and stared at by the newspaper scareheads, for his Illuski search made "good dope" for early afternoon editions. Desperate, he decided to leave the place, and ordered three trunks to pack his possessions in. Porters soon slammed them down on his sitting room floor and left him to his packing. When the door closed on their shuffling footsteps all three trunk lids slowly rose and wrinkled visages peered out:

"I'm the only living heir, through my second cousin—" began the third trunk, when Wentworth leaped at them and snapped the covers down, imprisoning their whining voices and gimlet eyes while he summoned a porter to throw the trunks out in the alley.

Wherever he walked on the street he found himself pointed out and followed. Whatever he did he was the observed of hungry eyed individuals who frequently came forth and pressed their claims to the Illuski million. Besides all of this discomfort, he was sick over the loss of Lola. But Lola was not lost voluntarily, and one day they managed a tryst in the park—Lincoln park, to be exact—and while they sat on a bench and told each other how sorry they were a group of sharp eyed Illuskis masked their stealthy approach behind a clump of shrubbery. As an extrication aid Wentworth summoned a policeman, who dispersed the assailants and then smiled ingratiatingly:

"Sure, an' my wife was own cousin to Max Illuski's son," he remarked.

Wentworth threw up his hands in despair, then dived into his pocket for a quarter, which he transferred to the policeman's hand. "There are just 4,000,000 Illuski relatives in this town," he explained. "I'm dividing the fortune equally between them. Here's your share."

So things went with the unfortunate youth who was finding his path to honesty so beset with prickles. The worst prickle of all was Lola's mother, who was as successful in keeping Lola out of the way as Wentworth was in running into alleged Illuskis. But the end came, as ends do.

Wentworth, cooped in his room, was wondering what on earth he could do to get away, his appetite for honesty considerably sated, when his life was saved by his uncle's attorney, who broke the news that the letter was only a test, made by his uncle, to see how honest and deserving of the fortune he was. Thereupon everything turned rose color, the multifarious Illuskis faded into the background of oblivion, and Mrs. Holcombe could again see the gilding on Lola's Cupid.

It is a bright, swift little comedy, acted with a keen recognition of the value of small trifles in the finished whole. Francis X. Bushman again succeeds as an enlivening comedy companion.

Fashions Direct from Paris

Quiet Tones in Cool Weather Models.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Blue continues to be the favorite color for semi-formal hats to be worn with light suits. The attractive little hat which I have sketched has a dashing, daring air about it. It is fashioned in the high crowned 1880 style of dull blue rice straw. To give it the "late summer" look it is lined with velvet in the rich cherry shade. The tall uncurled feathers of blue are fastened with a bow of cherry colored ribbon. The effect is bizarre, but most charming.

That impels me to say a word about the bizarre in dress. Last year the rainbow was ravaged for effects. Every combination, harmony, and inharmony of color was accepted and praised by the chic Parisienne. The walks were a veritable riot of primary colors in their most vivid fabric manifestations. The more barbaric the splendor of the gown the more chic it was. This season dead white with no color relief except the blue in the hat has been the most popular of "color" combinations. What this will mean in the gowns for fall and winter no one has been able to say with authority. The models for the cooler weather are all quiet in tone. Even Poiret is not bringing forth the masterpieces of color that have made him a household synonym for the futurist in dress.

But that may be merely because just now Paris is mad about all white and the palest shades of biscuit and gray. It is a fact that it is easier to look smart individually in dull colored clothes if one if gifted by nature with charms, but it is also a fact that in the aggregate the wild, savage splashes of color against the background of everyday streets and dull colored buildings do make pictures of regal splendor.

I was talking to one of the smartest of the chic American colonistes the other day and I asked her if she had any advice to give her countrywomen. We had been jesting and I had no idea that she would answer my frivolous question. One goes to designers for advice of that sort, but scarcely to the women one meets socially. To my surprise she became serious.

"Tell them to buy two of the smartest gowns that they can afford, to wear them until they lose their chic, and then to buy another gown—but under no circumstances to invest in a season's wardrobe at the beginning of the season, for as things are now, what today is tomorrow is not fashionable."

That state of affairs has the alternative that when fashion is such a fickle jade she has little time to spend upon the judging of any particular style, and as a result almost anything can be worn with her approval.

Marion Harland's Helping Hand

By Marion Harland

Plan of Keeping House.

"YOU often beg housekeepers to tell their experiences as they do in class meetings. I have had for some time what I call a 'housekeeping plan' in my mind. Finally, I concluded to try it myself, which I have done with gratifying success. I would suggest that my fellow house mothers try it. I am making a change in it myself. That is why I am writing. I want the scheme to be generally known. Many live in houses or apartments that will furnish only one room for 'help.' The plan is this, that an elderly woman occupy the one room, get breakfast and wash the dishes, and do the responsible baking, being at home evenings, as such a person naturally would be. If the woman of the house wishes to do the remainder of the work, such could be the case. Some other woman in the vicinity could be hired to come in for washing, ironing, sweeping, care of children, etc. Let this girl get her breakfast and evening meal at home. This is a suggestion that may be useful. At least, I hope that it may.

"JULIA A. G."

I refrain from expressing my own views upon the scheme laid down before us by our intelligent and ingenious correspondent until I have heard from the fellow housemothers to whom her appeal is made. I should like to have as many opinions upon the subject as I can collect. What do our practical housewives think of the proposed innovation upon established usages? Has our writer solved the problem of American domestic service? I urgently invite a free expression of individual views.

Candied Yellow Yams.

"Every one brags on these potatoes who eats at my table—candied yellow yams (with their jackets on). Boil until half done. Peel and quarter large ones, halve smaller, and the smallest leave whole. Put one and one-half teacups of boiling water in a frying pan that will not turn them dark; add at least a quarter pound of butter; put the potatoes in with a full cup of sugar over them. Place them upon the top rack of a hot over, brown and baste them. Be sure to have a hot oven. If the sirup be not thick enough after the potatoes are of a pretty brown, boil on top of the stove until it thickens.

"MRS. H."

The foregoing attached recipe is from a member whose home is in the native haunts of the yam and its congener, the luscious sweet potato. What she says may therefore be taken without the proverbial "grain of salt." Her candied yams may seem more like the last sweet course of a family dinner than a vegetable. They are good whenever served.

Recipe for Furniture Polish.

"Will you be so kind as to send me a recipe for furniture polish? F. H. R."

One tablespoon of sweet oil, the same of turpentine, a gill of vinegar, and the white of an egg. Put into a bottle when thoroughly blended, and shake three minutes steadily. Apply with a soft cloth. Clean hardwood with soft flannel wet in spirits of turpentine, and rub afterward lightly with boiled linseed oil. Take off spots with the finest sand you can procure, mixed with sweet oil. Apply with a chamois skin, and rub afterward with clean chamois to restore the polish.

Quick Coffee Cake.

"Here is a recipe for Helen's quick coffee cake, to be served with coffee: Cream together two tablespoons of lard, three tablespoons of sugar, one egg, one cup of milk. Mix two or more cups of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, half teaspoon of salt, one cup of raisins. Add to the first mixture and beat well. Put in pan, sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar, and bake from thirty to forty minutes. Please give this recipe with my dear love to the blessed sisterhood of the Corner, to whom I owe so much of comfort and pleasure. It is a favorite recipe in our home.

"AVIS GRAY."

Such is the message written out in clear, fair characters by the beloved hand of our heroine. The new proof of convalescence will be hailed joyfully by the thousands of readers who have sympathized with her in the brave fight for life. We thank God with her and take courage for her.

Cleaning Oil Painting.

"I have a soiled old oil painting of an ancestor which I should like to clean. The paint is whole all over it, but it is dusty and smeared. It is not a valuable picture, so I don't care to send it to a professional restorer. I just want it decently clean, and I am told that soda is not good for it. "MRS. N. E. L."

Wash a ripe, raw potato clean; wipe and cut it in halves or in quarters if it be large. Rub the painting gently with the cut side and sponge off the dirt it brings up with tepid water. Dry with soft old linen by mopping. Rubbing will raise the lint and transfer it to the picture. Change the potato as it gets soiled. Finally, wipe the cleaned portrait with an old silk handkerchief. Be careful not to wet the back of the canvas.

Design for Silk Quilt.

"I am anxious to secure a design for a silk quilt, if any of your kind hearted readers has one she would let me have. I will gladly pay postage and return the same in good condition. MRS. E. G. G."

Referred to our army of patchwork makers. The pattern is to be a loan, not a gift. Yet it may well happen that there may be a spare design which the petitioner may keep "for good and all."

Rice As a Diet.

[Copyright: 1914: By Lillian Russell.]

EVER since Buddah pronounced rice the most sacred vegetable it has been cultivated and used as the chief sustenance in China, Japan, and India.

We, in this land of plenty, do not realise its value, and it needs take a medicinal quality to call attention to its virtue. When we are assured that whole nations practically live on rice—nations of hard working, strong, and healthy people—we need not fear that a diet of rice, continued for two or three weeks, will weaken us. We are a meat eating nation. Therefore a diet of vegetables or rice will change the whole system of digestion in a few days, and for the better.

Just as people need changes of climate, from heat to cold and then back again, so do they require an absolute change of diet. To benefit the skin and digestive organs and beautify the complexion, rice is the best vegetable we have. The diet should consist only of rice, boiled or steamed; bread, butter, and water. Rice has a smaller percentage of protein than almost any other food and gives the bodily organs a better change to eliminate waste in a natural manner than if highly nitrogenous foods are used.

This rice diet is used in hospitals for skin diseases and often in place of medicines. One need not have an eruption upon the body to find it necessary to take the rice diet. It can be taken just for a change. Summer is the best time to take this diet. Heat and meat do not harmonize, especially in the stomach. Therefore, a week, two, or three weeks, on a rice diet will only benefit one in every way. Men or women whose skins are inclined to roughen and break out into eruptions of the slightest kind should adopt the rice diet for three weeks faithfully.

All the rice you care for may be eaten; use plenty of butter on the rice and on the bread. Water should be the only liquid used, for the period of diet. Eat the rice with a fork. The fewer grains eaten at each mouthful the better it is digested. The secret of the successful use of rice by the Chinese and Japanese lies in the fact that they eat it by means of chopsticks, which only bring a small portion to the mouth at a time.

I have used the rice diet and have found it not only beautifying to the complexion but I have found that in three weeks' faithful adherence to the diet I have lost ten pounds of flesh. There is never a moment of discomfort during the diet; one always feels strong and well and plentifully nourished.

The effect cannot be perfect, however, if one eats any other foods during the diet. A few pieces of candy or cake, a cup or two of coffee, even a ham or chicken sandwich, interrupts the beneficial effect of the consistent diet. A few days' treatment will change the tone of the stomach and skin, but a three weeks' treatment will do wonders to health.

Remember, health and beauty require a little self-denial, especially on the food question.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

H. M. W.: I am sending you the formula for the orange flower skin food. If your hair is split at the ends it will not grow. You can either cut the ends of your hair or have them singed. If you are going to have them singed, it is much better to go to a reliable hair dresser.

W. Q.: There is nothing you can do for your hair now but allow it to turn back its natural color. Your hair, of course, will become streaked, but in time will turn one shade again. Take good care of it. Massage your scalp each night. Brush your hair carefully and shampoo it every two weeks.

JACK E.: There is nothing that will take the natural curl out of the hair. Each night before retiring rub vaseline well into your scalp. This will remedy the dry condition of your hair. Massage will also help.

Doris Blake Says

"Before Marriage He Is Her Treasure; After Marriage Her Treasury."

The Marrying Age.

I THINK there can be very little doubt that the present generation—both men and women—enter upon matrimony at a later age than did their parents.

A survey of the most limited circle of acquaintances will verify this. Of course, there are pessimists who cry down this state of affairs; but, personally, I think that folk are much better qualified to choose their lifelong partner, are far more alive to the seriousness of the step, and consequently better able to make a happy choice, when they reach man and woman's estate than when they are in the "green" age.

Our mothers were married at 20 at the latest, and the men were not much older. Many were the happy unions resulting from these early marriages, but many, too, were the bitterly disappointing partnerships that were quietly lived down.

After all, what can a girl of 17 or 18 know of matrimony? She does not even know her own mind, has not seen enough of the world to grasp the responsibilities of marriage, and has mixed in a very small circle of friends. In many cases she is just in love with love itself, and around the first man who appeals to her she weaves all manner of romantic fancies. And it is just the same with a boy of that age.

I know one girl who was engaged at 17 and married at 18 to a boy of twenty. Too quickly, alas, the romance evaporated and at 25 they find themselves faced with the awful prospect of a union from which every shred of love has vanished. And, unfairly enough—for such is the way of youth—they blame their parents for allowing them to marry so young.

The last twenty or thirty years has seen a wonderful broadening in the outlook of women, and it is they who have brought about these later marriages. Nowadays they go out into the world and work side by side with men; they can provide for themselves, and have no need to rush into marriage because their days are monotonous.

Today when a woman makes her choice she does so as one who has seriously considered the matter both for her own sake and that of the man, not as an irresponsible, ignorant girl. And it seems to me this makes happiness for both.

Childhood Sweethearts.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 16 and in love with a young man of 17. When we were younger we played together and liked each other very well. After he moved away I did not see him for some time. He is very good looking and I am not. Can you tell me how I can win his love? BROWN EYES."

Why don't you be the same good friends that you were when you were little children. You are both too young to be thinking of love. I am sure that if you show him that you are willing to be the same comrade that you were as a child he will be more than happy to resume the friendship. Do not try to win his love. Leave love for the years to come.

He Doesn't Answer.

"Dear Miss Blake: I met a boy a year ago and was keeping company with him until last January, when he went out of the city. He wrote to me twice a week, but now I haven't heard from him for a month. I wrote to him twice, but he didn't answer. I love him dearly and cannot think of forgetting him. What can I do to win him back?

"FORGOTTEN."

If the boy stopped writing to you he evidently did it purposely. You have given him as much of an opportunity to answer your letters as is necessary. You would only be belittling yourself in his eyes by writing to him again. Make up your mind that you are going to recover from your love for him. Other girls have stopped loving men who have proved unfaithful. You can, too. It will be hard at first, but as time goes on it will be more and more easy for you to stop thinking of him.

Milk Derivatives.

THERE has been great interest from the health standpoint in what are called the "milk derivatives." We first heard of the Bulgarian bacillus because of Metchinkoff's study of it as a warder off of old age. There are extremely old people in Bulgaria, and this fact is credited to the circumstance that they are drinkers of sour milk.

All the milk derivatives are in a sense sour milk. All are intestinal antiseptics. Curds and whey are an ancient dish and plain sour milk with sugar is not bad. But it is buttermilk that thousands are taking nowadays as a medicinal food, if they are not taking some of the foreign derivatives.

Buttermilk is used by people who wish to reduce, because it is milk deprived of its fat. It is used by people who want to eat too much and do it with more safety than they can if they do not take an antiseptic. Buttermilk is a remedy for gastro-intestinal troubles in infants, because the absence of fat makes it easier to digest than whole wilk and because it has a direct disinfectant action. Whey cures are used for the same sorts of troubles, no matter what the age.

Another of these milk derivatives is kephir, which is obtained by a process of lactic fermentation of cow's milk or sheep's milk by the aid of two fermenting agents. It comes from the region of the Caucasus and now is put up in tablets for household use. But an authority on the subject says that it is difficult to obtain satisfactory results with them at home. Gouraud gives the following recipe:

KEPHIR.—"Boil the milk; take off the cream; fill the bottle three-quarters; add the kephir tablet; cork the bottle tightly and put it in a warm place. It should be shaken every two hours. The amount of alcohol and of lactic acid is increased by protracted fermentation. As a rule, kephir No. 2 is employed, which has fermented for two days. Kephir of one day's standing is rather laxative and that of three days very constipating."

Koumiss is another one of these milk derivatives with the same medical uses as kephir, and youghourt is another. But less is understood about koumiss than the others, and more misstatements are made about it. It is really the alcoholic drink of the Tartars, and is made from mare's milk by a process of lacto-alcoholic fermentation.

Bright Sayings of the Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The stories may be sent in either by children or their parents. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

Little Margaret had been guilty of some childish misdemeanor. Her mother remonstrated with emphasis. Margaret began to cry. She kept sobbing continuously and prolonged. Finally mother threatened, "If you don't keep still I'll shut you up in a dark closet." "O, mamma, please don't," she wailed. "I don't feel like crying when I'm by myself." A. H. M.

My little daughter, Josephine, was 4 years old when we moved to the country to live, and she was greatly pleased at my suggestion to have a garden of her own. She worked faithfully planting and weeding, and one day, early in the spring, she ran in and announced to me triumphantly: "O, muvvy, my onions have got they little tails stickin' up."

One afternoon a guest was playing some classical selections when a 5 year old neighbor boy came in. He listened a while and then whispered to me: "Is he tuning your piano?"

MRS. J. E. SWIFT, Rossville, Ill.

Johnnie Arthur, having been rescued from a watery tumble into the brook, balanced a teaspoon on the edge of his cup of milk at lunch and said, in exact imitation of his father's voice that morning: "That's right! Fall in there if you want to." J. J. N.

Ruth's feet hurt her. She asked Hazel, an older girl, whom she was visiting:

"Have you an automobile?"

"No, we haven't," Hazel replied.

"Have you a horse and buggy or a wagon?" questioned Ruth.

Again Hazel said, "No."

"Well, have you any kind of a pulling thing to haul little girls around in?" she asked. J. M. B.

lping Hand

Put in pan, sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar, and bake from thirty to forty-five minutes. Please give this recipe with my dear love to the blessed sisterhood of the Corner, to whom I owe so much of comfort and pleasure. It is a favorite recipe in our home. "AVIS GRAY."

Such is the message written out in clear fair characters by the beloved hand of our heroine. The new proof of convalescence will be hailed joyfully by the anxious of readers who have sympathized with her in the brave fight for life. We thank God with her and take courage for her.

Cleaning Oil Painting.

"I have a soiled old oil painting of an ancestor which I should like to clean. The paint is whole all over it, but it is dusty and smeared. It is not a valuable picture, so I don't care to send it to a professional restorer. I just want it decently clean, and I am told that suds are not good for it. "MRS. N. E. L."

Wash a ripe, raw potato clean; wipe and cut it in halves or in quarters if it be large. Rub the painting gently with the cut side and sponge off the dirt it brings up with tepid water. Dry with soft old linen by mopping. Rubbing will raise the lint and transfer it to the picture. Change the potato as it gets soiled. Finally, wipe the cleaned portrait with an old silk handkerchief. Be careful not to wet the back of the canvas.

Design for Silk Quilt.

"I am anxious to secure a design for a silk quilt, if any of your kind hearted readers has one she would let me have. I will gladly pay postage and return the same in good condition. MRS. E. G. G."

Referred to our army of patchwork makers. The pattern is to be a loan, not a gift. Yet it may well happen that there may be a spare design which the petitioner may keep " for good and all."

cup or two of coffee, even a ham or chicken sandwich, interrupts the beneficial effect of the consistent diet. A five days' treatment will change the tone of the stomach and skin, but a three weeks' treatment will do wonders to health.

Remember, health and beauty require a little self-denial, especially on the food question.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

H. M. W.: I am sending you the formula for the orange flower skin food. If your hair is split at the ends it will not grow. You can either cut the ends of your hair or have them singed. If you are going to have them singed, it is much better to go to a reliable hair dresser.

W. Q.: There is nothing you can do for your hair now but allow it to turn back its natural color. Your hair, of course, will become streaked, but in time will turn one shade again. Take good care of it. Massage your scalp each night. Brush your hair carefully and shampoo it every two weeks.

JACK E.: There is nothing that will take the natural curl out of the hair. Each night before retiring rub vaseline well into your scalp. This will remedy the dry condition of your hair. Massage will also help.

The Traffic club announces that its second annual family outing will be held on Tuesday, July 28, at Dellwood park. Baseball and dancing will be the main attractions for the grownups, while the merry-go-round has been chartered for the children's use. An old fashioned country chicken dinner will be served. This outing is free to members and their immediate families.

Miss Edith Haus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Haus of 211 Woodlawn avenue, Glencoe, was married to Leonard H. Reed of Chicago last night at the residence of her parents in Glencoe.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William B. Leash, assistant pastor of the North Shore Methodist church. Theodore Haus is a member of the Glencoe village board of trustees.

French Baron Visits Chicago.

Baron de Talsne of Paris, captain of the Twenty-fourth Dragoons of the French army, and his wife arrived at the Blackstone hotel yesterday on their way to the Canadian ranch of Count Costa de Beauregard, near Calgary, Canada.

"I intend to invest in lands for a ranch either near Edmonton, Canada, or along the Peace river in the Canadian Rockies," said Baron de Talsne.

The baron said he had no special purpose in coming to Chicago. "It's just a stop-over for a few days to see the sights," he said.

"Lord Fauntleroy" to Wed.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Constance C. Buel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clough Buel of 130 East Sixty-seventh street, to Vivian Burnett, son of Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett. Vivian Burnett is the original of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," one of his mother's most popular stories.

First Big Check to Self Denial Fund.

A CHECK for $100 came to THE TRIBUNE yesterday from Mrs. George Soden, the first vice president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association, to swell the state suffrage organization's self-denial fund, which is to be turned over to the National American Woman's Suffrage association for use in the seven states where the women are campaigning for the ballot.

"Never did I write a check for any amount with more joy than the one inclosed for $100," writes Mrs. Soden. "The joy I feel in being able to cast my vote makes me want every other woman to have the same feling, so that is the reason for my joy in contributing the $100 toward the campaign of the other states for equal suffrage.

"I sincerely hope that more than the $50,000 will be raised for this worthy cause."

Many valuable suggestions also came to THE TRIBUNE yesterday for methods of raising a large sum of money by the Illinois Equal Suffrage association.

Mrs. J. Edward Wynne suggests that "women may save many dollars before Aug. 15 by getting out the stocking bag and darning all hubby's old silk hose, as well as their own and the children's. Club activities are not so pressing, and many women will find darning almost if not quite as congenial as embroidery work, and a far more economical means of employing one's time. For some women darning will mean real sacrifice and self-denial—they hate it so—so their contribution will be sacrificial in reality.

Mrs. Wynne also suggests that gloves, especially where women buy many pairs of silk and kid, are a great item of expense in the wardrobe. "The woman who buys gloves extravagantly will find that she can save many dollars by substituting chamoisette gloves for silk and kid. Soap and water are much cheaper than cleaner's bills, and the woman who has pretty hands and arms should not feel ashamed to go about the streets occasionally without gloves to cover them. In these days of informality this is entirely permissible, and it would be a good way to save for Aug. 15."

Mrs. Florence Bennett Peterson, former secretary of the state suffrage organization, believes that women should set aside a stated amount of their allowance or income each year. "When Aug. 15 comes I shall simply contribute a part of my income. All women should realize that woman's suffrage is the most important issue for womanhood today."

Mrs. Peterson has just returned from Aberdeen, S. D., where she has been campaigning for the South Dakota Woman's Suffrage association.

She states that South Dakota women had more than a fighting chance to win in their campaign for the vote.

"South Dakota's prospect for becoming a suffrage state are excellent," she said. "There is a prospect of one of the finest crops the state has yielded for years, and that means prosperity and progress. The women of South Dakota say that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE by its wholesome a hearty indorsement of suffrage and of the woman's movement has been of the greatest assistance to them.

"THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE is widely read out there, and the suffragists say that its generous attitude toward the movement has served to convince many of the voters that woman's suffrage is a real, progressive movement for better and cleaner government."

Mrs. Medill McCormick, chairman of the congressional committee of the National American Woman's Suffrage association and chairman of the special campaign fund committee recently named by that organization, announced yesterday that the suffrage shop will be located at 21 South Wabash avenue.

The shop will be opened Monday morning and Mrs. McCormick will act as hostess throughout the day. At the noon meeting leaders in the suffrage movement—both men and women—will speak on the campaigns in the seven states on the subject of woman's suffrage.

Gordon, the little 9-year-old son of Mrs. Kate Wood Ray of Gary, with his chum Albert, will devote the money they earn by selling the Saturday Evening Post to the self-denial fund. Each boy makes 50 cents a week selling his papers, and the whole $1 profit will go to the campaign states.

Tries to Take Wife from Church.

When Charles Fisher of 324 Normal parkway interrupted the evening services at the Hungarian Baptist church at 723 West One Hundred and Nineteenth street and informed the pastor, the Rev. Franz Baglogh, that he had come to take his wife home to cook his supper, the preacher locked him in the vestibule until the last prayer had been said and then had him arrested.

"My wife is crazy over religion and lives at church," Fisher told Municipal Judge Graham yesterday. "She goes to church every morning at 7 o'clock and stays all day. She went insane over religion a year ago and spent some time at the Kankakee asylum. The doctor there told her that if she went to church any more she would be back pretty soon."

The Rev. Mr. Baglogh denied that his sermons made Mrs. Fisher insane. He said a man had no right to keep his wife from church. Fisher was ordered to sign a peace bond.

Workers' Children Have Outings.

One hundred and fifty boys and girls, children of workers in the plant of the Illinois Steel company in South Chicago, were taken for an automobile outing yesterday by the Good Fellow club of the company. Many of the children never had ridden in automobiles before. The cars were loaned by officials of the company. The children first went to the Good Fellow club house, where they participated in games and contests for prizes, and then were taken for a picnic in Washington park. The storm cut short their games in the park, but what do children who are compelled to play in the sooty streets of South Chicago care for rain when they can ride in automobiles?

Children Sing While Big Storm Rages.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

THE electric storm which swept over Chicago yesterday afternoon, leaving death in its track, broke over the Desplaines camp ground at 1:30 o'clock.

The storm's approach was noted by those in charge of the children's meeting and the little ones were gathered into the main tabernacle instead of in the tent which usually shelters them.

"We weren't afraid a bit," one little girl said. "We just sang and sang and then some of us spoke pieces."

The electric lights went out three times and the children had to sing in almost complete darkness until the lights came on again, as the side walls of the tabernacle had been closed.

Mrs. Celestine Bernheim addressed the children on the theme "God Is Love," and so effective was her address that the little ones, after the manner of their elders, gathered about the altar and engaged in prayer.

The ministers held their special meeting in the Norwegian tabernacle. The storm broke as the meeting was about to begin, but it did not interfere with the discussion.

The address was by the Rev. J. P. Brushingham, pastor of the South Park Methodist church, who drew lessons from Christ's method of adapting himself to each particular need of individual men. He also pointed out that when the multitudes wanted food to eat Christ faced the condition and provided for it and did not run away from a hard problem.

"I am a standpatter in the fundamentals of religion," Dr. Brushingham said, "but a progressive in methods of application of the truth."

Dr. John Thompson, district superintendent, advocated a gospel that could reach the rich as well as the poor. "If there had been automobiles in Paul's day I am not sure but Paul would have used one in his journeys. At any rate, we ought to have the automobile consecrated to the service of religion.

The Rev. J. Frank Anderson said that the gospel was revolutionary in its character and the difficult task of the minister is to know how to preach a revolutionary gospel hemmed about by convention and tradition.

"Is it a crime to doubt?" This was the question asked by the Rev. Charles Bayard Mitchell in his sermon at night.

"To doubt at least leads to crime, for if a man thinks he cannot tell the truth he will become a liar, if he thinks that he cannot be honest he will become a thief.

"It is a crime sometimes to be faint hearted. If Dewey at Manila or Farragut at Mobile had been faint hearted it would have been treason to their country. It is treason to God to be faint hearted in his service."

Actors Seek Better Conditions.

A meeting of the Actors' Equity association was held in the Auditorium hotel yesterday afternoon and last evening.

"The object of this organization," said Francis Wilson, president of the association, "is to secure for actors and actresses, members of the organization, rights in their professions. Among what we seek are: Securing transportation from New York and to New York; a limit of the period of free rehearsals; to establish a two weeks' clause; to protect actors and actresses who shall have given more than a week's rehearsal from being discharged without compensation; to prevent extra performances without pay; to get full pay for all weeks played, and to seek an adjustment with regard to the cost of women's dresses provided for appearance in the cast.

"We are not against the manager, but instead are trying to protect and help him as well as ourselves."

There were more than 150 members of the association present. The annual meeting will be held in New York next December.

News of the Music World

Francesco Daddi to Sing at Ravinia.

BY RONALD WEBSTER.

RAVINIA authorities have announced the engagement of Francesco Daddi of the Chicago Grand Opera company as an added attraction in the six weeks of grand opera, most of it in English, to begin there July 27. Signor Daddi has been popular as an eccentric comedian in the winter seasons of opera here. Two rôles in which he will probably appear at Ravinia are the valet-de-chambre in "Tales of Hoffmann," and as the rous in the "Jewels of the Madonna."

No definite announcement of the nightly programs has been made. The repertory will include the following operas: "Jewels of the Madonna," "Mme. Butterfly," "Thais," "Carmen," "Louise," "Manon," "I Pagliacci," "Secret of Suzanne," "Lohengrin," "Mignon," "Faust," "Tales of Hoffmann," "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Aida," "Lucia di Lamermoor," "La Boheme," "La Tosca," and "Martha."

The grand opera season just opening is far more pretentious than those of previous years at Ravinia. In the past acts only from the more familiar operas have been given. It will be interesting to see how the summer crowds will take to the experiment, although the test, as the repertory shows, is not so severe as it might be made.

Max Bendix, conductor of the National Symphony orchestra at the Midway Gardens has in preparation a series of programs drawn from the words of composers of so-called "comic opera." Sullivan will be given an evening by himself. Mr. Bendix plans to combine Johann Strauss with Victor Herbert, Franz Lehar with Cellier, and Offenbach with von Suppe.

"I am not quite certain," says Mr. Bendix, "that I shall not revert to the good old Victorian custom of decorating the Sullivan program with a cornet solo of the 'Lost Chord.'"

The programs for Saturday are announced as follows:

3:15 P. M.

Overture—"Fra Diavolo"	Auber
Selection—"Tales of Hoffmann"	Offenbach
Waltz—"Vienna Life"	Strauss
Suite—"Gitanella"	Lacome
"Spring Song"	Mendelssohn
Tango	Bendix
March—"Russe"	Ganne

8:40 P. M.

"Fackeltanz"	Meyerbeer
Overture—"Maritana"	Wallace
Fantasie—"Louise"	Charpentier
Waltz—"La Plus Belle"	Waldteufel
"Scenes Neapolitaines"	Massenet
Intermission.
Overture—"Mignon"	Thomas
[a] "Spring Song"	Mendelssohn
[b] Gavotte	Gillet
Selection—"The Trumpeter of Saekingen"	Nessler
Saltarello	Gounod
March—"El Capitan"	Sousa

$5,000,000 for Methodist College.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Atlanta was this afternoon selected by the educational commission of the Southern Methodist church as the location for the university which the church will found in the southeast.

Atlanta guaranteed $2,550,000 in cash and property if chosen for the seat of the university.

As soon as the commission decided in favor of Atlanta, Asa Candler, leading Methodist layman and brother of Bishop Warren Candler, announced that he would give at once $1,000,000 for the endowment of the university and any further sums that may be needed in the future.

Steps were taken at once to effect organization and Bishop Warren Candler was chosen chancellor. It is planned for the university to begin work in September on a $5,000,000 basis.

The establishment of a southern Methodist university in Atlanta is the church's answer to the decision of the Tennessee courts that the church has not supreme control over Vanderbilt university in Nashville.

Shailer Mathews to Tour Japan.

Dr. Shailer Mathews, dean of the University of Chicago divinity school, has been selected as a missionary delegate to tour Japan for Protestant churches of America, according to an announcement at the Midway yesterday. Prof. Mathews, who is the president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, was elected by the officials of the association, which represents thirty different denominations and 17,000,000 church members.

Dean Mathews will spend the whole of next winter in the orient as a lecturer in Japanese colleges and universities and a leader in missionary conferences. He will visit all American charges in Japan and preside at sessions of Christian organizations. The university board of trustees recently voted leave of absence to Dr. Mathews for his oriental trip.

Vote for Big Church Union.

Columbus, O., July 16.—Delegates to the general conference of the Methodist Protestant Church of America at their closing session here tonight accepted the report of a special committee recommending a merger with the United Brethren Church of America. The ratification of the report practically settles a ten year agitation for a union of the two churches which would affect about 500,000 persons. The United Protestant Church is the name which has been selected for the new organization.

Before the union is effected the consent of the members of the United Brethren church must be obtained. A referendum vote on the proposal is now being taken by this denomination.

BRYAN JOINS RANKS FOR WOMEN'S VOTE

Will Support Suffrage Movement in Home State; Tells Why.

PRAISE FOR MOTHERS

Contends They Should Guide Offsprings' Future Through Ballot.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—William Jennings Bryan, secretary of state, in a formal statement issued tonight, declared himself for woman suffrage.

He said he would ask no political right for himself that he was not willing to grant his wife, and he announced his intention of supporting the proposed state constitutional amendment extending the franchise to women to be voted upon in Nebraska next November.

Woman, Mr. Bryan said, had proved herself equal to every responsibility imposed upon her, and would not fail society in this emergency. Above all other arguments in favor of giving her the ballot he placed the right of the mother to a voice in the molding of the environment of her children.

"The mother," the secretary said, "can justly claim the right to employ every weapon which can be made effective for the protection of those whose interests she guards, and the ballot will put within her reach all of the instrumentalities of government, including the police power."

Will Support Suffrage Issue.

"The voters of Nebraska," the statement says, "will at the election next November adopt or reject a proposed amendment extending suffrage to women on equal terms with men. I shall support the amendment. I shall ask no political rights for myself that I am not willing to grant to my wife.

"The first objection I remember to have heard was that as woman cannot bear arms she should not have a voice in deciding questions that might lead to war or in enacting laws that might require an army for their enforcement.

"This argument is seldom offered now for the reason that as civilization advances laws are obeyed because they are an expression of the public opinion, not merely because they have powder and lead behind them.

Relieve Tension on Women.

"Second. It is urged by some that woman's life is already full of care and that the addition of suffrage would either overburden her or turn her attention away from the duties of the home.

"The answer made to this is that the exercise of the franchise might result in a change of thought and occupation that would relieve the monotony of woman's work and give restful variety to her activities.

"Third. Many well meaning men and women affirm that suffrage would work a harm to woman by lessening the respect in which she is held.

"This argument would have more weight had it not been employed against every proposition advanced in favor of the enlargement of woman's sphere. This objection was once raised to the higher education, but it is no longer heard. The same objection was offered each time the door has opened, and woman, instead of suffering degradation, has risen.

Praises Women's Organization.

"If one were in doubt as to which side of the controversy to take, he would be justified in giving weight to the fact that organization and enthusiasm are on the side of those who favor woman's suffrage. Organization is an evidence of earnestness as well as of a comprehension of the subject.

"As for myself, I am not in doubt as to my duty. I desire to present the argument to which I give the greatest weight. Without minimizing other arguments advanced in support of the extending of suffrage to woman, I place the emphasis upon the mother's right to a voice in molding the environment which shall surround her children—an environment which operates powerfully in determining whether her offspring will crown her later years with joy or 'bring down her gray hairs in sorrow to the grave.'

Ingrates Are Given Vote.

"She none considers the cost to parents, especially to the mother, of raising a child, it seems impossible that any one would attempt to lead a child astray or rob its parents of the priceless reward to which they are entitled; and yet there are in every generation—aye, in every community—those who are inhuman enough to deliberately lie in wait to make a wreckage of the lives of young men and young women.

"They lay snares for them, they set traps for them, and the men who ply this ghastly trade for gain are allowed to use the ballot to advance their pecuniary interests.

"I am not willing to stay the mother's hand if she thinks that by the use of suffrage she can safeguard the welfare of those who are dearer to her than her own life.

"Politics will not suffer by woman's entrance into it. If the political world has ever been more pure in spite of the evil influences that have operated to debase it, it will not be polluted by the presence and participation of woman.

"Neither should we doubt that woman can be trusted with the ballot. She has proved herself equal to every responsibility imposed upon her; she will not fail society in this emergency."

Bats Given Homes in Fight on Mosquitoes.

DEATH TAKES WALTER FITCH

LONG IN POOR HEALTH.

Walter Fitch, at one time president of the board of trade and prominent in the grain trade of the west as the head of the grain commission firm of Walter Fitch & Co., died yesterday at Eau Claire, Wis., of heart disease. He had been in poor health for the last two years, having devoted but little time to business in that time. He was 52 years old. He in that time. He was 52 years old. A widow, Mrs. Maude Harper Fitch, survives him. Their home in Chicago was at the Kenwood hotel.

Heads Board of Trade.

Mr. Fitch joined the Chicago board of trade in 1898, previously having been in the grain business in Wisconsin. He was also vice president of the Northern Grain company in Chicago. He took an active interest in board of trade affairs, and in 1906 was elected president. He declined a nomination for a second term, but has been prominent on the exchange since that time, having served on nearly all the important special committees.

The firm of Walter Fitch & Co. succeeded the old firm of Pringle, Fitch & Rankin, with which he was at first identified. The house did a big business in grain and stocks, and also had a large cash grain business.

Noted After Dinner Speaker.

After coming to Chicago Mr. Fitch gained much prominence as an after dinner speaker. He was a member of the Chicago Athletic, Union League, and South Shore Country clubs, having served one term as president of the Chicago Athletic and three terms as president of the South Shore Country club.

A special meeting of the directors of the board of trade has been called for this morning to take action on the death of Mr. Fitch. It is expected the board will be closed for part of the regular session on the day of his funeral as a mark of respect.

A widow and her five grown children visited a grave in Waldheim cemetery yesterday and covered it with flowers. It is the grave of Henry J. New York, July 16.—Special.]—Dr. Matthew S. Borden's automobile knocked down a mounted policeman in Flushing early today and the policeman died from his injuries. Later in the day a revised appraisal of the estate of M. C. D. Borden, the cotton manufacturer, who died on May 27, 1912, showed that Dr. Borden, one of the three sons, would not get the $2,514,121 which the preliminary appraisal gave him.

AMERICA DOES FINE PLANING

FINAL TEST SATURDAY.

BY LIEUT. JOHN CYRIL PORTE, R. N

[Copyright: 1914: By the Press Publishing company—the New York World. All rights in the United States and Canada reserved. The exclusive rights of Lieut. Porte's story are controlled by the New York World in the territory east of Cleveland and north of Washington. Exclusive rights for the rest of the United States are controlled by "The Chicago Tribune."]

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Mr. Curtiss telephoned me from Hammondsport tonight that the last experiment with the sea-sled bottom for the America was quite satisfactory. In Wednesday's trials there was a slight tendency to porpoising, so the length of the false bottom was reduced by two feet, and Mr. Curtiss took the craft out this morning for a short trial.

The change proved advantageous and left us quite ready to complete the sea-sled construction. On account of a storm no effort was made to leave the water today, but the America planed perfectly, without porpoising, under a load of 1,300 pounds.

Work to Be Pushed.

Work will be pushed now to make the false bottom water tight. Mr. Curtiss hopes to have this ready for the final testing by Saturday noon. I shall go to Hammondsport when it is ready, as I wish to try out the America again before the permanent rebuilding of the hull. Until this trial I am begging off from writing any further reports, hoping to make a holiday of the next twenty-four hours.

Mr. Elmer Sperry, inventor of the Sperry automatic stabilizer, gave me a disappointing report at our conference at the New York club this afternoon. I had quite counted upon the equipment of the Rodman Wanamaker craft with Mr. Sperry's device, but he finds it impossible to construct a stabilizer in time to equip the America before Aug. 1.

Indicator Changes Agreed On.

With Capt. Creagg Osborne and myself, Mr. Sperry went over some details of the drift indicator and agreed upon minor alterations which Capt. Osborne believes will make the instrument efficient for its important part in the transatlantic voyage.

It was encouraging to note that Mr. Sperry's enthusiasm over the flight and his belief in the prospect of its accomplishment have increased materially with his further study of the America.

ELKS MAY CHANGE RITUAL: VOTE FOR INVESTIGATION.

Grand Lodge at Denver Meeting Instructs Members to Search for Missing Georgia Women.

Denver, Colo., July 16.—A proposition to appoint a commission to codify the ritual was vetoed by the grand lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at the twenty-eighth annual reunion here today.

A resolution empowering the incoming grand exalted ruler, Raymond Benjamin of Napa, Cal., to appoint two grand lodge members to act with him on a committee to report upon a revision of the ritual two years hence, however, was adopted.

The grand lodge, acting upon a request from the Atlanta (Ga.) lodge, directed its delegates to instruct their lodges to search for Beatrice Nelms and Mrs. Eliois Nelms Dennis of Atlanta, whose disappearance a week ago caused a nation-wide search.

JURY GETS BOND MURDER CASE

State Demands Death or Liberty for Negro Accused of Leegson Slaying.

NO VERDICT IN 3 HOURS.

Freedom or death was asked by Assistant State's Attorney Stephen A. Malato for Isaac Bond, the negro who was tried for the murder of Miss Ida G. Leegson, art student and sculptress, found slain and robbed on a lonely prairie near Argo, Ill., on the night of Oct. 4 last. The case was given to the jury at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. When no verdict had been reached at 8:30 Judge McDonald adjourned court after giving instructions to have the verdict sealed and brought into court this morning should one be reached during the night.

Death or Liberty, State's Demand.

Mr. Malato argued that there could be no compromise verdict.

"It is up to you to do justice in this case," he told the jurors. "You have heard here an unbroken chain of circumstantial evidence and not to convict in this case would be a crime to society. What are we going to do when our mothers, wives, and daughters are not safe on the public highways? If this defendant is guilty, hang him. If you have a reasonable doubt as to his innocence, set him free."

Answered Advertisement for Nurse

Miss Leegson was lured to the spot where she met her death through an advertisement for a nurse. Bond was identified by several persons as the man seen carrying Miss Leegson's suit case near Argo. He was also identified as the man who pawned Miss Leegson's watch.

MAY INDICT MRS. CARMAN FOR MANSLAUGHTER TODAY.

Grand Jury Ends Investigation of Freeport Murder Without Hearing Woman.

Mineola, N. Y., July 16.—The grand jury which has been investigating the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey in the office of Dr. Edwin Carman at Freeport ended its investigation today without having given Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, wife of the physician, now under arrest in connection with the crime, an opportunity to tell her story.

Mineola officials expect an indictment in the case tomorrow. It was late in the day when the grand jury announced it would hand up its finding to Justice Van Siclen in the criminal branch of the Supreme court tomorrow afternoon.

Expectation of an indictment also was based upon reports persistent in the courthouse after the grand jury adjourned. An indictment, if one were found, it was said, would be likely to charge Mrs. Carman not with murder but with manslaughter in the first degree.

Various other reports regarding the grand jury's probable action were in circulation after that body's adjournment.

RAIN PUDDLES ARE HATCHERIES FOR MOSQUITOES

GUTTERS NEED OILING

BY W. A. EVANS, M. D.

The rain of yesterday created a large number of puddles, which, unless they are drained, oiled, or dosed with a larvicide, will make fine breeding places for thousands of mosquitoes. Street and roof gutters which are not kept clear of debris also will invite the female mosquito to deposit her eggs, which soon will develop into full grown mosquitoes.

In Grant park, east of the Illinois Central railroad tracks, in the sunken spaces between the drives of the Midway Plaisance, in the unpaved streets, and a hundred other places about the city breeding pools were formed.

Old tin cans, bottles, and other discarded receptacles which are not turned upside down will be partly filled with rain water, and in them myriads of mosquitoes can breed. A little individual precaution can prevent the uncomfortable presence of the mosquitoes.

Dose Puddles with Oil.

Gutters should be cleaned out, old cans and bottles emptied, and kerosene or kerosene and crude oil poured on the bodies of water that cannot easily be drained.

Correspondents interested in THE TRIBUNE'S "comfort" campaign have asked for methods of mosquito eradication other than that of oiling. The oiling and draining methods are employed by THE TRIBUNE at Ravinia park because they have been acknowledged to be the most dependable correctives. However, larvicides have been used in the Panama canal zone and other malaria infested regions with good results.

Le Prince states a larvicide consisting of carbolic acid, resin, and caustic soda was used with satisfactory results in Panama. The larvicides are chemical compounds which are put into the water and which kill the mosquito larvae.

Other Effective Larvicides.

Potassium permanganate, 5 per cent solution.
Salt water, saturated watery solution.
Chrysanthemum powder.
Ammonia.
Formalin.
Lysol, 1-10 to 5-10 per cent.
Commercial chloride of lime, 1 per cent.
Potassium bichromate, 1 per cent.

Weak Solutions Sufficient.

Weak solutions are sufficient to destroy the young larvae rapidly, and if the solution be made a little stronger, but still weak, the adult larvae will be destroyed in twelve to twenty-four hours. Besides, the aniline dyes remain active for a long time and are not poisonous to man or mammals.

The three dyes which Celli has used in experiments are: Green malachite, gallol, and a proprietary larvicide. A 5-10 per cent solution of green malachite killed the larvae within six to twelve hours. A 5-10 per cent solution of gallol willed the larvae within six to twelve hours, and the larvicide at 5-10 per cent killed them within two hours.

Fumigation Used in Houses.

Fumigation is frequently employed to kill the adult mosquitoes in houses and in trees and shrubbery. Various fumigating agents have been used, among which are sulphur, tobacco, pyrethum powder, eucalyptus, iodoform, turpentine, camphor, formaldehyde, and ammonia. Boyce advises the use of sulphur used in the following manner:

"Allow two pounds of sulphur to 1,000 cubic feet. Use two pots, place them in a pan containing one inch of water to prevent damage, and set fire to the sulphur by means of spirit."

Mosquitoes that have found winter refuge in cellars or cracks can be killed with sulphur fumes. The rooms to be fumigated should be sealed as tightly as possible. After the sulphur fumes have had eight hours in which to do their work the doors and windows should be opened wide and the rooms thoroughly aired.

"KIDS" GAMBLE ON BOATS, U. S. OFFICIAL IS TOLD.

Wheels of Chance Operated and Children Are Allowed to Play, It Is Alleged.

Slot machines on lake excursion boats are reaping a harvest of nickels that would make a Mont Tennes envious. On some of the boats the machines are confined to the barrooms where only boys and men play, but on others they are scattered all over the decks and even the little girl who cannot reach the slot can hand her nickel to a grownup to gamble for her.

Reports that paddle wheel games of chance are operated on excursion steamers have been made to James L. Bruff, superintendent of the local bureau of investigation.

Mr. Bruff said he had received complaints from the Chicago Law and Order league and that these were being investigated by his assistants.

There is no federal law forbidding gambling, but on the high seas or the great lakes state statutes relative to gambling can be enforced by federal officials.

On July 4 six machines, according to reports, were running full blast in the barroom on the City of South Haven of the Chicago and South Haven Transportation company.

POLICE GUARD MUNDAY MILL

Receiver Davis Explains to United States Attorney That He Fears Reporters.

HOSTILE TO HOYNE.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., July 16.—[Special.]—The government today practically completed its downstate investigation of the Lorimer-Munday bank scandal ramifications through several southern Illinois towns. All books and records of financial transactions of C. B. Munday's string of small private banks and other enterprises desired for the federal grand jury in Chicago are now safely in the possession of the government.

In addition to these the books of the Lorimer-Gallagher Construction company were seized by District Attorney Wilkerson in Chicago. They are now under lock and key in Wilkerson's office in the federal building.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph B. Fleming, in charge of the downstate investigation, today held a conference with the several receivers for the bankrupt Munday concerns.

Davis Is Hostile.

In Litchfield he talked with David Davis, receiver for the Litchfield Mill and Elevator company. The interview was unsatisfactory. Receiver Davis, it is said, is friendly to Munday. When Davis learned of the presence of government agents in Litchfield he posted two policemen as guards in front of the entrance to the office of the Litchfield Mill and Elevator company.

Mr. Fleming called on Davis in company with Hiram B. Kadish, the government's expert bank accountant, representatives of State's Attorney Hoyne trailing behind.

When questioned by Mr. Fleming as to the necessity for the police guard, Receiver Davis said:

Loath to Surrender Books.

Davis would give little or no information on the condition of the elevator company and was loath to surrender the books and records. He drew a distinction, however, between Mr. Fleming, the federal prosecutor, and State's Attorney Hoyne's agent, saying that he (Davis) also was an officer of the federal courts.

The books controlled by Davis will be taken to Chicago within a few days under a subpoena duces tecum.

District Attorney Wilkerson today, at the request of Mr. Fleming, issued a large number of subpoenas for persons, books, records, and other documentary evidence gathered in the several towns visited.

Reports of the state bank examiner in the possession of State Auditor James J. Brady on the condition of the La Salle Street bank in the period between December, 1912, and January, 1914, will be demanded, it is said. Mr. Fleming today, however, decided to ignore Mr. Brady and said he would leave it to Mr. Wilkerson.

He reached this decision after parting company today with an agent from State's Attorney Hoyne's office, who was relied upon by Mr. Fleming to obtain the desired reports from the state auditor's office.

GRAND JURIES BUSY.

Both federal and state prosecutors in Chicago turned their attention to the commercial paper sold to the perpetual care fund of the Rosehill Cemetery company, which Munday, as treasurer of the cemetery company, caused to be sold by the La Salle bank and the Commercial Bond and Investment company. Among the records of the cemetery company which were examined by the district attorney there appear the following purchases:

Litchfield Mill and Elevator Co. bonds	$100,000
Florida Indian River Land Co. bonds	5,000
Hutting Manufacturing Co. stock	60,000
Certificates of deposit of La Salle bank	230,416

THE TRIBUNE of July 15 printed the assertion that books and records of the Rosehill Cemetery company had been seized by the district attorney in connection with the bank inquiry. The distinction was not made that the records taken related to the fund set aside for the perpetual care of the cemetery, the investment of which was recently disclosed by THE TRIBUNE. President Harry W. Huttig of the cemetery company yesterday complained that the article gave the impression that all of the company's books and records had been taken, which is not so. THE TRIBUNE is glad to make this correction

WOMEN TURN BILL POSTERS TO BOOST MOON CARNIVAL.

Palos Park Surprised by Antics of Motorists, Who Plaster Town with Placards.

Residents of villages around Palos park have been startled during the last few days to see an automobile filled with white aproned women swoop down in their midst. The machine would be stopped beside a barn or a high board fence. The women would leap out with paste buckets and long whitewash brushes and plaster the building or fence with large posters announcing in flaming red letters that Palos park is to hold a moonlight carnival on Saturday evening, Aug. 8.

Then the women would leap back into the machine and be whirled to the next convenient spot for displaying their posters.

On Wednesday the women had just finished covering a vacant horse shed in Orland with posters from top to bottom when a gruff voice inquired:

"Don't you know that's against the ordinance?"

Boy Playing Indian Victim of Bonfire.

JOHN POKORNY

John C. Pokorny, 6 years old, of 4033 Jackson boulevard, was burned to death yesterday while playing Indian in the alley at the rear of his home.

His grandmother, Mrs. George M. Euson, dressed him up in his little Indian suit and gave him a penny. When he said he wanted to go out and scalp redskins she saw him go up the alley and then went over to her daughter's house for a few minutes.

Soon after neighbors told her that John, who with some children had been playing near a fire in the alley, had been burned to death. She found him in a yard a few doors from her house. His clothes were burned off. He died before the grandmother got him home.

NEW HAVEN MEN WILL STAND PAT

Decide Not to Sell Holdings of Boston and Maine to Bay State.

M'REYNOLDS TO SUE.

New York, July 16.—By unanimous vote the directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad company at a special meeting today decided to stand by their decision not to sell to the state of Massachusetts their holdings of Boston and Maine railroad stock under the terms imposed by that state. In the language of the official statement, "the directors have neither receded from their position nor closed the door to further negotiations."

The terms imposed by the state of Massachusetts in connection with the sale of the New Haven's Boston and Maine stock contain the provision that each certificate must bear the stipulation on the part of the purchaser that he will sell his shares to the state of Massachusetts at any time named. The New Haven directors took the ground in a recent official statement that compliance with this condition would make the stock undesirable as a purchase on any fair basis.

Deny Receivership Rumors.

Emphatic denial was made of the rumors recently current that application for a friendly receivership was contemplated. On this point the statement says:

"The directors will not apply for nor will they consent to a receivership. The company is solvent, is earning its fixed charges, and is able to meet its current obligations promptly."

President James Hustis, who presided at today's meeting in the absence of Chairman Howard Elliott, who is taking a vacation, declined to amplify the formal statement dealing with the Boston and Maine situation. It was inferred, however, that the New Haven directors have reopened negotiations with the department of justice at Washington on this point and that a further extension of time might be granted by the federal authorities pending an adjustment of this question.

Time for Agreement Extended.

As a matter of fact, Attorney General McReynolds gave the New Haven directors at some agreement regarding the sale of tors until midnight of yesterday to arrive the Boston and Maine stock. This time was extended by the officials at Washington when they learned that a special meeting of the New Haven board had been called for today.

The only direct reference to the interstate commerce commission's recent scathing denunciation and arraignment of the former management was contained in the bare announcement that a committee of three was to be appointed to take the commission's report under consideration and make known its conclusion to the board at a future meeting.

The persistant rumors of anticipated resignations from the board were not substantiated.

Will Sue New Haven.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special.]—Attorney General McReynolds will file a civil suit to dissolve the New Haven railway system and probably will seek the indictment of the directors for criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

This is the answer of the government to the refusal of the directors today to carry out the plan for a peaceful dissolution made possible by the Massachusetts legislation for the sale of the Boston and Maine road.

JONES OFFERED CHANCE TO DENY SENATE CHARGES

Committee Minority Asks Chicagoan If He Desires to Be Heard.

SEEKS TO DELAY VOTE

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special.]—Thomas D. Jones of Chicago, President Wilson's personal appointee to the federal reserve board, will be given an opportunity to reply to the charges of unfitness for the position made against him by the majority of the senate committee on banking and currency.

Senators Pomerene and Hollis, representing the minority, sent to Mr. Jones today a copy of the adverse majority report and the exhibits, which consist of excerpts from the proceedings in the government suit to dissolve the International Harvester company, of which Mr. Jones is a director, and in the Missouri ouster suit against that corporation, and data relating to the New Jersey Zinc company, of which Mr. Jones also is a director.

Give Jones Another Chance.

In an accompanying letter the senators asked Mr. Jones if he cares to appear again before the committee or to forward a written statement to answer the charges that he proved himself an advocate of monopoly.

Until a reply is received from Mr. Jones his supporters in the committee will make no move in the direction of framing a minority report, and it is possible that none will be submitted. Senator Hollis said he would prefer to fight out the issue on the basis of the adverse majority report.

The administration senators now admit that they are about ten votes short of a majority for Jones and that they are delaying a vote in order to convert opposition senators.

Wilson Willing to Fight.

In an executive session of the senate late this afternoon they endeavored to obtain an agreement for a delay in further consideration of the nomination until July 25, but found the opposition unwilling and abandoned the plan.

President Wilson's fighting blood has been aroused by the Jones controversy. He is convinced that several Democratic senators opposing Jones are playing politics and retaliatory tactics have been adopted by the administration. The recalcitrants will find their political patronage shut off unless they get into line for Jones. Senator Reed, who is one of the foremost Democrats opposing Jones, already is experiencing difficulty in getting his candidate for postmaster of Kansas City appointed.

Call Cabinet Officers Lobbyists.

With ten days' delay the administration leaders believe they can get enough Democrats back on the reservation to assure a majority for Jones. Postmaster General Burleson spent the afternoon at the capitol laboring with the rebellious senators.

The presence of Mr. Burleson on this mission caused some unpleasantness in the executive session. Senators Borah and Kenyon charged that cabinet officers are lobbying for Jones and announced the intention of offering a resolution instructing the lobby committee to ascertain what influence had been exerted upon senators to vote for Jones.

Senator Williams of Mississippi, who has been listed as one of the Democrats opposed to Jones, made a speech in the secret session advocating the confirmation of the appointment.

Chicagoans Commend Wilson.

At the White House today several letters were received commending the appointment of Jones and the fight the president is making for confirmation. One of the most impressive of these communication was the following from a number of Chicago business houses:

"We, the undersigned, doing business in Chicago, take this opportunity and this means of recording our hope that the senate may confirm without delay your nomination of Thomas D. Jones as a member of the federal reserve board. We believe that the one thing which induced Mr. Jones to accept the appointment was a patriotic desire to cooperate with your administration to the end that the currency law may be administered in a way to be the greatest good to the people.

Hold Jones Well Qualified.

"We believe him to be in every way qualified to serve the country in the place to which you have appointed him. He is recognized in this city as a man of highest character, comprehensive ability, and sound business judgment, and if such an appointment fails of confirmation it will be difficult to find for the more responsible appointive positions persons both qualified and willing to act."

The communication was signed by Defrees, Buckingham & Eaton; Marshall Field & Co.; Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co.; Cudahy Packing company; Hibbard & Spencer; W. F. McLaughlin & Co.; Butler Bros.; Sears, Roebuck & Co.; Fred A. Delano; American Radiator company; Steele, Wedeles & Co.; John V. Farwell company; Sprague, Warner & Co.; James B. Clow & Co.; Hart, Schaffner & Marx; Bartlett & Co.; Franklin MacVeagh & Co.; Seis, Schwab & Co.; Rosenwald & Weil; Rand, McNally & Co.; Montgomery Ward & Co.; Burley & Co."

Marshalltown, Ia., July 16.—After she discovered that she had lost a purse containing $25, Mrs. F. A. Dalton of Farnam, Neb., dropped dead of apoplexy on a Chicago and Northwestern train nearing this city. Mrs. Dalton, who was 55 years old, was coming here to visit relatives.

MANY MACK HITS SWAMP SOX, 10-6; CAL OUT OF GAME

VISITORS SWAT THIRTEEN

BY SAM WELLER.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 16.—[Special.]—Crushed by the mighty Mackmen bats, the leaderless White Sox succumbed today to a 10 to 6 defeat. For more than two hours this calm and peaceful town was disturbed by a continual series of sharp, cracking reports which sounded like the steady pecking fire of light artillerymen at practice. The noise was only the audible result of thirty hits which shot into various parts of Shibe park for forty-five bases.

Against Russell and Red Faber, two of the Sox best bets, the Mackmen pounded out seventeen safeties for twenty-four sacks. Thirteen White Sox hits were wasted in the battle of bats and the swats were good for a total of twenty-two cushions. Bender, Bush, and Bressler were the hurlers who suffered the bombardment.

Callahan Sits in Field Box.

While various perspiring athletes were dragging and skidding about a muddy field Manager Callahan of the Sox sat and squirmed in a field box. Just before the game time Cal received a wire from Ban Johnson notifying him that he was indefinitely suspended for his row with Umpire Hildebrand after the latter called the second Yankee game of yesterday in the eighth inning.

Further disaster overtook the Sox in the fifth round when Buck Weaver and Ray Demmitt collided head on after Buck had taken in a little pop fly. Demmitt's jaw bored a hole in Weaver's forehead just above the nose, and the Sox captain was led from the field only partially conscious of his surroundings. Tonight Buck declared he was all right, but an X-ray examination of the injury will be made tomorrow to avert any complications if possible. Demmitt's chin was badly cut. He continued in the game for a few minutes, but finally gave way to Tommy Daly.

Walsh Demon with Bat.

In the course of the mad proceedings Jimmy Walsh put himself in the Quaker hall of fame by driving in six runs. Walsh poled a single good for two tallies after McInnis had been passed purposely in the first inning. He came back with a homer while two comrades were on the paths in the third, and his third hit in the eighth sent in one marker and helped toward another.

For the White Sox Jack Fournier pounded out four safe smashes, one a home run and another a double. But in the field Jack was guilty of four mental lapses which offset his driving power in the attack. Ping Bodie also connected for a home run. Ping's gave the Sox their first run. Fournier's four bagger happened in the sixth and was good for two of four tallies the Sox scored in that frame.

Five hits were made in that round, and before it ended Bender was sent to cover. Leslie Joe Bush tied up the game at five-all by forcing in the last run of the inning. In the sixth the Sox took command with one tally, but the world's champion gunmer drove around two counters in their half, then sewed up the battle with three more in the eighth.

Bressler Puzzle to Sox.

Mack sent Southpaw Bressler to the slab for Bush in the seventh, and in the closing three sessions the Sox gathered only one infield single.

Seven hits netted five runs off Russell in three innings. Oldring's single, passes to Collins and McInnis and Walsh's single scored two in the first. Singles by Collins and Baker and Walsh's homer yielded three more in the third. Then Faber went to the mound and subdued the Athletics for two innings.

Bodie's circuit clout produced one Sox run in the second. John Collins' double and Fournier's homer developed two in the fourth. Singles by Bodie and Russell, Weaver's double, and walks to Blackburne and Demmitt followed and the mess yielded three more runs. Bush relieved Bender with Blackburne at bat, and when John Collins appeared at the plate against a full house Bush got him on a long fly for the third out.

Blackburne walked and counted on singles by Demmitt and Fournier in the sixth, putting the Sox in front for the only time during the game. Four hits, one a fluke double by Oldring which bopped over Breton's head, were good for two Quaker runs in the second half of the frame. Another quartet of swats, with a walk as a starter, put across the last three tallies of the runfest in the Philadelphia eighth. Score:

O'DAYS SHY ON CATCHERS.

Archer and Bresnahan Crippled; Phelan to Take the Baths.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

A complete relaxation for a whole day in things physical and mental was enjoyed by the aspiring Cubs yesterday. They did nothing more streunous than eat their meals. A few of them visited a nearby inland lake to see if the fish were biting, and several were disappointed when rain stopped the Tinx and S'Loufeds in their double header at the Federal league park.

War togs will be donned again today for the first contest of a series of three against Brooklyn. While the west siders are combating Wilbert Robinson's alleged athletes, the Giants will be battling the Pirates over in Pittsburgh. There are those who think this situation will afford the Cubs an excellent chance to gain another lap or two on McGraw's team. However, some of the wise ones think the Chicagoans will have to take three straight from Brooklyn in order to lose no ground in the race, for the Pirates have been woefully weak against the New Yorkers this season:

Cub Catchers Crippled.

At present the west siders are crippled for catchers. With Jimmy Archer still out of the fray and Roger Bresnahan hobbling with a lame knee, there is need of help. The day of rest was expected to be of much help to Roger. Archer intends to put on a uniform next Monday for the first time since he was injured in May. For the last week he has been exercising his arm, but so far hasn't attempted to throw a ball. It will take him a week or two longer at least to get into condition.

Artie Phelan, who has been laid up for some weeks with rheumatism, left yesterday for Mount Clemens, Mich., to test the healing powers of the spring water at that place. One of Artie's knees and one wrist is badly affected with the malady.

Have You Seen Pierce's Check?

George Pierce failed to find his pay check, which was lost in the excitement attending the Cubs' victory in the final New York game. He succeeded in stopping payment on it. Mrs. Pierce has confessed that she lost her purse that afternoon, but declares she didn't have the old check in it. George is convinced she did. Mrs. Pierce is not left handed.

President O'Neill Suffers Bruised Shoulder and Knee When He Slips on Stairway.

HOBLITZEL CAUSES DISPUTE.

Farrell of Yankees Protests Announced Sale of Former Red to Boston Americans.

New York, July 16—President Frank Farrell of the New York American league club, expressed indignation today when he received word from President Herrmann of Cincinnati that Hoblitzell had been sold to the Boston Americans. Farrell asserts Herrmann telegraphed him yesterday asking if he could use Hoblitzell, mentioning his terms as $3,000 cash or $5,000 on a thirty days' trial with the privilege of returning the player. Farrell accepted the latter offer, he says.

Faber was batted for ten hits in five innings. It looks as if the new Moose of the Sox slab staff needs a rest.

Lloyd Davies, a pitcher from Amherst, batted for Bush in the sixth and delivered a single which helped toward two runs.

In the last two days the Sox have collected five home runs. Bodie and Fournier each got two and Demmitt the odd one. Only one of the swats happened with a runner on the sacks.

Weaver, Demmitt, and Bodie each gathered a pair of bingles in the wild fray. Besides Walsh, Oldring, and Baker also swatted three to safe territory for the Macks. Murphy, Eddie Collins, and Schang were lost with only two hits apiece.

Out of a full house with nobody out the Macks gathered only two runs in the sixth. One runner was nipped at the pan, and a double play with three Athletics on the sacks ended the inning. Breton, Schalk, and Fournier pulled the twin killing.

Twice Fournier picked up rollers with runners going from first to second and each time the batter got a hit because Jack didn't know where to throw the ball. Fournier also allowed himself to be trapped off second after he had started the fifth inning with a double.

Weaver's protests as Gleason took him out of the game after the collision led the Sox players to fear Buck was not rational. After the game the little captain seemed all right, although two physicians remained with him until he went to bed to watch for any sudden turn for the worse in his condition.

Just how long Callahan will be out is not known. Ban Johnson's telegram read: "This is to notify you of your suspension." Considering that there was every reason for Cal to complain at Hildebrand's action in calling Wednesday's second game, it seems hardly just to keep the Sox manager out for a long period.

Polo at Onwentsia Tomorrow.

Two picked teams will engage in a pony polo contest at the Onwentsia club field, Lake Forest, tomorrow. Final practice was held yesterday, but was cut short because of the excessive heat. The teams will be led by Frederick McLaughlin and Noble B. Judah.

DELUGE DROWNS FEDS TWIN BILL

Cloudburst Comes After Second Inning, with S'loufeds in Front.

WATSON SENT TO BENCH

BY I. E. SANBORN.

A double barreled cloudburst completely drowned out the double header with which the Tinx and St. Louis Terriers planned to terminate their congested series yesterday, and at one time it looked as if the rival players would have to make their escape from Weeghman park in ferry boats.

The deluge hit the works at the end of the second inning, of what would have been the first game, and wiped out a lot of things, including Wilson's tenth home run of the season. It also washed out a score of 3 to 2 in St. Louis' favor, and the way things were going it looked as if it might have taken the rest of the week to play eighteen innings.

Watson No Puzzle at Start.

Manager Tinker started Watson on the slab, but it soon became apparent the left hander was not on edge. He lacked control and what he did put over the Terriers soaked on the trademark. Two runs were scored off him in the first inning by means of a pass to Tobin, a three bagger by Ward Miller, and a long fly to center by Drake.

The Tinx evened things right up in their half, when Zeider singled, Stanley struck out and Wilson registered a freak home run. It was an ordinary double into the left field corner, but Tobin kicked the ball through the picket fence that runs along the foul line and that constituted a four baser. Tobin reached through the steel fence and recovered the ball in time to hold both runners on the circuit, but the umps waved them around.

Watson started the second by hitting Misse, then gave way to Pendergast. A pass to Davenport and a wild throw by Stanley, trying to make a double play when Tobin forced Davenport at second, let Misse reach home. The gathering storm made it difficult to see the ball in the home second, in which three Tinx went out in a row, and then the rain came.

Shannon Calls Off Games.

In ten minutes there wasn't a chance to play any more baseball on that lot, but nobody dared venture out to dismiss the spectators, who were more interested in keeping dry than anything else. At the end of a half hour Ump. Shannon, in a drenched raincoat, paddled out to the vicinity of the submarine plate and emitted some noises which legally called everything off for the day. It was another hour before all the marooned fans and fanettes could venture out to transportation lines without ruining much glad raiment.

The Tinx left last night for a three game series in Kansas City, beginning today, then will start cross country for Brooklyn, where they begin their second invasion of the east. Before returning home the north siders will visit Brooklyn, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, and Baltimore, in that order. They will jump back to Chicago with the Pittsburgh team for a lone Sunday game here on Aug. 2 and then resume pastiming in the east.

FEDERAL LEAGUE GAMES.

Court Reverses Johnson Decision; Federal League Wins Legal Victory.

In an opinion announced yesterday the branch Appellate court of this district reversed the decision whereby George H. Johnson, the Indian pitcher, was prohibited from playing with the Kansas City club of the Federal league, after he had jumped to that league from the Cincinnati team of the National league.

The higher court in reversing this decision instructed the lower court to dissolve the injunction issued against Johnson.

On agreement of counsel Judge Foell of the Superior court of Cook county, who issued the injunction on the application of the Cincinnati club's officials, postponed complying with the order to dissolve the injunction until the Appellate court's opinion is handed down, only the announcement having been made yesterday.

Given Time to Appeal.

This was agreed upon to give John J. Healy, counsel for the Cincinnati club, an opportunity to request a rehearing before the Appellate court, if he so desires. Silas Strawn represented the Federal league in the trial.

It was not disclosed yesterday on what points the higher court reversed Judge Foell's ruling in the application for an injunction. Justices Baker and Brown concurred in the opinion and Justice McSurely dissented.

Judge Foell when the case was before him ruled that the player's contract, which contained the much discussed "ten day" clause, could not be affirmatively enforced. He held, however, that the "negative covenant," by which Johnson contracted not to play with any team but the Cincinnati National league team, was basis sufficient on which to enjoin him from playing with the Federal league.

"Great News," Says Gilmore.

President J. A. Gilmore of the Federal league, with his colleague, Charles H. Weeghman, owner of the Tinx, was taking part in the Exmoor Country club's annual invitation golf tournament, when he was informed that the Appellate court had reversed the decision of the lower court in the George H. (Indian) Johnson case.

"This is great news and the position taken by the Federal league in signing players has been vindicated," said President Gilmore. "We are doing business and making contracts with players on an equitable basis. We have felt right along that the higher courts would sustain our actions and we expect similar decisions in other cases that are pending. We want to be fair with the public, the players, and organized baseball, but we will fight to the finish to maintain our rights."

Owner Weeghman of the "Tinx" was equally pleased over the action of the Appellate court. He said:

"The decision means everything to the Federal league. We have fought fairly and patiently and we are sustained. We shall continue to seek first class ball players."

Kawfed Owner Pleased.

Kansas City, Mo., July 16.—"It's a great victory for the Federal league," declared C. C. Madison, president of the Kansas City Federal club, today when informed of the Johnson decision.

"This is the first decision of an appellate court and means not only that Johnson may play with us but that suits seeking to keep Hal Chase and Player Marsans from the Federal league probably will be decided in the Federal league's favor."

Johnson has been on the bench since the decision against him was rendered by Judge Foell.

Foresees Other Victories.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 16.—Edward E. Gates, general counsel for the Federal league, was jubilant over the decision of the Appellate court in Chicago today.

"The reversal of Judge Foell's decision by the Appellate court of Illinois is gratifying indeed," said Attorney Gates. "This is a complete vindication of our position and is the judgment of a higher court, and in this particular case, one of last resort. We have contended all along that any injunction ought not to be granted to restrain a baseball player from engaging his services elsewhere when his contract contains a clause permitting his former employer to discharge him at any time without cause, upon a ten days' notice, such a contract being inequitable and lacking mutuality.

"The decision is also a precedent of great weight in other litigated cases, such as the Marsans case in the federal court at St. Louis and the Chase case at Buffalo."

Won't Give Up, Says Herrmann.

Cincinnati, O., July 16.—President August Herrmann of the Cincinnati baseball club, with which Johnson was connected before joining the Kansas City Federal league team, said today that the decision of the Appellate court naturally was a surprise to him. "Of course, we will exhaust every legal remedy to maintain our rights," said Herrmann.

FOG PREVENTS YACHT RACES

Thick Weather Just as Boats Reach Starting Line Causes the Postponement.

Newport, R. I., July 16.—Fog caused another postponement of a race of the America cup yachts, Resolute, Vanitie, and Defiance, today just after the boats had reached the starting line. Weather permitting, the yachts will race tomorrow.

The three cup yachts took their tows shortly before 11 o'clock and left for the starting line. The regatta committee was on the steam yacht Mohican, which proceeded slowly out toward Brenton lightship. Once outside all hands waited for the fog to lift. While the Resolute was in tow the crew bent on its new mainsail.

Shortly after 12 o'clock the three yachts returned to Brenton's Cove, as it was still thick off shore and there was no prospect of a race.

Austin Races Postponed.

Owing to rain causing a postponement of the Aurora races to Saturday, the card scheduled for the Chicago Driving club Saturday will be postponed.

Boston, Mass., July 16.—Detroit defeated Boston, 5 to 2, the visitors scoring all their runs in two innings, while the locals bunched four hits in the seventh for two runs. "Babe" Ruth, the new Boston twirler, began pitching, but a pass, followed by Crawford's double, and a triple by Veach during the fourth inning, caused his retirement. Score:

But That Does Not Bring Back the Winner's End of the Prize Money!

DOUBTFUL FOUL BY SMITH WINS FOR CARPENTIER

HUGE CROWD EXCITED

BY WILLIAM H. ROCAP.

[Copyright: By Public Ledger Company, Philadelphia.]

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 16.—One of the most outrageous decisions ever given in Great Britain ended the "Gunboat" Smith-Georges Carpentier world's white heavyweight championship fight abruptly in the sixth round in the Olympia stadium tonight, when the American was declared loser on a foul. Smith dropped Carpentier with a right on the jaw, then wheeled around ready to administer the finishing blow. Carpentier started to get up on his knees, but he lost his balance and dropped again. Smith's second blow barely grazed his head.

As the American stepped over Carpentier's prostrate form, one of the latter's seconds jumped in the ring, but Referee Corri waved him back, presumably with the intention of allowing the bout to proceed. Carpentier's manager, Descamps, however, sent several of his assistants into the ring. They lifted the French fighter up and dragged him to his corner. Corri then disqualified Smith and left the ring.

Crowd Wildly Excited.

More than 15,000 sportsmen—fight fans, representatives of the European nobility and a big delegation of Americans—who occupied the auditorium were bewildered at Corri's act and pandemonium broke loose. Carpentier's partisans shouted "Foul!" at the top of their lungs, while the Americans and others who favored Smith yelled their protests. The place was bedlam for a while.

Smith's manager, James Buckley, declared Carpentier had disqualified himself by reason of the entrance of his seconds in the ring and insisted the Frenchman had succeeded in triumphing by an artful French trick. For the first time in his career in the ring Referee Corri exhibited a vacillating spirit and yielded to the demands of the wildly excited and gesticulating Frenchmen.

The only reason which Corri advanced for awarding the decision to Carpentier was that Smith had committed a foul. Whether or not it was intentional, it nevertheless lost him the fight.

Had to Let Punch Go.

That the alleged foul was unintentional was proved by the fact that Smith lost his balance and the punch had to go. Only a small portion of the immense crowd sided with Referee Corri's decision. At the time of this unfortunate incident the fight had just reached an interesting stage and really could be said to have been anybody's fight.

Carpentier had a slight lead as far as points are concerned. The Frenchman dropped "Gunboat" with a short right on the jaw in the fourth round, but the bell rang, ending the round while the American was getting on his feet. He recuperated during the rest in the interval and gave Carpentier as much and more than he received during the fifth round. Smith had the sixth all his own way up to the time the incident which disqualified him occurred.

Frenchman Wary of Foe.

It was quite evident from the start of the bout that the Frenchman had great respect for "Gunboat's" punches, as he assumed a crouching attitude. When the bell rang starting the fight at 10 o'clock the French fighter started feinting with his left and leading with his right. There was no doubt he was intent on ending the contest with a quick knockout. His leads were short, but he missed four before the round ended. In imitation of Carpentier, Smith led with his right and caught Carpentier twice going away. He landed two uppercuts as the Frenchman stepped in, forcing the latter to clinch.

Carpentier tried a funny shift in the second and Smith quickly fell into the trap. The Frenchman continued to feint with his left, then suddenly shot his right across and landed on the American's cheek bone. This forced Smith to clinch and he received two straight lefts without return. Smith evidently was bewildered and puzzled at the Frenchman's cleverness, and at the bell "Gunboat" tried a left swing, but its effect amounted to little.

Smith Warned for Hitting Low.

At the beginning of the third Smith was warned by Referee Corri for hitting too low. Carpentier tried continually to land with a right lead, but his blows either were too short or they were lost around Smith's neck. Smith stepped in as the Frenchman led, getting inside his guard several times. Each fighter was wary of the other and little execution was done in this round. Smith rushed as the bell rang.

The fight started in a corner in the fourth. Carpentier sidestepped and "Gunboat" went to the ropes. Smith then tried a left quickly followed by a right, but the Frenchman stepped in and both blows missed. Smith for the instant was careless and quick as a flash Carpentier saw his opening and shot across a right which landed flush on the American's jaw.

Smith dropped to the floor and quickly wild excitement broke loose. Everybody in the great Olympia it seemed was yelling at the top of his and her lungs at once and no one was able even to hear the timekeeper count off the seconds. Corri waved his arm up and down in imitation of a pendulum as the count proceeded and when nine was reached Smith rose slowly to his knees. Just then the bell clattered, ending the round.

Both Try for Knockout.

Both fighters fought for a knockout in the fifth round. Each landed hard rights, but neither was able to strike a vulnerable spot. Carpentier caught Smith with a vicious left hook which shook him up pretty badly and there were several fast exchanges with the lefts, but apparently no serious damage was done because both fighters appeared fresh at the bell.

Then came the fateful sixth round which the majority of experts who witnessed the fight agreed placed the blot on Britain's boxing escutcheon. Joseph Garneau, the American judge of the contest, was emphatic in his denunciation of the decision and declared Referee Corri was tricked by the Frenchman. Whether Carpentier feigned being dazed by Smith's blow or was actually distressed only the artful French seconds know. They were there to have Carpentier win and they succeeded.

Finish Displeases Great Crowd.

There was general regret among the sporting fraternity close about the ringside that the fight ended in such manner. The crowd was the most representative that ever has gathered at a boxing contest here. Lord Lonsdale led a party of noted English gentry, while there were hundreds of richly gowned and titled women scattered about the immense arena. Close to the ringside was George Lee Thompson's divorced wife, who formerly was Miss Julie Phillips, once of Philadelphia's smart set. Londoners still rave over her beauty.

Every seat was preempted when the principals in the main bout arrived. Thousands who were anxious to see the fight were unable to gain admission on any pretext or for any amount, and the streets in all directions leading from the Olympia stadium were congested with thousands of people and vehicles of all descriptions. Bus traffic was temporarily suspended, and those who could not get inside the stadium lined the sidewalks to view the parade of automobiles, traps, coaches, and other equipages carrying fashionable folk to see what had been billed as the fight of the century.

Must Battle Again.

That was what this bout proved. No world's championship bout ever has been decided in such a fashion. The relative merits of the two fighters still is a question of doubt and another contest must be held to decide it.

Jim Buckley was so incensed at the decision that he was willing to let Smith take the Frenchman in his room and settle the fight right. He is eager to wager the entire purse that Smith can beat Carpentier over any route.

Manager Descamps had little to say after the fight. His employés performed their service well and doubtless will receive adequate reward.

Before Smith and Carpentier entered the ring, Tony Ross, Frank Moran, Jim Coffey, "Young" Ahern, and Bombardier Wells were introduced to the crowd from the ring, and a cable from Jack Blackburn was read. In his message Blackburn challenged the winner.

Carpentier will be a busy fighter, but he must wipe out tonight's stigma before seeking further conquests, according to the consensus of opinion among European sportsmen.

French Fighter Who Defeated 'Gunboat' Smith on Foul

Story of Fight by Rounds.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

FIRST ROUND—Both men shook hands. Smith sent two right jabs to the Frenchman's body. In the first clinch, which followed, Carpentier landed a hard short hand drive on Smith's cheek with his left. Both dodged right handers. Smith clouted the Frenchman with a hard right on the face. Right and left body blows in infighting were landed by Smith. The American's blows were harder than the Frenchman's, whose footwork had not yet been in evidence.

SECOND ROUND—Carpentier assumed the aggressive, but made no impression on Smith. Each ducked hard right handers. Smith landed on the kidneys with his right in a clinch. Carpentier sent a left to the jaw, followed with a right to the face. Carpentier was playing for the body at short range when the round ended. His lightning quickness was beginning to count.

FIFTH ROUND—Carpentier led with his left. Then they exchanged short right arm blows on the neck. Smith hooked a right hander and clinched. Carpentier landed two vicious short lefts on the cheek. They then mixed it furiously, playing for the face with rights. Smith got a trifle the worst of it. Smith landed with a right to the face which jarred the Frenchman. Honors were even.

SIXTH ROUND—Carpentier started by playing for an opening. He kept his eye on Smith's right and feinted cleverly with his left. He followed the feint with a hard right which went across Smith's jaw. The blow did not land squarely but glanced off. The force of the blow carried Carpentier around and he slipped to his knees. Smith then shot out his right. The American tried to stop the blow, but couldn't, and it hit Carpentier on the face. The Frenchman's second then jumped into the ring and Referee Corri awarded the fight to Carpentier on a foul.

Conflicting Eyes.

THE story of the Smith-Carpentier fight in London last night was reported for THE TRIBUNE by three correspondents, William H. Rocap, the New York World, and the Associated Press. Reports of the sudden finish of the bout by a foul in the sixth round show conflicting views. What they say about the foul follows:

William H. Rocap—Smith dropped Carpentier with a right on the jaw, then wheeled around to administer the finishing blow. Carpentier started to get up on his knees, but he lost his balance and the Frenchman dropped again. Smith's second blow barely grazed his head.

By Associated Press—In this round Carpentier after playing for an opening and keenly watching the American's right had feinted cleverly with his left and then brought a powerful right across Smith's jaw. The punch did not land squarely, but glanced off and carried by the force of his blow Carpentier swung around and slipped to his knee. Quickly Smith's right shot forth. He drew back and plainly would have withheld the blow on second thought. Then he stepped back and waited for the Frenchman to rise.

New York World—"Gunboat" brought Carpentier to his knees with a heavy swing to the jaw and struck out again and hit Carpentier what seemed to be a glancing blow behind the left ear. Some onlookers doubted whether Smith hit Carpentier at all when he was down.

CAREER OF CARPENTIER.

Georges Carpentier, the French heavyweight champion, who was declared victor over "Gunboat" Smith on a foul in the sixth round of a battle announced as for the white heavyweight championship of the world in London last night, has been a notable figure in European boxing. His career has been meteoric in the extreme, although only recently he passed out of his teens. Carpentier was 20 years old on Jan. 12.

At this youthful age he may now boast of three titles. He is recognized as the French champion, the European champion, and now that he has been declared winner over the American sailor he may claim the white heavyweight championship without any great fear of argument to the contrary.

Wave of Ups and Downs.

Carpentier's career in the ring has been a wave of ups and downs, but always he has displayed courage and perseverance and, enabled by his youth, has returned to battle more gladiators of the ring, most of them of greater prominence than those he had met before. He started boxing as a bantam when he was 12 years old and since he has grown from class to class as his physical development necessitated. The honor of being French champion of every class from bantamweight to heavyweight belongs to Carpentier, which is some record in any country.

Cleverness has made a really great fighter of the young Frenchman, but cleverness is not all he possesses, for his record is well sprinkled with knockouts. He has been beaten, in fact, has been knocked out twice, while on another occasion the sponge was tossed from his corner to save him from punishment. The fighters who knocked him out were Billy Papke and Frank Klaus.

Born in Lieven, France.

Carpentier was born on Jan. 12, 1894, at Lieven, France. Shortly after he went with his parents to Lens to reside and there Georges received most of his education in the public schools. As a kid he was of a pugnacious disposition and a terror to his instructors. When 9 years old Georges joined the Societe de Gymnastique, where he first became interested in boxing, which then was a new sport in France.

From the time he first put on a glove little Georges was a terror. He mastered boxing much more quickly than his schoolmates, and when only 12 years old he made his public debut as a prize fighter. That was in 1906. Three months later the boy was a contestant in an amateur championship for the French title. He was beaten by a boy 20 years old, who was much larger.

Then came reverses in the Carpentier home and little Georges was forced to stop boxing for a while in order to help provide for the family. He found work in the mines and for six months kept up the underground grind. Then he emerged one day and decided that he would go back to boxing. There was a chance to make more money as a professional in the ring, so he turned from the amateur ranks. He won his first contest, which netted him $60.

Carpentier won greater prominence in the ring in 1909, when he annexed the featherweight title by knocking out a boy named Wetink in one round. A little later he beat Ledoux, an aggressive little fighter. During the same year he won the lightweight title by defeating Paul Til. The middleweight crown became Carpentier's in 1912, when he knocked out Jim Sullivan at Monte Carlo.

What Carpentier has done in the ring since his defeat of Sullivan is fresh in the minds of fistic followers, for he has been the greatest figure in pugilism Europe ever has been able to boast. Among those he has beaten in the last couple of years were Harry Lewis, Willie Lewis, George Gunther, Jeff Smith, and Bombardier Wells twice, both by knockouts.

Carpentier does not resemble a prizefighter in appearance. He carries no marks of his fistic encounters, mainly due to the fact that he always has relied on cleverness to win his battles. He is an unassuming chap, and in late years has shown a desire to know something besides boxing; for he is educating himself by means of books. He is a student; in fact, he has applied the same effort to learn other things as he has in boxing, and the results are apparent from conversation with him.

They call him the idol of Paris. He is that and now that he has won from the man who was conceded to be America's best white heavyweight he will find that he is even greater than idol, if that is possible, when he returns to his native France.

Statements by Fighters.

"GUNBOAT" SMITH—It was highway robbery. I knocked Carpentier out with a right on the point of the jaw. The Frenchman went down, and in making another punch I could not pull myself back and just hit Carpentier's face. After the first two punches I saw I was going to get the worst of it. Corri told me to keep my hands up, although they were up all the time. He wanted to bother me. I have evidence that he wanted Carpentier to win.

GEORGES CARPENTIER—I expected to win from Smith by a knockout, but won anyway. He is a tough fighter, but I was too clever for him. I do not think I will fight Jack Johnson for a while yet. I think he is a little too heavy for me at present.

Notes of London Fight.

LONDON, July 16.—The contrast between Smith and Carpentier when stripped in the ring was astonishing. Carpentier, though made like a Greek statue, his muscles swelling under velvety skin, seemed a mere kid beside his great raw boned opponent.

Americans were numerous in the hall and the uniforms of bluejackets from the battleships Missouri and Illinois were seen here and there in the upper tiers of seat.

Odds of 7 to 4 were laid on "Gunboat" before the fight after Carpentier had been backed heavily at even money throughout the day. The American contingent was a big loser.

There has been an undercurrent of prejudice against American boxers among English ring followers, and, however, unintentional Smith's breach of the rules was, it probably will be cited in support of this prejudice.

The first of the preliminary bouts was between local fighters, and ended in a knockout in the second round. The next was a slugging match in which Tom Leary lost his temper and pushed the referee to the floor. Bandman Blake knocked Leary out forthwith and another pair of timekillers entertained the crowd.

Never has a loser on a foul in this country received such sympathy as Smith. Indeed, it may be said that the loser on a foul never received any sympathy before. The Sportsman says Smith was "disqualified for an infringement of the rules of boxing, if such it could readily be termed, which nineteen officials out of twenty would in the circumstances have passed over with a caution." The Daily Chronicle says: "Never has a foul blow been less intentional or more surprising to the man who dealt it." The Morning Post: "The foul could not have been intentional." The Daily Telegraph: "Smith earned the disqualification, although he did not mean to strike the foul blow." The Daily Mail: "There was no doubt about the foul, but it was a technical one and entirely unintentional on Smith's part."

English Negro Sailor, Recent Punching Bag for Johnson, Found Half Starved on Ship.

Boston, Mass., July 16.—[Special.]—John L. Sullivan II., an English negro sailor who has been acting as punching bag for Jack Johnson at his Paris training quarters, was found stowed away in the steamship Caledonian today. He said he came over impressed with the idea that the public here was falling over itself to give a good colored pugilist automobiles and champagne. Some one told him to adopt John L. Sullivan for a patron and copy his staying qualities, so he stayed in the hold of the steamship until nearly knocked out by starvation. Not a cent of cash did he get from Johnson, he said. He will be sent back on the next steamer.

Italian Battler Outpoints Goodman and Is Awarded Decision After Six Rounds.

Aurora, Ill., July 16.—[Special.]—Jimmy Murphy was given the decision over Danny Goodman tonight after the fastest six rounds ever seen here. The Italian battler had the better of all but the first round, which was even. In the semi-windup Artie Armstrong of Chicago knocked out "Stocking" Kelly of Chicago in the second round. Frankie Lynn and Jack Smith, both of Chicago, fought six rounds to a draw in the preliminary. The bouts were held in the open air in Angel's grove.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, July 16.—There is a feeling of disappointment here over the disqualification of Smith in his fight with Georges Carpentier, because it is thought that it spoiled what might have been a good fight. In this way there is not much said over the victory of the French boxer.

Caponi in Bankruptcy Court.

Tony Caponi, an ex-pugilist, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District court yesterday. He scheduled liabilities of $849 and assets of $1,111. The greater part of his assets, however, are loans to persons whose present addresses are unknown, the petition states. Caponi is now a bartender. He lives at 1302 West Ohio street.

Billy Walters to Go Abroad.

Billy Walters, local welterweight, plans to invade foreign boxing fields. Walters doesn't believe he can draw record houses, but he believes he can lick anything they have over on the other side in the way of welterweights. Manager Silvie Ferretti will accompany him. Walters meets Tommy Sheehan at Hammond on July 27.

MEDAL TO EVANS IN GOLF TOURNEY

FINAL QUARTER IN 73.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Playing a brand of golf that would tax the skill of our leading professionals, Charles Evans Jr. of the Edgewater club romped away from the rest of the field in the first amateur tournament of the Chicago District Golf association which finished yesterday at the Ravisloe Country club.

"Chick" led the field with a total of 295, which was 17 strokes better than that of Robert A. Gardner, who landed in second place with 312. Evans will have his name engraved on the cup on which he gains a first leg, and also gets a gold medal.

Gardner, after making a good fight for three-quarters of the way, made a lot of mistakes in his final round, and although his card mounted to 87 he was able to keep his position of the first day and finish five strokes ahead of Walter Crowdus of Flossmoor, who had 317.

Evans' Play Big Feature.

Evans' work was the dominating feature of the afternoon. Shortly after he and Gardner started on their final round a young hurricane from the west swept over the course. With this rude blast behind him "Chick" skied his pitch for the short sixth hole a trifle too much and it ran over the raised green. He pitched back, but missed a short putt and took five.

About this time the wind shifted to the east and a steady rain began to fall, but it made little difference to the Edgewater player. He took a five at the ninth hole, 412 yards, where he rimmed the cup for a four. Then at the tenth hole he pulled his second shot into a trap and took six to reach the cup.

Turns in Card of 73.

From this point on Evans played like he performed against Vardon and Ray last fall. His driving was clean and his pitches almost perfect. He came home one under par and under conditions which made nearly half the field quit turned in a card of 73.

Evans' rounds were 75, 71, 76, and 73 for the four rounds of the 6,200 yard course. Just now he appears to be playing the best golf of his career.

Bob Gardner was handicapped by lack of practice and by a recent operation on his feet in which some small bones were removed. He found the four rounds a little hard for his pedal extremities. His scores were 71, 78, 77, and 86. On his final round he "shanked" five shots at five holes and his driving was not sure, while several of his second shots went woefully wide of the pin.

Many Players Quit.

Quite a number of the players who had no chance to finish near the top quit when the storm came up, but it proved milder than it looked. A few pairs who started late were able to finish in the sunshine which followed the storm.

Evans made a poor start in the morning, losing three strokes to Gardner on the first four holes, but he soon got going and eventually beat Gardner by one stroke. Cards:

In the Wake of the News.

THE BLUE LAWS.

A Sloufed baseball player onth
Went in to draw his pay,
As was his habit twice a month—

Five hundred semi-monthly, thus
His dandy contract read.
(The player was a high priced cuss,
Like many 'nother Fed.)

But when he went to draw his dough,
The treasurer declined
To come across, and said: "O, no.
Five hundred you've been fined."

"Five hundred I've been fined? Great Scott!"
'Twas thus the player spoke.
"You've been a-drinking, have you not?

The treas'rer made reply.
"Five hundred is your total fine,
And I will tell you why:

"On June the twenty-ninth you were
Awake at 'leven-nine,
A hundred dollar fine.

"On July fourth you played a game
Of chess with your friend Will.
The fine for that is just the same—
A hundred dollar bill.

"And on the seventh of July
You let this Zeider score
From third upon an outfield fly,
And that's one hundred more.

"For morning practice, July eight,
My scouts report to me
You reached the grounds three seconds late—
Another century.

"And on the twentieth, I hear,
When you left home at ten,
A hundred bucks again."

As honest as could be,
And when the treas'rer ceased to speak,
The player said, said he:

"You've overlooked one thing:
The thirteenth or the twelf',
Or maybe 'twas the fourteenth, I

He paid the hundred there and then,
Which pleased the treas'rer much,
And he called up the moneyed men
And spoke to them in Dutch.

The tickled owners came and took
The player by the ear
To a buffet, and let him look
While they inhaled a beer.

"From there he (Charley White) will go to San Francisco to train for his go with Joe Azevedo, scheduled for Aug. 7. This also will be a twenty round bout."—Denver correspondence. We'd like to wager a nickel that it won't.

Since Jim Jeffries believes that the title should be restored to the white race, why doesn't he come out of retirement and challenge the champ. Another bout between them ought to draw—flies.

It seems the early reports of the Johnson-Moran bout were misleading. Mr. McKettrick thinks that only the champ's experience enabled him to stay twenty rounds. Give him a few more days and he'll think Jack was knocked out in the first or second.

Joe Jeanette refused to claim that Battling Jim Johnson fouled him, fearing probably that Jim would get mad and never fight him again.

Said Joe Jeanette to Battling Jim:
"Wheh nex', ole pal?" said he to him*
"We-all ain't fit in Frisco yet,"
Said Battling Jim to Joe Jeanette.

Apologies to Earl Davenport.

"This Jack Johnson's a crook and I can prove it," said Mr. McKettrick. "There was an agreement that we were to lay down in the eighth round, but we fooled the big crook; we broke the agreement."

PUZZLE.

Key to solution—Mrs Pierce is not a left hander.

Tommy Connelly chased eight Red Sox off the field for making uncomplimentary remarks about the Naps. What sort of remarks did he expect them to make about the Naps?

According to Sam Weller, each athlete who hits a home run on the Polo grounds gets a box containing three socks. The extra one is probably kept on the bench until one of the regulars falls off in its work.

The St. Louis Browns were close to a world's championship flag on Wednesday.

BLOSSOM TOPS GOLF FIELD

EDWARDS BOYS IN A TIE.

Both Lead Until Yale Students Turn In Belated Cards.

BY JACK PROCTOR.

Francis R. Blossom, an exotic golfer who blooms occasionally on local courses, upset a prospective fraternal struggle when he turned in low card of 148 in the qualifying round of the third annual invitation tournament of the Exmoor Country club.

Earlier in the afternoon Donald and Kenneth Edwards of the Midlothian Country club had reported with cards of 149 and it appeared certain that these two sons of "Gus" Edwards would have to play off.

Scorer Stewart Gardner was getting ready to store his cardboards for the night when young Blossom arrived with a card of 71. This par performance, added to his 77 count of the morning, gave him the premier position in one of the biggest and best fields seen in a local tournament for some time. There were 141 starters.

WILCOX TO DRIVE GRAY FOX.

Frank Fox Nominates Car for Both Cobe Trophy and Elgin National Contests.

Frank Fox of Indianapolis, owner and designer of the Gray Fox, which Howard Wilcox has campaigned with indifferent success owing to breaking valve springs, yesterday nominated his car for the Elgin road races. The car will be driven by Wilcox in both the Cobe trophy and Elgin National.

The Kane county races probably will be the last through which the car will be sent, as Fox will leave immediately after the two day meeting here for Fulham, England, where he will superintend the construction of a Hispano Suiza, which he will enter in Indianapolis next year. The Hispano Suiza will be built to comply with the 300 inch piston displacement rule of the Indianapolis Speedway association. Before accepting the car Fox has an agreement with the Hispano Suiza firm which will require it to show a lap at Indianapolis at better than ninety miles an hour.

Another entry was promised Elgin yesterday when E. C. Patterson telegraphed C. G. Sinsabaugh that Ralph De Palma would sail from Europe July 29 with one of the Mercedes cars which placed in the Grand Prix of France on July 4. It is known De Palma was commissioned to get Lautenschlager's car if possible.

CANADA TENNIS TEAM ON SCENE

Will Meet Australasians at Onwentsia Club in Davis Cup Round.

WESTERN EVENT NEXT.

BY KEENE GARDINER.

Three members of the Canadian Davis cup tennis team arrived in Chicago yesterday to fit themselves for the preliminary matches with the Australasians at the Onwentsia courts at Lake Forest on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of next week. The trio who will attempt to eliminate the experts from the antipodes are B. Schwenger, R. P. Powell, and Sherwell.

In order to place themselves in the best of condition for these contests the Canadians came early to get a full week's practice. They will have at least three days more practice at Lake Forest than the island invaders. But the task which confronts the northmen looks like a difficult one in view of the masterly playing of the Australasians.

Four on Australian Team.

Four experts will make up the antipodes team, consisting of Norman E. Brookes, English champion; A. F. Wilding, Stanley N. Doust, and A. W. Dunlop. They are expected here either tomorrow or Sunday, depending upon the length of their stay on their arrival in New York from England, where all have been playing recently.

Intense interest has been shown by local tennis fans, who have made large reservations for the coming international contests. The reserved seats for the series, covering three days, are selling for $5, and 1,300 will be distributed. The nonreserved seats, numbering about 400, will be sold for $1 before each contest. All seats will be sold at the Onwentsia club.

Western Starts July 25.

The twenty-seventh annual tournament for the championship of the west in men's and women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles will be held on the turf courts of the Onwentsia club at Lake Forest from Saturday, July 25, to Aug. 3. First, second, and consolation prizes will be given in each event. There will be no consolation matches in the mixed doubles or women's singles.

The winners of the men's doubles in this event will be the western champions and will have the privilege of competing against the eastern, southern, and Pacific coast champions in the preliminary national doubles on Aug. 4-5 at the Onwentsia club. The winners of these matches will play Messrs. Maurice McLaughlin and Thomas C. Bundy, the title holders, for the national championship at Newport on Aug. 24.

TWO NET PLAYERS COLLAPSE

Murray and Gardner Forced to Quit During Matches of Seabright Tennis Tourney.

Seabright, N. J., July 16.—R. Lindley Murray and George Peabody Gardner collapsed in the third set of their matches today on the courts of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket club.

Murray was making a desperate battle against R. Norris Williams II. Williams had overhauled Murray in the third set and had brought the games to 5 all. Then Murray wavered and fainted. He had to be carried to the clubhouse and attended by a doctor. The score, as chalked up for Williams, was 6—4, 4—6, 5—all, defaulted. After Murray had rested he felt none the worse for the prostration.

Gardner felt the effects of the heat in his match with Gustave F. Touchard and retired from the court before his strength waned. The score for Touchard stood at 3—6, 6—4, 5—all, defaulted. Other scores:

Achelis cup singles [third round]—Karl H. Behr defeated Bernon S. Prentice, 6—3, 7—5; William J. Clothier defeated Nathaniel W. Niles, 9—11, 6—1, 6—0.

RAIN DELAYS TENNIS PLAY.

Three Matches in Men's Singles at Cincinnati Tourney Interrupted by Weather Bureau.

Cincinnati, O., July 16.—Rain today interfered with playing the men's singles in the fifth round of the clay court championship tennis tourney here. Three matches were being run off, with the honor of going into the semi-finals as the prize to the winners, when the downpour came, and the matches will be finished tomorrow morning.

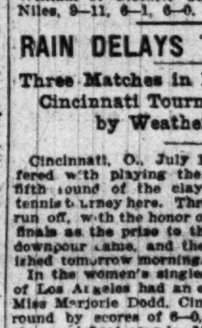

In the women's singles Miss Mary Browne of Los Angeles had an easy time disposing of Miss Marjorie Dodd, Cincinnati, in the fourth round by scores of 6—0, 6—2, and went into the semi-final round. Miss Ruth Sanders of Cincinnati, Tri-State, also went into the semi-finals by defeating Miss Madelle Lyons of Louisville in the fourth round, 6—0, 6—2.

STORM; HENCE NO NET PLAY.

All the matches were postponed in the Illinois state tennis tournament yesterday. With rain threatening to fall at any time the officials at the Wanderers' club thought it best to call off hostilities for the day. All events will be well advanced toward the finals by tomorrow. The loss of one day will necessitate playing some of the matches the earlier part of next week.

THEY WALK SIDE BY SIDE.

Union and Nonunion Girls Wear Placards and Attract Crowd.

George Knab recently sought an injunction to restrain the waitresses' union from "picketing" his restaurants. He failed. He sought several other injunctions on the plea that the pickets were injuring his business. The court still gave the waitresses the right to picket.

Then Mr. Knab had an idea. He reasoned that if a hostile picket could keep one customer away, a friendly picket could bring one customer in. He perfected a plan and hired twenty girls. The waitresses have twenty pickets. Mr. Knab then placarded each of his "pickets" with signs which informed the public that his restaurants were paying union wages, with union hours, and that the union "boycott" was unjust.

Couldn't Dodge Her.

Then he sent the "friendly" pickets out with orders to march back and forth with the "hostile" union pickets. When the first "friendly" picket took her place beside a union picket in front of the restaurant at Dearborn and Washington streets yesterday a crowd gathered. The union picket tried to "dodge" the friendly picket, but her efforts were useless. Wherever the union picket walked or stood Mr. Knab's picket was right beside her.

Two union pickets were arrested at Monroe and Dearborn streets last night. They were Carrie Ash and Maude Swindell. According to Policeman Mike Hurley, who made the arrest, the waitresses were blocking the doorway to the restaurant.

Girl Bites Copper.

The waitresses refused to walk to the station and he called the patrol wagon. When it arrived Miss Swindell refused to climb in and sat down on the sidewalk.

Just as they lifted the girl into the wagon she caught Hurley's finger between her teeth. The policeman released his finger and the waitresses were taken to the Clark street station.

W. S. CANTRELL, LAWYER, DIES

OBITUARY.

MARK A. DEVINE SR., a pioneer resident and dairyman of Chicago, died at his home, 429 Diversey parkway, yesterday. He was 81 years old and had been a resident of Chicago for sixty years. He was born in County Cavan, Ireland, in October, 1833, and when a boy came to the United States, first settling at Albany, N. Y., and later moving to Chicago, where he became engaged in the dairy business. Twenty-five years ago he disposed of his business and the present Bowman Dairy company was formed. Mr. Devine was married in 1864 to Miss Eliza Burke, who died thirty-three years ago. In 1870-'71 he served as alderman from the old Eighteenth ward, recently changed to the Twenty-first ward. For the last twenty years Mr. Devine had been retired from active business.

EDWIN H. GAMBLE'S funeral was held yesterday afternoon at Graceland chapel. Mr. Gamble lived at 1212 Elmwood avenue, Evanston. He was for forty years employed by the Merchants' National bank, starting as a messenger boy when his father was a bookkeeper, about 1865. He later was advanced to be paying teller and assistant cashier. When the bank merged with the Corn Exchange National Mr. Gamble went to the latter institution, remaining there for the last eight years.

DR. MILTON S. TERRY, connected with the Garrett Biblical institute of Northwestern university for thirty years, will be buried at Rosehill Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Services will be held in the cemetery chapel. The Rev. Charles M. Stuart, president of the institute, will officiate, and the pallbearers will be selected from the staff of the institute. Dr. Terry died on Monday night in Los Angeles.

HARD TIMES DUE TO FOOL LAWS

President Underwood of Erie Road Also Blames Autos and "Movies."

PUBLIC LIKENED TO DOG

Milwaukee, Wis., July 16.—[Special.]—President Underwood of the Erie railroad signalized his return to his native home in Milwaukee for a summer vacation by declaring in an interview that the cause of the present business depression was automobiles, moving picture shows, and fool legislation.

"The automobile craze and the moving picture habit are only one evidence of the existence of a human unrest, of which the fool lawmaking is another symptom," he said. "The lawmakers do what the people want, and do it whether it is right or wrong.

Did Not Try to Answer.

"The railroad men at first laughed at the hostile attitude of the people toward the railroads; ridiculed the claim that high freight rates are responsible for the high cost of living. They ridiculed, but did not try to answer.

"Now when it is too late to have an effect, the railroads are trying to tell the people their mistakes, make their explanations of the true conditions; but the public, like a dog running amuck, will not hear.

"Business depression is due to the attacks on the railroads, because legislative interference with the railroads has caused them to stop all extensions. This is the cause of slowing up the business of the mines which produce ore, of the steel mills, which turn it into rolling stock and equipment for the railroads. It slows up the income of the doctor and tradesman alike. High freight rates have no appreciable part in the high cost of living. That is due solely to the extravagant spirit of the age.

Case of New Haven.

"The New Haven system is suffering, despite the fact that it paid its men more and worked them shorter hours than other roads. The fact is the investigators into this road's concerns did not want to get the truth; they wanted to make political capital for themselves.

"We railroad men know the real cause of the wrecks on that system. The New Haven men do not tell, because the investigators don't want the truth."

20 POISONED AT OAK FOREST

Epidemic Breaks Out Among Inmates After Eating Hash.

BOARD TO INVESTIGATE.

All Commissioners Summoned to Join in Inquiry.

A new epidemic of poisoning broke out last Saturday at the Oak Forest infirmary. Twenty persons are said to have been taken ill suddenly after eating hash which was served at the noon luncheon. According to Commissioner Daniel J. Harris, chairman of the Oak Forest committee, efforts were made to keep the new epidemic secret and he did not learn of it until yesterday.

This report, together with additional complaints of cruelty preferred against attendants by patients, caused Commissioner Harris to send notice to all county board members that the entire board will meet at the infirmary today as a committee of the whole to continue the investigation. Assistant State's Attorney Ernst Buehler will be present.

Simultaneously with the discovery of the new epidemic the advisory committee of the Oak Forest Tuberculosis hospital submitted a report to President A. A. McCormick praising Supt. Mullenbach of the infirmary and asserting that at it last trip of inspection, on June 18, the committee found the institution being conducted in an efficient and progressive manner.

FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL; POISON BOTTLE BY SIDE.

Harry E. Wright, 3141 South Park avenue, was found dead from chloroform in a room in the Antlers hotel, 217 North Clark street, yesterday afternoon. A bottle containing some of the poison was found on the bed. His writing on the hotel register could not be deciphered, and it was not until a card and some letters bearing his name were found in his clothing that his identity was known.

He was last seen alive when he went to his room at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night. When a bellboy went to the room about 3 o'clock in the afternoon he found the door locked, and he called the police, who found the body.

BUSINESS, COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL SECTION

STOCKS STEADY; TRADE IS DULL

Union Carbide Directors to Take No Special Action at Next Meeting.

TRACTION ISSUE OFF.

Business was dull on the local stock exchange, though prices generally held steady. Union Carbide closed at 154½. A short time ago there was considerable gossip as to what the board of directors intended doing. From trustworthy sources it is learned that nothing special is contemplated at the next meeting of the board.

Swift & Co. shares held steady at 106. The market for this stock shows little change from month to month. Peoples Gas sold at 120. There was not much doing.

Series 2 certificates closed fractionally below the opening. There appears to be a considerable pool in the issue and the price is being held up on unofficial assertions as to what will be done in the way of dividends. The matter of dividends on series 2 certificates is one of considerable uncertainty. The position of the management is one calling for discretionary action rather than action that might be guided by economic considerations.

In the bond department the feature was the sale of Public Service 5s at 90. Peoples Gas refunding 5s sold at 101.

Willys-Overland's Record Year.

Earnings of the Willys-Overland company for the year ended June 30, 1914, are reported to have been the largest in the company's history. The net profits were about $6,500,000, being substantially 30 per cent on the $20,000,000 common stock, which is now paying dividends of 6 per cent.

Last year the common stock was given an extra dividend of 5 per cent. This called for $1,000,000 cash. No such dividend will be paid this year.

Canadian Pacific.

"After payment of all fixed charges and dividends the company entered its new fiscal year on July 1 with $36,000,000 in cash and $14,000,000 in equipment securities.

"The end has nearly been reached in all important work of construction and improvements that were in progress and only a comparatively small portion of the money in hand will be required for the work yet uncompleted. No new work of any magnitude is contemplated and therefore there will be no necessity for a further issue of capital stock."

Chicago and Milwaukee Electric.

It is announced that legal matters pertaining to the resale of the property of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric are being worked out and that the sale will shortly be advertised. At this time no change is contemplated in the original plans involving the underwriting of the bond issue.

Some time ago it was a part of the plan to make Samuel Insull chairman of the new board because of his connection with the local elevated railways. The plan contemplated bringing the Chicago and Milwaukee electric cars into Chicago and around the loop, giving the company a downtown connection through the elevated lines.

Greene-Cananea Copper.

Officials of the Greene-Cananea Copper company, which controls the Greene Consolidated Operating company in northern Mexico, say the situation remains quiet and unchanged. The management refuses to yield to striking employés.

New Securities Listed.

United States Steel corporation, $3,000,000 Illinois Steel company 4½ per cent debenture bonds, due 1940, making the total amount listed at this date $18,614,000.

United States Steel corporation, $3,035,000 Indiana Steel company first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, due 1952, making the total amount listed at this date $18,035,000.

Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound railway company, $80,000 first mortgage guaranteed 4 per cent forty year bonds, due 1949, making the total amount listed at this date $25,175,000.

Detroit River Tunnel company, $4,000,000 Detroit Terminal and Tunnel fifty year 4½ per cent first mortgage bonds, due 1961, making the total amount listed at this date $18,000,000.

Anaconda Copper Mining company, $8,250,000 capital stock on official notice of issuance and exchange, in accordance with the terms of the application, making the total amount listed at this date $116,562,500.

Merchants Exchange National bank, $400,000 capital stock, making the total amount listed at this date $1,000,000.

Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, $5,000,000 thirty year first mortgage sinking fund 5 per cent bonds, due 1941, making the total amount listed to date $17,642,500.

Lackawanna Steel company, $22,000 common stock, making the total amount listed at this date $35,000,000.

New York Central and Hudson River railroad company, $5,000,000 J. P. Morgan & Co. certificates of deposit for the New York Central and Hudson River railroad company 3½ per cent gold bonds, Lake Shore collateral, on official notice of issuance in exchange for deposited bonds, with authority to add on similar notice $65,000,000 additional of said certificates of deposit, making a total amount of $70,000,000.

Columbus Railway Financing.

Stockholders of the Columbus Railway, Power and Light company will hold an adjourned meeting at Columbus on July 20, at which action will be taken on matters of new financing in connection with the company. It is planned to issue $3,145,000 prior preference stock to retire a similar amount of first consolidated mortgage forty year 4 per cent gold bonds of the Columbus railway company, which mature Oct. 1, 1939, this stock to be limited to 4 per cent dividends and to have preference over all other classes of stock; and to provide for an issue of $450,000 6 per cent series A preferred stock, with which to retire a similar amount of outstanding first mortgage 6 per cent 25 year gold bonds of the Columbus Electric company, maturing in November, 1922.

To provide for these issues the shareholders will take action on a proposition to increase the capital stock of the Columbus Railway, Power and Light company from $11,550,000 to $15,145,000. They will also vote on a proposed issue of bonds of the Columbus Railway, Power and Light company, to be known as first and refunding sinking fund mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds to an amount not exceeding $25,000,000 and to be secured by mortgage on the property of the company. The plan is to issue the bonds from time to time to pay for extensions and improvements.

Dividends Declared.

The Amalgamated Copper company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, payable Aug 31 to stock of record July 25.

The Peoples Natural Gas and Pipeage company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable July 25 to holders of record July 20; books close July 21 and reopen July 26.

The Philadelphia company declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent on the 5 per cent preferred stock, payable Sept. 1, to registered Aug. 10.

Money and Exchange.

Money in Chicago firm at 4½@5 per cent on commercial paper, 4½ per cent on collateral, and 5 per cent over the counter. Foreign exchange was quoted as follows:

Sixty day grain	4.85
London cables	4.8750
London demand	4.8720
Paris checks	516¼
Amsterdam checks	40.25
Berlin checks	95¼

Jersey Central's Earnings.

The Jersey Central Railroad company for the year ended June 30 earned a surplus after charges of approximately $5,100,000. This is equivalent to 18.6 per cent on the $27,436,800 outstanding stock, and compares with dividend payments of 12 per cent, or $3,292,416.

The surplus after dividends is estimated at $1,800,000, which, combined with $1,025,000 received from the disposition of 4,271 shares of Temple Iron company stock at about 240, covered the year's additions and betterments

Financial News Notes.

Estimated figures for June show that freight operations of the Illinois Central were, according to an official, about equal to those of one year ago. Merchandise shipments are reported to be considerably heavier, and miscellaneous freight is showing some improvement. Coal and lumber show some falling off, as is usually the case at this season.

The New York subtreasury lost $854,000 to the banks on Wednesday, but since last Friday its net gain has been $3,501,000.

The Harris Trust and Savings bank and a Pittsburgh firm were the successful bidders for the $500,000 4¼ per cent thirty year road bonds of Allegheny county. The bid was 103.592.

William Rockefeller was quoted yesterday as saying: "You can deny the rumor that I intend to resign as a director of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad."

Festus J. Wade of St. Louis has been elected a director of the North American company, to succeed the late James Campbell.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, July 16.—Money was plentiful and discount rates were easy today. The stock market developed a more cheerful tendency without much increase in business. Huerta's resignation and home rule hopes were chiefly responsible for an advance in consols and home and Mexican rails, while the cheerful continental bourses assisted the tone of foreign issues. Greek bonds were firm and one to two points higher. American securities opened steady. A moderate advance followed, but part of the list eased off under realizing at the end of the first hour. Later there was a general decline under the lead of Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, and New York Central, which were sold by Wall street. The closing was weak.

COFFEE AND SUGAR.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Reports that Europe had become a more active buyer of coffee in Brazil, accompanied by an advance of 10@20 points in cost and freight offerings, appeared to be largely responsible for the firmer ruling of today's coffee market. STOCKS IN N. Y. LOW BUT STEADY

ROCK ISLANDS DECLINE.

New York, July 16.—Although additional low records were established, today's stock market moved in more orderly fashion than on the preceding day, when hasty selling of various issues at pronounced recessions denoted urgent liquidation.

Marked weakness was again shown by Baltimore and Ohio issues, New Haven, Pennsylvania, Denver and Rio Grande, Chesapeake and Ohio, and United States Steel.

New Haven Closes Higher.

New Haven fell a mere fraction under yesterday's low record to 49⅝, but recovered later in the day and closed with a smart net gain. Baltimore and Ohio's further setback may have been due to another court victory by the Union Pacific railroad, permitting the distribution of its "extra dividend," largely composed of Baltimore and Ohio shares.

Weakness in Denver and Rio Grande shares and refunding bonds bore more or less directly upon that company's interest in the affairs of the Western Pacific road. Rock Island fell back again, the common stock being quoted at a mere fraction, with increased weakness in the debentures. Canadian Pacific recovered more of its recent decline on official assurances that no immediate financing is contemplated.

Dealings here for foreign account were rather confusing, London selling 10,000 shares of minor railways and buying half that quantity of Canadian Pacific and Steel.

Heaviness in Bond Market.

Heaviness of Rock Island, Denver, New Haven, and related issues was the feature of the bond list. Total sales, par value, were $1,695,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Mercantile paper, 3¾@4½ per cent. Sterling steady; sixty day bills, 4.8520; demand, 4.8715. Commercial bills, 4.84⅝@4.85. Bar silver, 55⅛c. Mexican dollars, 42½c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds heavy. Call money, 2@2⅜ per cent; ruling rate, 2⅜ per cent; closing, 2¼@2⅜ per cent. Time loans firm; sixty days, 2⅜ per cent; ninety days, 3 per cent; six months, 4@4¼ per cent.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Cotton goods markets were quiet, with a fair demand reported for convertibles. Silk manufacturers offered marquisettes and fine chiffons for spring. Yarns remained quiet. The Claflin sale was less active than early in the week.

WALL STREET NEWS.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—To some observers the behavior of the stock market this week has suggested more than anything else that there is a leak regarding the main features of the decision in the advanced rate case shortly to be handed down.

In other words, the pronounced weakness of such stocks as New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Erie, Pennsylvania, and other railroad stocks directly affected in contrast to the comparative firmness of the shares of the western roads and industrial stocks is attributed to advance knowledge of a decision in the main unfavorable.

It is obvious that if the market were discounting any such advance information New York Central, Baltimore and Chesapeake would be the ones upon which pressure would concentrate naturally. On the other hand it is suggested that there are specific reasons in each case why these stocks should be foremost in any weak spell caused by the New Haven crisis or anything else.

New York Central has long shown a sort of apathetic connection with New Haven. The possibility of Senator Norris being able to persuade the attorney general to bring suit against the company under the anti-trust law for its control of Lake Shore also long has been held against the stock.

With the payment of the Union Pacific's extra distribution the floating supply of Baltimore and Ohio stocks will be increased by 500,000 shares of the common and 266,000 shares of the preferred. Selling of these stocks by Union Pacific shareholders against the receipt of their dividend has been plain.

Heavy selling of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway debenture fives today appeared to be caused by uncertainty as to whether the reorganization plan will go through, which has been stimulated in some quarters in the last day or so by rather wild suggestions that other and more extreme measures might be preferred by the collateral bondholders. The bonds sold down to 67⅞, nearly 10 points below last week, and within 1⅜ points of the extreme low.

It can hardly be said, however, that this decline is an accurate measure of sentiment on this point. When the features of the reorganization plan became known there was a furious rise in the bonds of about 8 points in two days, due to recognition of the strong position occupied by these bonds. The trading element bought largely and dealings were very heavy.

It is not unlikely that the present weakness may result from liquidation by speculators who bought at that time and who are tired of waiting for a profit.

IN BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., July 16.—[Special.]—Sharp breaks in New Haven unsettled the early market today, but once selling orders were executed the list rallied under the lead of New Haven, which closed with a gain of ⅝. United Shoe Machinery improved much, rising 2 points to 59½. American Telephone was better, United Fruit continued irregular, and Boston and Maine rallied 1¼ points to 33⅜. The mining stocks were quiet with the exception of Greene Cananea, which rose 1⅝. Call money, 3 per cent; time loans, short dates, 4¼@4½ per cent; time loans, 6 months, 4¼@4½ per cent; time loans, year, 4½@4¾ per cent.

Should Get Guarantee Policy.

J. L. O'D.—When purchasing any considerable amount of real estate on the installment plan it is the usual method to require the seller to produce an abstract of title for examination by yourself or your attorney, and if clear title is to be insured the seller should agree to deliver a guarantee policy. As to getting possession of the property or title before final payment that depends on the terms of the contract of purchase. Usually when half the stipulated payments have been made the seller is willing to deed the property and take back a mortgage to secure the remaining payments.

Vanoscope Company.

L. M. F., Morgan Park, Ill.—The Vanoscope company has an authorized capital of $3,000,000, divided into $2,500,000 preferred and $500,000 common shares. It is reported that $155,000 of preferred stock has been sold for cash and $1,000,000 of preferred used to acquire patents on which it is said $100,000 has been spent in development. The official of the company consulted stated that so far as he knew no syndicate had offered $40 a share for the common stock and, further, that his company was not offering any stock to the public. The officers of the company are James White, president; Elmer Case, vice president, and O. B. Englisch, treasurer.

National Orchard Company.

H. J. D.—It is stated by Arthur L. Currey, a lawyer in the Tacoma building and one of the principal investors in the National Orchard company, that George W. White is president and general manager of the company of which you inquire, and that there are 120 acres of standing trees in the tract under development. The property is located near Brewster, in Columbia valley, Washington. No dividends have been paid and money received from sale of stock will go toward further developing the property. Mr. Currey states that it will be two or three years before dividends may be expected.

Liberal Life Insurance Company.

D. W.—The Liberal Life Insurance company of Indiana has $200,000 authorized capital stock of which $100,000 has been paid in. The interests identified with the company are officers of the Loyal Order of Moose. An insurance authority says of it: "The company has a small surplus, its actuarial methods are sound," "the cost of new business was high in 1913, but the management expenses are moderate." The balance sheet shows no dividends paid on stock. Austin Retherford is president, J. J. Netterville and Arthur H. Jones, vice presidents; William H. Hinton, secretary and actuary.

Computing-Tabulating-Recording.

W. G. G.—The Computing-Tabulating-Recording company has been in existence only three years. It paid 3 per cent in dividends last year, but nothing since Oct. 10 last. The report for last year showed earnings enough to give a good margin of safety to the bonds. Net profits of subsidiary companies were reported at $1,395,392, from which $296,498 was deducted for depreciation and $46,871 for expenses, leaving $1,052,023. Of this last sum, $417,329 went for bond interest and $313,719 for dividend, leaving $320,975 surplus.

Slot Machine Project.

MRS. R. G.—The company you ask about is a slot machine project. Its board of directors includes a number of men well known in the business world. A purchase of its shares would be a business venture, not an investment for savings.

Merchants National Fire.

J. T. D.—The Merchants National Fire Insurance company is still in the organization stage. It was stated at its offices that the company had not yet begun to write insurance. This is a business venture, not a savings investment.

Brief Answers to Correspondents.

E. J. O., Marion, Ind.—The stock about which you ask is a business venture rather than a savings investment. We cannot advise you whether to hold or sell it.

A. A. H., Benton Harbor, Mich.—A purchase of shares in the company you mention would be a business venture and not a savings investment.

Strange As It May Seem

One of the most common contradictions in the average man is to thoughtfully provide an estate to sustain his family after he is gone, and then leave the estate unprotected, in the hands of inexperienced heirs or under the control of a friend who may not be equipped to handle or invest the property.

And even if an individual is competent to act as executor—trustee, he cannot be depended on to serve. He may not survive you; he may become disabled or move away; he may want to travel and not be tied down. No such uncertainties attend the appointment of this responsible company. Its service is efficient and unfailing.

BAD CROP NEWS BOOSTS WHEAT

RAINS DEPRESS CORN.

Black rust reports were received from central Minnesota as well as from a wider territory in South Dakota yesterday. In North Dakota weather conditions were reported more favorable for the development of the rust also, and the market for wheat was strong in consequence. Opening prices were lower, influenced by the unresponsive cables from Liverpool, but there was an excellent class of buying on the break, and later quite general buying was in evidence, and prices advanced sharply, closing 1@1¼c to 1⅛@1⅜c up.

Profit taking was quite free on the first advance, but during the last hour offerings were only fair, while the buying demand continued good. Knight-McDougal, Chapin, Logan-Bryan, Barrell, Ware-Leland, and Jackson brothers were conspicuous buyers. J. Rosenbaum and Lowitz sold early, and later there was considerable commission house selling.

Rust Causes Apprehension.

Much apprehension exists in regard to the northwest crop, and while it could sustain serious losses and still leave the largest total wheat crop the country has ever raised, the unfavorable developments have created a more bullish sentiment temporarily, as the bear factors have been pretty well worked out. Offerings from the country were smaller as a rule, and in some states more of a holding tendency is displayed. Receipts here are large, but boats are waiting to be loaded and the bulk of the first big movement will be shipped out as fast as received.

In spite of the demand for wheat to fill contracts for shipment, however, there were sales to go to store of 600,000 bu yesterday, the first of importance on the crop. Shipping sales to exporters were 300,000 bu. Some of the exporters claimed that buyers abroad were following the advance, others said there were no workable bids.

Canadian Crop Is Short.

Canadian crop conditions are less favorable than supposed, judging from the Saskatchewan report which was issued yesterday, indicating a crop of 65 to 70 per cent of an average yield if conditions from now on are favorable. In southern Alberta and Saskatchewan the dry weather during the spring and early summer caused considerable damage. Winnipeg reported that Canadian conditions were much mixed.

Receipts here were 524 cars, with 580 cars inspected yesterday. Primary arrivals were 2,197,000 bu, compared to 1,465,000 bu a year ago. Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 1,150,000 bu for four days. Northwest receipts were 156 cars, against 223 cars a year ago, and Winnipeg had 146, against 131 cars. Clearances were 480,000 bu. Liverpool closed ¼d off; Paris, unchanged to 2c up; Antwerp, ⅜c up; Berlin, ⅜c up, and Budapest, 1c higher.

Deferred Corn Months Weak.

Corn prices were affected by the reports of showers at many scattered points in the corn belt, and by the easier tone at Liverpool, which in turn was affected by the more favorable Argentine reports. July corn was strong, but the other months were easy, closing prices being ⅜c up to ½@⅝c lower. Local traders were sellers of December, Keusch-Schwartz, Lowitz, and Geahart also selling. Chapin, and Hubbard-Warren-Chandler bought December. Local shorts bought the July, trade in which was narrow.

Weather map showed generally dry and hot conditions, but during the day there were reports of rains at many points in the middle western states. The strength in wheat checked selling to a large extent. Country offerings were moderate, and shipping sales were only fair, about 80,000 bu. Sample market prices here were steady, but at outside markets the tone was firm.

Receipts here were 136 cars, with 107 cars the estimate for today, and western receipts were 310,000 bu against 270,000 but a year ago. Liverpool was unchanged at the close. Argentine shipments for the week were placed at 4,250,000 bu, or a little more than actual shipments a year ago.

Oats were strong and there was a higher range at the close, although early there was a weak tone displayed. Resting prices were ¼@⅜c to ½c higher. Armour was credited with leading the buying of September. Kidston and Wagner bought early. Cash prices were steady to ½c up, with a good demand for shipment, sales being 220,000 bu. Country offerings generally were reported moderate. Receipts were 145 cars, and 128 cars were inspected yesterday. Primary receipts were 430,000 bu, against 475,000 bu a year ago.

Foreigners Buy Lard.

Hog products were firm and higher, losing part of the advance on profit taking later. Foreigners were credited with buying lard, which showed a little more strength than recently. Most of the trade was in October and September deliveries. Tietgens bought lard early. Receipts of hogs were 20,000, with 15,000 the estimate for today. At western points receipts were 63,300, against 64,800 a year ago. Hog prices at the yards were 10c higher. Receipts of products here were small at 13 cars, with 75 cars shipped. Liverpool prices were steady.

Rye Scarce and Firm.

Rye was wanted, but there were no fresh receipts. No. 2 closed at 60c; No. 3, 57@58c, and No. 4, 54@56c, all nominal.

Barley was steady, with malting 51@55½c; feed, 50@52c, and screenings, 35@51c. Receipts, 18 cars.

Timothy seed was firm, with a sale of August at $6.00. Cash lots closed at $4.00@5.00. Clover seed was steady at $10.00@13.00 for cash.

Duluth flax closed 1⅝@1¾c higher, with cash on track $1.65½; July, $1.65; September, $1.67½; October and November, $1.67¾. Receipts, 15 cars. Minneapolis was 1⅝c higher at $1.63½@1.65½ for cash on track. Receipts, 5 cars. Winnipeg closed 1⅝@1⅞c higher, with July, $1.44; October, 1.47⅞, and November, $1.48¼. Receipts, 16 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Black rust reports were received from a number of central Minnesota points, and in northern South Dakota. From North Dakota reports were less optimistic, and conditions were said to have become more favorable for the development of black rust. Rellin Smith, the Minneapolis crop expert, was quoted as saying that samples of wheat infected with rust examined showed a worse form of the plague than any time since 1904, but that the damage would not become apparent for ten days or two weeks. Much of the wheat is now in the milk stage, when it is regarded as unusually susceptible to damage. Some of the reports were less pessimistic, J. F. Barrett having a Minneapolis message saying there was little in the black rust reports.

The amendment to section 16 of rule 22, which was carried almost unanimously, will be construed as in no sense retroactive in its application. In view of outstanding contracts covering grain now or soon to be in transit, the officers of the board have fixed Aug. 1 next as the date when the rule as amended will become operative. Under the rule as it will stand as amended there will be little opportunity, if any, for the diversion of grain to any point other than to which it has been directed. With the custodian rule and the amended rule 22 in effect, banks will have ample protection throughout the time the grain is in transit and after it is placed in the elevators.

The news of the death of Walter Fitch, a former president of the board, at Eau Claire, Wis., was a shock to members of the board of trade. Mr. Fitch was president in 1906, and since then has been a members of nearly all the important special committees. The directors will hold a special meeting this morning, at which the customary resolutions will be passed. It is possible the regular trading period will be shortened or suspended for a time on the day of the funeral.

Cash corn was steady yesterday in the local market and oats were unchanged to ¼c higher. The demand for oats was quite brisk, but rather slow for corn. Shipping sales were 80,000 bu corn and 220,000 bu oats. Generally offerings of both corn and oats from the country were reported light.

Minneapolis wired that offerings of winter wheat had dropped off, as Chicago and southwestern dealers were paying better prices and were not so particular as to quality.

Country acceptances of wheat were moderate yesterday on overnight bids. The shipping demand also was checked by the advance in prices to some extent, and sales were only fair. Exporters bought about 300,000 bu, and milling sales were 15,000 bu. Minneapolis cash wheat premiums were a little firmer relative to the July. At western and southwestern markets the tone was firmer, and there was not much pressure to sell. Local prices were steady to a shade lower.

Sales of wheat to go to store yesterday were 600,000 bu, the first of importance on the new crop. It is expected this wheat will be delivered out on July contracts. There is supposed to be a considerable shortage in the July. Oats sales to store were 100,000 bu.

A report from Omaha was different from the recent reports in regard to the wheat yields in Nebraska. This message said that reports from a dozen different dealers indicated thrashing reports disappointing, running 40 to 50 per cent of last year's yield.

The Saskatchewan government report on the condition of the wheat crop said that the promise was for a crop probably 65 to 70 per cent of an average yield if conditions are favorable.

A car of August timothy seed was sold yesterday by Lamson Bros. to Thomas Hunter at $6.00 per 100. This is the first August timothy sold here in several years.

Argentine shipments were estimated at 600,000 bu wheat and 4,250,000 bu corn. Last year actual shipments were 856,000 bu wheat and 4,224,000 bu corn.

Eastern shippers were the leading buyers of hogs at the yards, and established higher prices, western packers being forced to follow.

The Corn Products plant at Granite City has been started up and it is understood the Pekin works will resume operations shortly.

Charters were made for 400,000 bu wheat to Buffalo at ⅞c and 100,000 bu oats to Cleveland at ⅞c.

St. Louis reported all the white corn there sold to go to the southeast at 80c night before last.

St. Louis cash corn was ½c@1c up. Oats were steady to ½c up.

LEASES SPACE FOR POSTOFFICE

SOUTH SIDE FLAT DEAL.

Important flat and residence sales and a large lease of space on West Monroe street to the United States government for postoffice purposes featured yesterday's real estate market.

A large south side apartment house deal covers the property, north front, on East Sixty-second street, between Vernon and Vincennes avenues, about 265 feet, with a depth of 106 feet, improved with a three story building containing thirty-seven apartments of four, five, and six rooms, with one and two baths.

It was sold by John C. Levinson and William Kamin to Grant Orr, the consideration being withheld, but said to have been about $200,000. The sale was made subject to an incumbrance of $98,000, and in part payment the purchasers conveyed the three story twenty-four apartment building with 50x174 feet of ground, at the southeast corner of University avenue and Sixty-first street, subject to an incumbrance of $24,000. The Sixty-second street building is said to have a gross annual rental of about $20,500. Ben Wilson of McKey & Poague's Woodlawn office represented both parties.

North Side Deal.

An important north side residence deal was the purchase by Peter Theurer, president of the Schoenhofen Brewing company, from Albert J. Pardridge of the property at 357-59 Fullerton parkway. The consideration is withheld, but it is said that Mr. Pardridge held the property at $60,000. The lot fronts 69 feet on Fullerton parkway with a depth of 160 feet, while the dwelling is an attractive four story and basement pressed brick structure, which was erected for Mr. Pardridge a few years ago after plans by Marshall & Fox. The sale was negotiated by Cremin & O'Connor.

The postoffice lease includes five stories of the seven story building at 712-18 West Monroe street, between Desplaines and Halsted streets, known as the Hartman building. The space was leased by the Hartman Furniture and Carpet company for a term of five years from April 1 last at an annual rent of $21,753. The government has occupied a part of the space in the building since last July.

The apartment house property on Argyle street 214 feet east of Sheridan road with 60x125 feet of ground, north front, has been sold by Peter E. Kearney to Ernst Heldmaier for a stated consideration of $43,000, subject to an incumbrance of $18,000.

West Side Sale.

There was filed for record the sale of an undivided half interest in the property at the southeast corner of Milwaukee and Western avenues by Charles Drapanes to George E. Connonopoulos and Gust L. Capas for a stated consideration of $42,500. The lot fronts 127 feet with a depth of 125 feet and has store and flat improvements.

In a deal involving the exchange of track and dock property for a south side flat building, Maxwell Levy conveyed to Alfred C. Schwab the six flat building at 5124-26 University avenue, taking in exchange the vacant at the southwest corner of Kingsbury and Reer streets, 100x230 feet, on both the St. Paul track and the river, at a consideration of $23,000. W. H. Lichty with J. H. Van Vlissingen represented Mr. Levy and John B. Ackerman Mr. Schwab.

The vacant lot at the southwest corner of North Clark street and Rogers avenue, east front, 200x147½x129x186½ feet, has been sold by John A. Bickford to Walter C. Deemer, the consideration being withheld.

New Building Leased.

In an interesting west side lease made a matter of record Alexander Eisenstein and Samuel Isenstein have leased to Leo Weber the two story brick building now in course of construction at 3350 and 3352 West Twelfth street. The lease is for a term of ten years from June 20 of the present year and provides for a total term rental of $35,725.

The northwest park district has acquired by quitclaim from Virginia H. Kelsey a tract at the southeast corner of West Diversey and Harding avenues, 266x570 feet, north front, for an expressed consideration of $22,817.

The apartment house property on Lake Park avenue, 407 feet south of East Thirty-seventh street, with 60x165 feet of ground, east front, has been sold by E. B. Healy and others, trustees of the last will and testament of Daniel Delaney and Delaney & Murphy, a corporation, for an expressed consideration of $36,500, subject to an incumbrance of $20,000.

Sale on Robey Street.

The property at the southwest corner of Robey and Ohio streets, with a frontage of 48 feet, improved with store and flat buildings, has been sold by Patrick J. Jones to Giuseppe Maggie and Donato Maggie, for a reported consideration of $15,750. Frank Retunne was the broker.

The Equitable Life Insurance company of the United States has made a loan of $120,000, running four years at 5 per cent, to Congressman Martin B. Madden, secured by the property at 34 South Clark street, east front, 21x84 feet, between Madison and Monroe streets, with four story and basement brick mercantile building.

WHITE POTATOES TAKE HARD DROP

BUTTER UP; EGGS OFF.

The bottom dropped out of the market for white potatoes at Chicago yesterday and sales were made at a reduction of 75c@$1.00 from Wednesday's figures. Receipts were reported at only 25 cars, but there were liberal offerings of home grown potatoes that took up the bulk of the demand and left the market for outside offerings without support. Sales of Virginia Cobblers were made at $2.75@3.00 per brl, against $3.50@3.75 Wednesday. Home grown potatoes sold at $1.50@1.65 per sack of 90 pounds.

Butter market had a firmer undertone and sales were made at slightly higher prices. Eggs, on the other hand, sustained further slight losses. Receipts were 15,438 tubs of butter and 14,088 cases of eggs. The trade was dull.

Poultry receipts continued liberal, aggregating 4 cars and 830 coops. The demand was active and all offerings found an outlet at former prices.

Western Union Building

—another convert to Central Station Service

The Western Union Building, Jackson Boulevard and Federal Street, is abandoning its private power plant in favor of Central Station Service.

Reduces Cost to Tenants

Office-building tenants prefer buildings using Commonwealth Edison Service because the constant reductions have resulted in a schedule of rates much lower than those usually in force in buildings making their own electricity. Buildings equipped with Central Station Service are quieter and much more pleasant because there is none of the smoke, soot, odor, excessive heat and undue vibration which private plant operation generally entails.

Would you like to know more about Central Station Service? Without obligation, one of our engineers will gladly confer with you. Write today; or, 'phone Randolph 1280—Contract Dept.

RALLY IN HOGS SETS HIGH MARK

Market Recovers All of Wednesday's Losses; Record for Year Is Made.

CATTLE TRADE ACTIVE.

Hog prices at Chicago yesterday recovered all of Wednesday's decline and made new high records for the year, topping at [..] the highest price made since last [..]. Receipts of 19,000 head found an [..]y clearance at the appreciation, as packers showed little hesitancy in following outsiders at the advanced values. Shippers bought 3,500 hogs and packers took 14,000 head, paying $8.80@9.00 for the bulk.

Cattle receipts of 4,500 head met with good demand at Wednesday's decline [in] values. The quality of the steers offered was only fair and $9.65 was the best price made, while the bulk of sales ranged from $8.00@9.40. Cows and heifers sold [..] lower, while calves held steady for best vealers, which topped at $11.00, and [..]rently lower for medium grades.

Sheep and yearlings included in receipts of 20,000 head found buyers at steady prices, but lambs, which formed the bulk of the supply, met with a restricted demand and suffered a loss of [..]25c. The best price made was $8.85, paid for fancy Idaho rangers. Most native lambs sold at $8.50 and lower, with the best to city butchers at $8.55.

$50,000,000 LOST BY SHIPPERS
THROUGH THE INTER-MOUNTAIN RATE CASE. MOST SHIPMENTS ARE OUTLAWED.
You Are Paying Too Much for Your Shipments.
We can prove that many expensive mistakes are made in the railroad and express offices.

It costs absolutely nothing to have us audit your freight and express bills. If no mistakes are found we charge nothing; if errors are found which net you money from the carriers, we merely charge a percentage.

We do not handle the money. All business done in your name.
Moreover, there are times when you need information about rates. We are in a position to offer correct advice and counsel.

We sell books of coupons at the following prices; 25 traffic advice coupons, $2.50; 50 traffic advice coupons, $5; 100 traffic advice coupons, $10.

Each coupon is good for one inquiry covering any one kind of traffic service. We agree to give service promptly in regard to the following:

1. Rate quotations, giving lowest express or freight rate or rates on any article or commodity packed in any manner and shipped in any quantity between any points, the freight rate to be checked via every reasonable route and gateway, and minimum weight of different size cars to be given.

Also to furnish, if requested, list of rates on any commodity from competitor's factory to any points desired, for subscriber's use in equalizing freights in competing territory, etc.

Also to furnish, if requested, list of rates on goods subscriber buys on delivered price, for subscriber's use in deciding on best buying policy, etc.

3. Classification advice, giving proper classification applying to any article or commodity packed and shipped in any manner in any quantity in any territory.

4. Packing advice, giving proper methods of packing or crating any article or commodity for shipment in any territory, in order to secure the lowest classification and cheapest rate.

5. Special advice, giving proper shipping description of any article or commodity to be used in the shipping bill to secure benefit of the lowest classification and cheapest rate.

6. For ten traffic advice coupons the said company agrees to furnish the said subscriber an expert written opinion covering any traffic problem arising in the subscriber's business.

All of which advice the company agrees to furnish promptly and to the best of its ability.

It will pay you to investigate our claims, even if you have a traffic manager.

As a further proof of our ability we are opening a transportation school. The rate question is important. Railroads and commercial houses need men and women who can figure freight, express, and all transportation rates. We are acquainted with the systems used by commercial firms and railroads. We have saved some of the largest firms in and out of Chicago thousands o' dollars by checking and auditing their bills. This knowledge we are going to give to our students to teach them the best and quickest way of determining correct rates.

Kellogg's WAXTITE Package

DR. G. H. SUMNER, Secretary Dept. of Health, State of Iowa, says of the WAX-TITE package: "It keeps in what should be there if the food is properly prepared, and keeps out what should not be there."

The Waxtite package submitted to me for examination meets with my most sincere approval. It is a step in the right direction. If all food-stuffs could be enclosed in a like protected package, it would be of great benefit to the public at large.

John A. Robison
President

The new WAXTITE package ensures the delivery of KELLOGG'S TOASTED CORN FLAKES as crisp, fresh and full-flavored as they are when they leave our ovens.

Only ready-to-eat cereal food packed WAXTITE can be absolutely free from moisture, dust or odors.

That is why the Health and Pure Food Officials, named in the next column, are endorsing the WAXTITE package.
